cars for Ohio, and on the 10th of August, filled my appointment, preaching twice in the Kirtland femple, finding Martin Harris elat ed with his prost ective journey. A very singular incident occurred at this time. While Martin was visiting his friends, bidding them farewell, his jathway crossed a large pasture, in which he became tewildered, dizzy, faint and stagger ing through the blackberry vine that are so abundant in that vicinity, his clothes torn, bloody and faint, he lay down under a tree to die. After a time he revived, called on the Lord, and finally at 12 midnight, found his friend, and in his fearful condition was cared for and soon regained his
