Dinner to Gen. Grant.

NEW YORK, 20.—The Lotus Club gave a dinner and brilliant reception to-night in honor of General Grant. Whitelaw Reid, editor of the Tribune, presided. In the course of his address of welcome, Reid related an incident of the first days of fighting at Pittsburg Landing. Some one said: "It looks a little gloomy, doesn't it, general." I shall never forget his quick glance at the setting sun and instant reply: "Oh, no. They cannot break our lines to-night. To-morrow we shall attack with fresh troops and, of course, will drive them back." It was said in a quiet tone, as if he had been telling an officer to see about putting up headquarters' tents; with a quiet confidence as absolute as if he had been in Beauregard's place instead of his own. From that moment there was one hearer, at least, who never doubted a commander, who, amid the gloom and disaster of such an hour, could calmly reason out the certainty of to-morrow's victory, would yet be recognized, not merely as a great soldier, but as, in any sudden stress of danger, a great man. Well, continued Mr. Reed, what shall we do with him? Are we so rich in great men? Are we so fortified at every point with the widest experience and the loftiest devotion that we have no longer any use for him? I do not believe it. I do not think any considerable number of people in either of the great political parties believe it. I am not speaking as his partizan; that I have never been. Often in civil affairs I have not been able to follow where he led, and the general himself would, I fancy, be quite willing to give me a certificate for having practised great freedom of speech upon that subject. Speaking rather then for his political opponnent and for those at least of republican faith,—I am confident I can venture so much,—let me say, no wish, no act of theirs will be wanting to secure for the country the continued services of your guest. We believe the country would be most unwise, unmindful alike of her dignity and her interest, if she failed to lay claim to this service. Let me not be misunderstood—I am speaking wholly without General Grant's knowledge or that of his immediate friends, or with any reference whatever to his interests. Those will be taken care of anyway. This is no blind, broken-down Belisarius, holding out his helmet for alms; it is a question solely of what the country owes to itself. Can it afford to say we have no further use for the experience gained at the head of the army and at the head of the government? Why, for example, should not the soldier of Appomattox be borne with while he lives?

Southern Bulldozing.

Internal Revenue Collector Marks, at New Orleans, has forwarded to Commissioner Raum a letter received from Deputy Collector B. H. Lanier, who has charge of the upper purishes of Louisiana, bordering on the river. The letter is dated Lake Providence, Nov. 10, and says: In consequence of my candidature for Congress upon the republican ticket, the spirit of intolerance which prevails here, and attempts which have been made to assassinate me, and the assassination of Dr. B. W. Jones, editor of my paper, because of his active support of the Garfield electors and myself, renders it utterly impossible for me properly to discharge my duties as deputy collector of internal revenue for this district. In addition, I have to inform you that I am at this moment a prisoner in my own house, and dare not go out for fear of immediate assassination. I find it also necessary to leave this collection district, at least for the present, to secure my personal safety. Please advise me what to do in the premises.

In reply, Gen. Raum, this afternoon, telegraphed Collector Marks at New Orleans, as follows: I do not intend to allow our officers to be intimidated and driven from their districts. Employ five competent, courageous men, and arm them well, to accompany Deputy Collector Lanier for policing his division and enforcing the laws. Instruct them to defend themselves at every hazard. I will furnish you breech-loading carbines necessary."

A Selfish Request.

Musicians of San Antonia, Texas, has written a letter to the War Department protesting against the First Infantry band being permitted to play at concerts, balls, etc., thereby depriving local musicians from making a living by their profession. The General of the Army says the regimental bands are not maintained or paid by the United States. Regimental commanders select the musicians from companies and thus create a fund, whose expenses have to be earned or paid out of the pockets of the officers. In despotic Russia and Germany the soldiers are encouraged to work for wages as tailors and shoemakers, and during the harvest to supplement their small pay, and I do not see why in free America a soldier may not by music work in his leisure time and lay by a little money to buy necessaries, or to save up and buy a farm after his enlistment. I surely will not deprive our soldiers of so simple and fair a privilege. The Secretary of War concurs.

Large Drug Fire.

CHICAGO, 20.—The wholesale drug store of Lord, Stoughtenburg & Co., 96 Wabash Avenue, was gutted by fire which broke out about noon to-day. The loss is estimated at $100,000, partially insured. The fire originated in the mixing department, and among the vitrols and third floor almost instantly wrapped the whole building in flames so that very little was saved.

The fire to-day, originated in the fourth story where Jennie McNearney was distilling sulphuric acid. As she poured from a can into a bottle, the bottle exploded and an alcohol lamp ignited and spread the blaze instantly through the room. Thence the progress of the flames to the adjoining was rapid and easy. Explosions which were in the path of the flames, caused continuous reports that sounded like a miniature cannonade, which started the fire alarm. Jennie McNearney's clothes were soon ignited, but a workman wrapped his coat about her and smothered the flames so that she was only slightly burned. Lizzie Anderson, aged 29, fared worse, she was almost burned off her clothing was badly injured that and she was confined of. Her flesh her life large sections of the cuticle pealed off. All the other employes in the building escaped without injury. The building was five story, stone front, and belonged to the Peck estate. Following is a revised statement of the losses and insurances: The building was valued at about $65,000, with a possible salvage of $10,000 to $15,000; insurance, $30,000. Contents owned by Lord, Stoutenburg & Co., valued at $150,000, probably a total loss; insurance, $129,000.

The New Chinese Treaty.

The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says: The leading points in the treaty negotiated between the United States and China have been transmitted to the State Department by the commission in China. It is understood that in general the tone will be satisfactory to this government. It modifies the Burlingame treaty in formulating provisions for limiting or regulating Chinese immigration. The particulars are confidential and not made public, except so far as indicated above. Secretary Evarts is absent in New York, so it is not known what action will be taken. No opportunity has been given for sufficient considerations of its provisions.

A Demented Heiress.

NEW YORK, 20.—Mrs. Bergman, the Philadelphia heiress, whose husband and friends have been endeavoring to have her return to Philadelphia, was in the Supreme Court this afternoon, on a writ of habeas corpus, directing police commissioner French to produce her in court. Mr. French made the return to the writ, stating that the lady was not detained in custody, but was at liberty to leave the police headquarters whenever she liked. Mrs. Bergman supported this statement, and was allowed to go. She drove away in charge of police commissioner French and Doctor Hammond, to Jersey City. Mr. French, on his return said she had not been placed in an asylum, but had been left with friends who were solicitous for her welfare. During the day Mrs. Bergman was visited by several physicians. Their unanimous opinion was that owing to her misguided infatuation she was not responsible for her actions, though otherwise sane, and with rest, quiet and proper treatment her recovery would be complete in a short time.

A Bombay Visitor.

There arrived here to-day, in the City of Brussels, from Liverpool, Esoofallay Hiptala, a Bombay merchant prince, who brings with his his four native wives. These were in charge of another woman and a eunuch. In addition there were servants of the male sex, varying in size, height and age. The prince says each servant has certain things to do. No servant does two things, and when I get tired and weary I make them amuse me. They are all good musicians. During our trip across the ocean they had plenty of opportunity for practice, as in that time some of our most solemn feasts took place. To the last of these we invited all the passengers, and they appeared highly amused. Then I have also my conjurer, my snake charmer and my women who dance for me after dinner. When the Prince of Wales visited Bombay some years ago, I entertained him, and on that occasion my wives showed him the nouch dance The prince says he is here just to see the United States.

One Way to Spend Money.

The Post says: D. O. Mills is remodeling the interior of an enormous house at 634 Fifth Avenue which he has just bought. Instructions to Mr. Herter were to do all that money could command to make it beautiful. The wainscotting of the drawing rooms cost $300 per foot, and the main chimney piece cost $4,800. It is an enormous pile of mahogany carving, five wood carvers having been brought on purpose from Europe for the woodwork of the house.

Tale of the Sea.

HALIFAX, 20.—A bottle was picked up on the beach on the southern side of Crowley's island, at the entrance of Chebogue harbor on which the following was written:

MAY 18, 80.

North latitude 42-44, west longitude 49-47; bark Jane, Glasgow, in fog, sprung leak three days ago, sinking fast; yesterday one boat gone. Crew of 11 men taking to only boat left; God have mercy on us.

(Signed) HENRY LYNCH, Master.

Indian Invaders.

WICHITA, Kans., 20.—There was a gathering here, to-day, of all the parties interested in Payne's Oklohoma colony. It was arranged that the old colony would move in a body from Kansas, Texas and Arkansas lines on the 6th of December, the day Congress meets. They have drawn up a letter addressed to the President and Congress, asking that the army be prevented from interfering with them.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Prussian Parliament.—No more pressure for the Porte.—American Cattle Trade, Etc.

BERLIN, 20.—In the lower house of the Prussian Diet Herr Harrel interpellated the Government to-day upon the present laws against the Jews. He denounced the revival of race hatred, and pointed out the inconsistency of such a movement in a country where the Government had taken diplomatic action in favor of the removal of disabilities of the Jews in the Balkan principalities.

Count Von Sterg Weringer replied and said that government had not received a petition in favor of the renewal of the disabilities referred to by Herr Harrel; but he had no hesitation in declaring that the existing laws established religious equality, and that government had no intention of proposing a modification thereof.

Seyford, Virchow and Fraiger, progressionists, condemned the anti-semitic agitation which they said was due to the envey of individuals who had acquired property and position. Herr Debraudiess, conservative, Reichensperger and Windthorst, Clericals, and Hobrecht, national liberals, argued that the question was a social one, and not Parliament, but science and society, itself should settle. All of the latter recommended mutual tolerance. The clericals urged the same protection which was desired for Jews should be extended to Catholics. The debate was then adjourned until Monday.

Constantinople, 20.—It is stated that, at a meeting of foreign ambassadors to the Porte, Onov, representing Russia, declared that the attitude of certain powers had encouraged Turkey to resistance and tion has become useless because it has ceased to exercise any influence upon the Porte. The result of the declaration was that on the proposition of Goschen and Count Corti, the British and Italian representatives, it was decided that the ambassadors no longer attempt to exercise a pressure upon the Porte relative to the pending questions.

Liverpool, 20.—The Daily Courier says: The American cattle trade, notwithstanding that all arrivals must be slaughtered where landed, continues to progress from New York, Boston and Baltimore. During the last three months, 16,769 head were landed, as against 10,205 for the same period last year. The severe weather lately recorded has caused the losses on the passage to be heavier than last year, the numbers being 1,115 head, or 6.92 per cent, as against 258 head, or 2.48 per cent in 1879.

London, 20.—The News, in a leading editorial, says: The Cabinet did not come to any decision yesterday in regard to the meeting of Parliament. It was not, we believe, considered. The time had not yet come when it could be finally decided whether an earlier session is necessary. The government is likely to be engaged some time in consulting the scheme that they will introduce on the subject of land tenure in Ireland.
