TABLE RETRESCHMENT.

It is generally conceded that extravagance and love of display have wonderfully increased within the past few years among the people of the United States. This is not confined to the wealthy, but among all classes, there seems to be a constant effort to seem to be something more than their means warrant. The tradesman and clerk o to-day are not content to live and appear in a style commensurate with their station in life, as their predecessor of twenty or thirty years ago; but broadeloth, jeweiry and luxurious food must be had, whether their incomes will stand the pressure or not. This is a prolific source of evil, both physically and morally Disease of body is engendered and developed by it, and their is no doubt that to this desire, three-fourths of the dishonesty, preulations and embezzlements so common in husiness circles to-day, may be traced. This disposition is not alone characteristic of the male sex, but is cherished to an equal or greater extent by the ladies, as may be seen by the elegance and luxury of their attire and adornments; and among them, it undoubtedly leads to an incalculable amount of immorality.

Among the people of Utah out crop nings of this tondency to extravegance one very visible. A marked change has crept over them is to spent to dress and tot durin, the last few years. The pinin but windesome food, necessitated by their circumstances in the early days of their settlement here, is not reliabed now as then; and if all do not live luxuriously there is a growing disposition to do so at least among the great majority of the eld settlers, who have become esterably well off. The same is true with regard to dress. There was a time it our history, since out settlement in these valleys, when almost all the clothing, worn by male and female was of home-made material; it was not so elegant as the style of dress now prevailing, but it was comfortable and comely, and besides, there was no need for an extravagant outlay of means to procure it. But it is very different now. Our people are no longer satisfied with home-made clothing, but they are copying after the fashions of the world at large, as far as their means will allow, and smart and elegant attire is considered indispensable by many.

improvement is desirable and always commendable, but extravagance is foolish, if not wicked, and the necessity of suppressing it in dress and food is constantly dwelt upon by the First Presidency and the elders in their teachings; and revelations, given by the Lord in these last days, are often quoted, urging the Latter-day Baints to let their dresses and adornments be the work of their own hands; and for some few years the "Word of Wisdom",- and drinking, but also to dressing and injunction was made perpetual. Judge Taft dissented. controlling the fashions. The ladies, we feel satisfied, can bring about any desirable reform if they are but united in their operations, and in this movement we heartily wish them success. We append the minutes of the first meeting held for the purpose of effecting "Retrenchment in Table Entertainments:"

MINUTES OF LADIES' CO-OPERATIVE RETRENCHMENT MEETING.

Held at the residence of Brother Joseph Horne, 14th Ward, Feb. 10th, 1870.

A representative from most of the Wards of the city was present. Mrs. Mary Isabella Horne was appointed President and Mrs. Sarah M. Kimball Secretary.

Meeting opened by singing; prayer by E. R. Snow.

President Horne stated the object of he meeting. All present expressed their sentiments upon the subject under conideration, and the following persons resolutions expressive of the feelings of he meeting:

E. R. SNOW, M. T. SMOOT, S. M. KIMBALL.

The committee proceeded to prepare resolutions, which were read before the meeting and unanimously accepted, of which the following is a copy:

Resolved:-That we, realizing the many evils growing out of the excess and extravgance which our present customs require n the great varieties of dishes demanded n table entertainments, do mutually agree o unite our efforts in sustaining by our examples Table Retrenchment in all of ur visiting associations and social par-

Resolved:-That, as health is the mainspring of happiness, and economy the waymark to prosperity, we recommend a careful consideration of the results of our present mode of fashionable table servmg.

Resolved:-That by carrying out the principles of retrenchment, the time, strength and means, redeemed from useless habor and waste, shall be devoted to noble purposes—such as instructing each other and the rising generation in the principles of physical and intellectual improvement, dietetics, &c. Resolved .- That inasmuch as many of our good and worthy citizens are deterred from inviting company by the considera-tion that they cannot compete with their more all users relightors, and are thereby deprived of many rich and profitable inter-views, we say that henceforth any table nearly spread, with no matter how plain, but wholesome, food, shall be considered coskiewable. fashionable. Resolved:-That, as women of God, we feel it a duty incumbent on us, not only to manifest our "diligence in all good works," but to unitedly exert all our power and influence to annihilate degenerating habits and customs, and in establishing such as will benefit future generations. Resolved.—That we invite all goed women to co-operate with us, by their in-fluence and example to aid in this important enterprize.

On motion the meeting was adjourned till the 19th inst., in the Society Hall, 19th Ward.

Dismissed by prayer by Mrs. Z. D. Young.

After which Mrs. Horn carried out the theory of the meeting by seating the entire company at a neatly spread Re- A replete with the very best advice in re- trenchment Table, the meal consisting of good bread and butter, with stewed dried apples, one kind of cake, blancmange, with cream and preserves, and cold water, where, with unclogged stomachs and unclouded minds, each enjoyed "a feast of reason and a flow of ference to diet, has been persistently urged upon the people. It is on some points falling under the latter that we wish, more especially to call attention at the present time.

A disposition to live in an unnecessarily luxrious manner is evinced by soul. nearly all whose means will in the least allow of it; and this is more especially visible in our social visits to, and inter course with each other. Then every nerve seems to be strained to make a fine display, and every delicacy possible, regardless of expense, bardens the festiveboard. This should be checked or in many ways it will result in svil. We have little doubt that it is helping to check that one-ness of feeling that would otherwise be developed amongst us, and which we are aiming after; for many who like to pay social visits to their neighbors and triends, and whose presence would oftentimes be welcome, refrain, through a feeling of prid., which is very natural, because their means prevent them from making, what they consider, a fair return for the profuse hospitality with which they are treated. This in itself, is a great evil: for that one-ness of teeling so desirable, and the prevention of class distinctions can never be while there is an apparent of the Bessemer steel patent in this serve lunch at all hours, and all persons knownecessity for the continuance of such foolish display.

Paysically and tinancially too, the habits are very apparent. The increase of bodily illsamong the people here, we to departure from that simplicity of diet which prevailed in former years; while, of the Suprein a community like ours, where many men have such large families, if not checked, this tendency to extravagance will lead to great inconvenience pecuniarily. Hence, we regard retrenchment in these directions as one of the neeessities of the times.
