

WILLIAMS NOT IN ATLANTIC CITY

Husband of Woman Who Was With Roberts When Shot Satisfies Police.

MYSTERY OF CASE INCREASES

Theory That Assailant Was a Highwayman Has Been Abandoned.

Families Interested Said to Want to Have It Accepted—Baltimore Society Is Much Interested.

Baltimore, Aug. 29.—William S. G. Williams, whose wife was with Charles E. Roberts when the latter was shot at Atlantic City last Wednesday, was interviewed by police detectives today. Williams, it was learned, seemingly satisfied the officers that he was not in Atlantic City on the day and night in question. The detectives, it was said, will visit Mr. Williams' home at Long Green tonight to verify statements made by Williams.

ROBERTS VERY WEAK

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 29.—Charles E. Roberts, who was mysteriously shot on the board walk last Wednesday night, is still in the Atlantic City hospital and is very weak. The bullet which penetrated the liver, it is feared, caused a wound which may prove fatal. The police are firm in the belief in the solution of the mystery surrounding the shooting will follow an investigation of the movements of W. S. G. Williams on the day of the shooting. The allegations that Williams had been in a sanitarium undergoing treatment and not abroad, was made to the police by his wife, who was with Roberts in a rolling chair at the time of the shooting. According to the police, she contradicted a statement given out from Williams' law office. The police of this city have entirely abandoned the theory that the assailant of the Baltimore man was a highwayman. They are awaiting a report from the Baltimore authorities who are tracing the whereabouts and actions of Mr. Williams on the night of the shooting.

Two disclosures just made by the negro who was pushing the chair in which Roberts and Mrs. Williams were riding are considered important by the police. When questioned in regard to the conversation which passed between Roberts and Mrs. Williams during the chair ride, Jesse Jackson, the negro, said:

"I did not hear anything except one remark of the gentleman. I heard him say just before the man who wore the mask came up to us, 'You have broken my heart.' I did not hear what he said after that."

In addition to the fact first related by him in regard to the shooting Jackson now says the masked stranger applied an epithet to Roberts as he ordered him to get out of the chair. The negro also insists that he heard no demand for money following the first order, "Hold up your hands."

WIFE'S STORY.

Malcolm Woodruff, chief of police, said today:

"Many things that Mrs. Williams has told us of her husband are important as showing the feeling toward the other. She said that her 18 years of married life have been misery to her. Three times she declared she as had her husband put in a sanitarium. Last Tuesday he left the sanitarium and went to Baltimore. According to his wife's assertion he called her up at the Hotel Brighton and asked her to come home with the children. She refused, saying she preferred to remain until Saturday."

BALTIMORE SOCIETY EXCITED.

Baltimore, Aug. 29.—Not in years has Baltimore society been so stirred as it is now over the mysterious shooting of Charles E. Roberts, a wealthy business and club man of this city, on the board walk at Atlantic City last Wednesday night while in a rolling chair with Mrs. W. S. G. Williams, a prominent Baltimore society matron.

The affair furnished almost the exclusive topic of conversation not only in the fashionable clubs, hotels and cafes, but in business circles as well, and all sorts of theories and conjectures as to the motive for the attack are offered. Close friends of the principals in the case—and there are many—are emphatic in their expressions of belief that any connection with the shooting of W. S. G. Williams, husband of Mr. Roberts' companion in the wheel chair, is entirely a natural center in the investigation now being carried on here by Detective Wilson of Atlantic City, aided by members of the local quarters force.

CAR STRIKES AUTO.

Prof. F. A. Fitzgerald, Teacher of Music, Was Killed.

Colma, Cal., Aug. 29.—Prof. F. A. Fitzgerald, formerly of Chicago, a teacher of music in the public schools here and known throughout the United States as an orchestra leader, yesterday while attempting to cross the tracks in his automobile. He was hurled 125 feet by the concussion and was found in the ruined top of his machine in the unconscious condition in which he remained until death came 12 hours later at the hospital.

An eye witness to the tragedy says

DEATH LIST IS GROWING

Now Almost Certain That It Will Reach Between Twenty and Thirty, And Many Are Still Missing.

Trinidad, Colo., Aug. 29.—Between 20 and 30 dead, nearly half the town swept away, thousands of dollars damage to town property and great loss of livestock, tell briefly the story of the flood at Folsom, early yesterday. Twenty-four hours after the disaster, the first definite news from the stricken town reached this city when refugees and passengers of a stranded Colorado Southern train reached the city shortly after 3 o'clock this morning.

"To the list of 10 known yesterday to have been drowned, are added seven more victims. They are:

Charles Wheeler.
Mrs. Charles Wheeler.
Mrs. S. J. Rooke.
Antonio Salazar.
Miss Salazar.
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Guerin.
Many are still missing and several days may elapse before a complete list of dead is obtainable.

Residents of the town who lived on high ground and beyond the reach of the torrent saw houses containing families crying for aid, swept away before their eyes, powerless to render them any assistance. Eye witnesses of the disaster tell of seeing lights flickering for a moment in doomed buildings and hearing the structures crash together as they drifted into the narrow canyon and were crushed like bits of pasteboard. Some lights could be seen a distance of nearly a mile down stream before the buildings were finally broken up and the occupants drowned. An entire row of buildings was swept away and others were jammed together as shapeless mass hundreds of yards from their foundation. Everywhere were seen bodies of drowned cattle and horses.

Only stone buildings and those on higher ground were left standing.

To Mrs. S. J. Rooke, telephone operator, who lost her life in the flood, many residents owe their escape. In face of certain death this brave woman stayed in a doomed building under every method of escape was cut off by water, sending aid to every resident who had a telephone.

GENERAL MANDERSON HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 29.—Gen. Charles E. Manderon, formerly general counsel for the Burlington railroad, was dangerously hurt in an automobile accident last night. He was run into by another, his buggy was overturned and he was struck on the pavement. His extreme age has made the shock serious.

Gen. Manderon was once president of the United States senate.

Two arrests have been made on suspicion.

BULLION FROM KNIGHT SMELTER

Initial Bar Cast Early Today in Presence of Company Officials.

SOUVENIR TO JESSE KNIGHT

Plant Has Cost About Three Hundred Thousand Dollars—Plant Starts Off Smoothly.

"First bar of lead bullion cast at the Tintic smelter, Aug. 29, 1908. To Mr. Jesse Knight."

This has been a historic making day for the Tintic mining district, for it has marked the date on which was cast the first bar of bullion from the new plant of the Tintic Smelting company, the event taking place at 9 o'clock this morning. When taken from the moulds, it bore the foregoing inscription. The first furnace was charged last evening at 7 o'clock, and without a wink of sleep last night practically the entire official staff at the smelter, including General Manager W. Lester Mangum, watched every move until the initial ingot had been cast. At 1 o'clock this afternoon, 40 tons of bullion had been produced, and the plant was performing its functions in a most gratifying manner.

Instead of blowing in on a charge of pig lead, as is customarily the case when new plants begin operation, Colorado crude ore averaging 47 per cent lead was substituted.

The Tintic plant has been built by Jesse Knight and associates at a cost of $300,000. While it was the original intention to provide facilities for the treatment of ore coming entirely from the mines with which Mr. Knight is associated, the demands from other producers was so great that it was built large enough to take care of a large tonnage of custom ores. The copper furnaces will not be ready until some time in October.

"Mr. Peelee" Wooten Will Not Have His Indorsement.

J. W. Wooten has lost the support of M. M. Warner, a reputable attorney, who indorsed the application of Wooten for admission to the bar in this state. In connection with his withdrawal from Wooten's affairs, Judge Warner in a statement says:

"On Wednesday, August 26, a Mr. J. W. Wooten, a stranger to me, came into my office and represented to me that he was a member in good standing of the bar of the supreme court of the state of Colorado, at the same time asking me to sign an indorsement of his contemplated application for admission to the bar of the supreme court of the state of Utah."

"This indorsement was signed by F. C. Southworth, and without any knowledge or information that there was or had been a question concerning his fitness or qualification for such admission, and believing that it was merely extending a harmless courtesy to a stranger."

ROBBED TRACED TO GRANGER

Private Dispatch Says He Made His Way in a Direction That Would Not Suggest Itself.

Among the many reminiscences of the recent Yellowstone park stage robbery, those of H. A. Bellows and sister are being recounted today.

H. A. Bellows is from the quiet town of Springfield, Mass., partner in the Utah Bingham Mining company with his brother and a side partner of Regie Ward, an English financier. His recent hold-up experience, he affirms, was quite worth all the disagreeable consequences.

"Of course," said Mr. Bellows, "my first words upon being accosted by the desperado were, 'I have no money,' which was the case, but I realized that I could keep him waiting, my brother might take advantage of the opportunity to cache the larger amount of his money."

"I was seated on the front seat with the driver and although we saw the coach in front of us stop we did not for a moment suspect the nature of the obstruction. Had we done so, sufficient time would have been given the other coach moved off for us to walk away with our valuables."

"Cough up," said the desperado. "I haven't got a cent."

"All right, wait a moment, I can't find it. Hold on there, and presently I produced 20 cents. He demurred, but took it, and by giving them no time to the comparatively said the robber had dropped three bills from his roll and his watch to the bottom of the coach. The three bills were for $20 each."

"Few of the passengers who were held up fared so luckily, with the exception of a trio of young ladies, who were able to escape with their money. Their worst was to cuss a little."

"There is something I would like to tell that robber, though, and that is, when he took my 20 cents I saw a ring on his finger, a most of diamonds with an opal in the center."

DESPERADO NOT RATTLED.

"The opinion was expressed by members of the party that the robber was rattled. He was nervous for his hand shook like a leaf, but not rattled for he moved quickly from one passenger to another thereby giving them no time to hide their valuables. It was also stated that he had a horse tethered in the bushes. I have discussed the matter with all members of the party and also made careful observations at the time and I have encountered nothing that would lead me to believe the horse was waiting him in the bushes."

PARK MANAGEMENT AN OUTRAGE.

"In the matter of protection the park management is an outrage. Every member of the party who rode into the park from the tourist when he entered the park. The military affords no protection to tourists, it rather protects the park against them. One is left to the comparatively said the robber was fearless. I do not think it is all right nor fair to the traveler who may consistently expect that when he gives his arms to the authorities they will take the responsibility of his well being."

"The Old Faithful Inn, one of the finest establishments of its kind in the country, is a lone vicinity and entirely without protection. Firearms are not allowed on the place. Six armed men could pillage any number of travelers. The people on arriving at the inn usually get out their jewels or whatever costly trinkets the place may demand in the way of making a showing to denote their standing in the social scale."

TRACED TO GRANGER.

A prominent victim of the Yellowstone holdup stated this morning that he had seen a private dispatch to the effect that the robber had been traced to the vicinity of Granger, Wyo., the idea being that the fellow had concluded the hunt of the search would be made for the robbery of Jackson's Hole, and but little attention given to the south country.

Fred Knickerbocker of the Short Line returned from the park this morning. He was on the last stage preceding the first one held up, so he escaped meeting the knight of the road. Mr. Knickerbocker says the military authorities have scouts scattered all over the country looking for the man, but if he gets safely into the Jackson Hole region, there is no telling when he will be captured. The man is of German descent, for he spoke the language with the native ability in reply to remarks made in German on one of the stages.

"The 'little incident' does not appear to have any appreciable effect on Yellowstone travel, which continues heavy, though not so great as it has been, as the season ends next week. Local victims are being 'joshed' around town today and are taking it all good naturedly. The park is now being properly patrolled."

NO "AMERICAN" PARTY THERE.

Senator C. D. Clark Tells of Political Conditions Existing in Wyoming.

"The principal reason for the present good condition of the Republican party in Wyoming, and I think I may say that at the coming election Wyoming will be as surely a Republican as Pennsylvania, the principal reason for the party's good condition is and has been in the constancy of its organization. The absence of local friction and schism, such as the case of our 'American' party here," said Senator C. D. Clark of Wyoming today in the course of a conversation concerning the political outlook in his state.

"The gross Republican strength in the state of Wyoming," said he, "rests not so much upon the wool-growing interests as might be expected. The people were Republicans before they were wool-growers. Although there exists diverse opinions among prominent members of the party concerning the money question, otherwise its unity entirely meets the approval of the state's well-wishers."

Senator Clark and wife are registered at the Knutsford. They expect to leave for their home in Evanston, Monday or Tuesday.

TO HONOR BEN. FRANKLIN.

Philadelphia Man Has Plan to Illuminate His Grave.

Charles W. Alexander, of Philadelphia, has written to Governor Cutler requesting him to issue a special proclamation announcing the plan of Mr. Alexander and others to honor the 50th anniversary of the discovery of applied electricity by Benjamin Franklin, on Sept. 21. He was selling produce on Commercial street. He deposited $5 for his appearance in the police court. Green is the man whose head was fractured in half a dozen places and whom the physicians said could not possibly recover. The man did recover, however, and his head appears to be as sound as ever.

PET CAT SLAIN.

There was a catastrophe this morning at the Consolidated Wagon & Machine company's building. The pet cat of Miss Briggs, one of the stenographers, was ruthlessly slain by a bandit bulldog which has been on the cat's trail for several days. The hasty and careless employees were inclined to make merry at the expense of the good lady who is inconsolable over her loss. The dog escaped, and like the Yellowstone bandit, can not be found.

Tom D. Pitt Goes on Record in the Red Light District—Mayor Silent.

Chief of Police Tom D. Pitt was asked this morning for his views on the proposition of moving the "red light district" from Commercial street to a district on the west side. Chief Pitt said:

"I think the same about it as I always do. I think the people of the under world should be where they can be handled as criminals."

"Are you in favor of moving them?"

"Why, yes, I am if there's no opposition to it. If there is opposition then I am opposed to it, that's all."

Mayor Bransford when seen on the question and asked for a statement regarding the moving of the "red light district" to the proposed red light district declined to discuss the subject one way or the other.

WEATHER WILL BE FAIR.

The mercury keeps lowering its maximum record as the fall approaches, and it is evident the heated term has passed.

Low barometric pressure is central over the middle and south plateau, extending northeast to North Dakota and central Canada. Over the north Pacific and north Atlantic states the air pressure is high. This distribution of pressure has caused showers and thunderstorms over portions of Oregon, Washington, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Gulf and south Atlantic coasts. The temperature changes are generally slight except a fall of 10 degrees or more over portions of Idaho and Montana, a corresponding rise over portions of Arizona, Minnesota and the Dakotas. Light frost is reported at Lander, Wyoming, this morning.

Generally fair weather is indicated for this locality tonight and Sunday on account of the absence of any well defined storms over this section.
