

SENATOR CLARK IS HOME AGAIN

Railroad and Copper Magnate to Make New York His Residence.

GIVES HIS VIEWS ON COPPER

Says Overproduction Is Evident—Price Should be Two Cents Higher—His Mansion Near Completion.

William A. Clark, formerly United States senator from Montana, whose palatial residence in Fifth avenue is now nearing completion, has returned from Europe, coming over on the Mauretania, of the Cunard line. He had been away two months, and spent the time with his wife and child, who are now in Paris. During most of his visit abroad Mr. Clark was in Paris, but made a trip to Spain and for a few days was in London.

He had not been in Spain in 25 years. That country, he said in a New York Herald interview, is now at a standstill, and the only change he noted was in Madrid. From his observations of Seville he remarked that he did not believe one new building had been put up since his last visit.

Business in Europe, Mr. Clark asserted, is good, although England was having a bad time with the budget. He believed the budget would be rejected by the house of lords and the matter would go before the people in the general elections. What the outcome would be he was not sure, but he believed the budget would be rejected in Europe was reflected in the budget.

Asked for his opinion on the decision against the Standard Oil company, Mr. Clark said:

"The way I am running my own company is the only answer I can make to that. I am in no combination. I run the company myself and have no stockholders to report to."

He declared there was an overproduction of copper, and that the price should be 15 cents a pound instead of the present price of 13 cents.

His new home, in Fifth avenue at Seventy-seventh street, will be ready for occupancy in two months, Mr. Clark said, and he will then take up his residence there with his family. Construction was begun nine years ago. The land cost $1,000,000 and the cost of construction was placed at that time at $1,500,000. This estimate, however, has been largely exceeded. It has been described as a masterpiece of modern ideas and taste, and as the costliest private mansion in America.

Associated Press Announcements as to Western Pacific in Error.

General Freight and Passenger Agent E. V. Derrah wired Mr. Schumacher at San Francisco this morning, inquiring as to the status of the proposed freight operations, calling his attention to the Associated Press misquoting of Tuesday. Mr. Schumacher replied that the freight tariffs could not be published until Dec. 6, or perhaps later, and until then he would not through freight business could be conducted.

It is now uncertain as to the exact date of the reception of the tariff. It may be 10 days before the first train through to San Francisco can leave this city, carrying commercial freight.

COL. WALL SUES UTAH COPPER CO.

Allegation Made That Defendant Has Extracted Ores From Amanda Mine.

WANTS $1,290,000 DAMAGES.

Restraining Order Prayed for Enjoining Copper Company From Paying Further Dividends.

Col. E. A. Wall sued the Utah Copper company and D. C. Jackling, president, for $1,290,000 this morning, in a complaint filed in the Third district court, alleging that the Utah Copper company has extracted ores from the Amanda mine, valued at $6 a ton, in gold, silver and copper.

Col. Wall asks for a restraining order prohibiting the Utah Copper from paying any more dividends and seeks an order to obtain permission to survey the Utah Copper company's mine and ascertain the extent to which it has damaged the Amanda mine.

During the year 1908, the complaint recites that the Utah Copper company extracted 1,581,818 tons of ore from its mine. Col. Wall claims that the Utah Copper company paid dividends which amounted to $498,357.25, which is an increase of $129,556.40 in dividends more than the net profits which Jackling swore to up to Oct. 1, 1908. The complaint also alleges that the Utah Copper company has mined 2,500,000 tons of ore. At this rate, it is alleged that the ore in the mine will be exhausted before this action can be settled. For this reason, Col. Wall asks that the Utah Copper company be enjoined from paying dividends until the suit is settled, so that the company will be able to meet the judgment in case the issues are found in his favor.

STRUTHERS BOUND OVER.

He Is Held to District Court in $750 Bail.

A. R. Struthers pleaded not guilty, waived preliminary examination and bound over to the district court for trial when Judge Bowman this morning on a charge of grand larceny. Henry Lawrence, a messenger, 29 years of age, pleaded not guilty to the charge of embezzlement of $1,000. The charge was set for Dec. 27, with bond fixed at $1,000. He is accused of having attempted to steal a $250 necklace belonging to Mrs. J. H. Lawrence, which it had been placed in his care by the Lawson Jewelry company with orders to deliver it at the Alta club.

DAVIES FILES ANSWER.

Asks Dismissal of Action Seeking Recovery on Note.

Vincent F. Davis, a farmer in Boxelder county, who was sued by Elias S. Kimball and Richard A. Shipps on a note for $1,000 which he gave for 200 shares of stock in the Peoples Coal & Coke company, declares that the company was organized as a "get-rich-quick" scheme and that Kimball and Shipps misrepresented the condition of the company and its holdings in an answer filed this morning in the Third district court. When he was induced to purchase stock in the company, he claims that Kimball and Shipps told him the coal company was developing a coal field which would be the biggest producer in the world. The vein of coal was represented as being of great width and that the Rio Grande Western railroad had built a dense spur track to the mine which would hold about four months' supply of coal. The coal was of the best quality, he alleges, they told him if he would buy 1,000 shares of stock, they would let him, he alleges, that he would net him a dividend of $50 a month. In order to obtain money for investment in development of the property, they told him, he alleges, that they had put the capital stock at 10 cents a share.

He took a thousand shares, as did his wife and they had a bad awakening, he says, when they investigated the condition of the company. In the first place, he alleges, that the stock was selling on the market for 10 cents a share. The Rio Grande Western railroad had only one spur track at the mine which could hold about four months' supply of coal. On this account, Davies asks that the note be cancelled and the suit dismissed against him and his wife.

Mr. Kimball to a representative of The News declared that in the entire transaction in regard to the selling of stock in the Peoples Coal & Coke company, he and his associates merely acted as selling agents for the company and made only such representations to prospective purchasers as were made by the officers of the company when they were engaged as the selling agents.

This room is much better than the one to the north, where present sessions are being held, in a number of ways. It is much more quiet and has much better ventilation.

The loss of an eye is valued by Martin Barrett at $10,000 in a suit for damages filed in the office of the clerk of the United States district court. Barrett, who is a miner, asks in his damages to the amount of $10,783 against the Sunbeam Consolidated Gold Mines company.

In the complaint Barrett claims that he was working in the mines of the company on the night of Aug. 23, 1908, assisting in the work of a drill when a drill struck an unexploded charge of powder. In the explosion which ensued Barrett claims that he lost an eye and was badly cut up and bruised. He asks that the company be held liable to endure, place the time lost from work at $750, and asks $48 for medical attendance.

G. W. REED REPORTED DYING.

Victim of Auto Accident Six Weeks Ago in Precarious Condition.

George W. Reed, a prominent mining man and one of the early owners of The Tribune, is reported to be dying at his home, 77 J. street, as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident six weeks ago. Members of his family reported this morning that Mr. Reed is sinking rapidly and that his physician, Dr. E. S. Wright, did not expect him to live.

Mr. Reed, while returning to his home about 5 o'clock on the afternoon of Oct. 18, was struck down and run over by a big automobile owned by M. H. Walker, in South Temple street, at Seventh East street. The machine, which was occupied by Mr. Walker's regular chauffeur, Mrs. Walker, her daughter, and three or four women friends, was going up South Temple street at a high rate of speed, as Mr. Reed started across the street, walking from the south to the north side. Mr. Reed is said to not at first have seen the machine approaching, on account of his deafness, but he saw it when it was more than 100 feet distant, and started back as fast as possible toward the sidewalk. The chauffeur, thought that Mr. Reed would keep on going across the street, and he swerved his machine sharply to the right, striking the aged man, and running directly over and against him. The automobile struck Mr. Reed at such a terrific rate of speed that he was dragged about 40 feet before it could be stopped. When the chauffeur finally brought the machine to a standstill, it was directly over a "jack" to raise the big auto before his body could be extricated. He was found to be in a precarious condition. He received numerous injuries, internal as well as external. He suffered concussion of the brain from a fracture of the back of the skull, his scalp received a severe laceration, his hands were cut, his legs were bruised, and he was badly shocked.

Dr. E. S. Wright, the family physician, and three other doctors, were called immediately. For 24 hours, following the accident, the aged man was delirious and unable to recognize members of his family. However, he recovered slightly in a few days, and it was hoped at that time that his injuries would not result fatally. Recently a change for the worse has been noted, and he sank rapidly during the last 24 hours.

Wedding of Chief Reed and Miss Sanderlin Causes Pinchot to Make a Sage Observation.

(Special to The News.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—A wedding will occur in this city at half past eight this evening, which is the outcome of the removal of a portion of the forest service from the city of Washington to Ogden, Utah, about one year ago. Among the clerical force which was sent to Utah when it was decided to open a supply depot in Ogden was Miss Fattie Sanderlin, chief of forest service, says that the transfer of so many attractive girls from this city to western points has resulted in a great matrimonial boom and he is afraid if he does not succeed in getting these attractive girls certified by the civil service commission to fill vacancies, that his force will be depleted by the ravages of Cupid's arrow.
