Riley had court processes to serve open Indians. While stocking the bucks he made himself "strong" with the squaws, realizing that they might be of squaws, realizing that they might be of service to him in locating their copper-skinned masters. While he was waiting for a buck to appear at his official residence, in this case a topes made of skins, gainty bags and hils of wagon covers, a prepresenting squaw appeared from the flap in the abortiginal substitute for a bons. The papeose she curried in her arms in the approved fashion of white women, was a pretty little mile, and filley knew that be could gain her confidence by bestowing some attention on her offspring.

GIVES PAPOOSE A NICKEL. He scarched in his vest pocket for sickel. Finding one, he gave it to the suppose. Showing the extent to which purpose. Showing the extent to which civilization has reached its arms out to grasp the first Americans, the pa-poose showed its great pleasure by givproper showed its great pleasure by giv-ing vent to two or biree grunts. They were not exactly grunts for they ex-pressed his happiness. For the simple reason that it is impossible to spell the ejaculations of the baby, grunts will suffice with this explanation to describe the child's pleasure. The mother smiles on the deputy and soon disappeared into the tent. Soon from another tent another sounce approached the decourty her squaw approached the deputy a broad grin illuminating her fea-s. She, too, carried a pretty little cose. It got the nickel. Soon again papoose, it got the nickel. Soon again the visitation was repeated by another squaw and a papoose. This time a great light burst in upon the brain of Uncle Sam's agent. He recognized the papoose as one he flad seen before somewhere. He knew after a moment's reflection that the wily Indian women had worked a game on him. They had passed the papoose around among their friend and made it an innocent accessory before and after the fact in a fittle graft that rewarded them with 15 cents. Riley had no hard feelings against the papoose—he would have liked to have brought it nome with him. It was so cute that Julian felt him. It was so cute that Julian felt that it would have been a great addition to his household, among which are tenderly numbered a fine spanial, a handsome cat, a parrot and other creatures calculated to bring joy and happiness in abundance to any man's bome. UNCLE SAM GETS THERE. Riley found out how Uncle Sam over comes obstacles presented by nature He was driving along a sandy road and was on his way to Virgin city. He asked how near his travels would take him to the great oil fields and was in would not be able to see them. Askin why, he was told to wait. He did. The stage drove right up to a great cli-and the Virgin mail was unloade stage drove right up to a great clift and the Virgin mall was unloaded. "Why can't I go to Virgin if the mail does?" was the question Riley wanted to ask, but didn't. Soon he saw, From the top of that cliff, rising to a sheer height of over 200 feet, a snake like cable was lowered. The sack of mail was hooked on and up it went. Once on the cliff it was again loaded on a stage and driven off to Virgin. Riley was offered transpertation to the top of the cliff in the same manner, but he demarred so strenuously that the stage driver almost took him for a tendertoot.

A Reliable Remedy for Croup. A Reliable Remedy for Croup.

With the dry, cold weather of the early winter months, parents of croupy children should be on the alect for ominous symptoms. There is no cause for anxiety, however, when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is kept in the home. If this medicine is given as soon as the full becomes hourse or even after the croupy cough has appeared, the attick may be warded off. Mrs. 8. Resintab of Turner, Minligan, says: "We have used Chambertain's Cough medicine for outselves and children for several years and like it vary much, think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." Walter Runke, Indian agent in suthern Utah, particularly looking to he interests of the scattered Plutes the interests of the scattered Plates, is in the city in connection with business in the United States courfs. Mr. Runke says that the Plate Indians are industrious and pasceful and that they are entirely selfsupporting. The school at Parguitch is maintained as a boarding school, which condition makes 't necessary for some of the Indians to necessary for some of the models to travel from 75 to 100 miles. He expresses the hope that the government will soon establish day schools hearer the reser-vation that the Indians may better af-ford to be educated.

"There is no analogy at all with the way things were in 1893. On Nov. 30 of that year there was in the treasury but $161,000,000 in gold.
