STOCKS TAKE UPWARD COURSE

Shorts Seek Cover and Prices Generally Were Stronger.

ONLY TEMPORARY RALLY.

Ajax, May Day and California Stronger, With Increased Demand—Daly-West Continues to Weaken.

There was a considerable flurry in stocks this morning caused by an increased demand for them by "shorts." With the exception of Daly-West, Ingot and Star Con, all stocks were affected and a number advanced several cents in price. That the rally is only temporary is quite probable, there being no special reason for an advance in prices and a marked tendency towards lower ones. There is no evidence of any outside element in the market and it is believed that as soon as the wants of some brokers now short on stocks are satisfied, prices will again go glimmering. With the exceptions of Daly-West, Ingot and Star Con, active stocks all advanced more or less, led by Ajax, May Day and California.

During the regular call sales involving 48,635 shares and $24,157 were recorded and on the curb heavy transactions in May Day brought the total business up considerably.

Ajax between 26 and 27 was in demand to the extent of 18,000 shares and Carisa remained about stationary around 35. Notwithstanding statements to the contrary, it is still maintained by certain brokers that an assessment will soon be levied on Carisa.

Daly-West was weak and still continued on its downward course, sales of few shares being recorded. Lower Mammoth was steady and May Day from 52½ advanced in jumps to above 54, and on the curb was actively dealt in as high as 56¼. Uncle Sam between 46 and 48 was dealt in to the extent of 9,200 shares and California was lightly traded in at 26 and 28.

The call closed with the following quotations recorded:

SENSATIONAL WALL ST. FLURRY

Caused by News of Atty. Gen. Knox's Intended Action

IN NORTH SECURITIES CASE

Transcontinental Railways Bore the Brunt of Process of Unloading Stocks—Big Drops.

New York, Feb. 20.—There was a sensational flurry in the stock market this morning which proved how disagreeable a surprise President Roosevelt had given the speculative world by his instructions to the attorney-general to begin proceedings to test the legality of the formation of the Northern Securities company. The stocks of the transcontinental railways bore the chief brunt of the process of unloading stocks, as they are most immediately concerned in the project represented by the formation of the company. Great Northern preferred is the only stock still listed on the exchange which is immediately involved with the company and the first sale of that was 5½ lower than last night. However, Union Pacific, St. Paul, Northwestern and Southern Pacific always show close sympathy with the affairs of the Northern Securities company and all of them dropped sharply, Union Pacific losing 3⅛, St. Paul 3 and Southern Pacific 2⅝. The weakness was by no means confined to this group. The wide breaches in value among the southwesterns and in Reading as well as in high priced industrials like Sugar, Tennessee Coal and the local tractions were a fair indication of how confident a hope had been cherished that the supreme court next Monday would dispose of the Northern Securities uncertainty and relieve the stock market from that repressive influence.

Generally sepaking, the first prices were the lowest and the bear party was evidently a factor in offering stocks at prices as low as they dared, with the purpose of uncovering margins and dislodging stocks. Support for the market was prompt and powerful. The buying on this account had to absorb very heavy offerings for a time without any indication of a check to their flow. The evident fact that confident buying was going on relieved apprehension, however, and the selling became less urgent. The bull interests were then able to bid up prices again and the market rallied. The recoveries by no means restored prices to last night's level, but improvements of 1 to 2 points were scored by some of the principal active stocks. The buying then decreased again and prices yielded but the market became much quieter.
