

WANT THE FAIR FUND TURNED IN.

House Passes a Resolution to That Effect at This Morning's Session.

FISH AND GAME CHANGES.

Were So Numerous that House Hardly Recognized Bill—Other Matters Under Consideration.

The first order of business at this morning's session of the house, was the passage of H. C. R. No. 2, requiring the turning into the state treasury of the remaining funds of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition commission.

H. B. 230 by Kinney, relating to the form of pleadings in justice courts, passed by practically a unanimous vote, Miller being the only member arrayed against it.

FISH AND GAME BILL.

S. B. 55 by Callister, an act for the protection of fish and game and birds, afforded considerable amusement for house members. The bill is a 14 page measure and had been so amended by the senate that it took Mr. Wilson, chairman of the committee, upward of an hour to point out the changes made. The amendments provide for "the grapping of suckers" (exclusive of house members, as explained by Mr. Wilson) a limit for the raising and sale of the sun, and many other "valuable suggestions" looking to the regulation of things generally. They also excluded from the privileges of the act non-resident anglers and hunters, parties had previously secured a license from the state commissioner at a cost of $25.

NEARLY UNANIMOUS.

The amendments to the bill were adopted, whereupon Austin moved to defer action till this afternoon, but the motion lost, and the bill passed with but one negative vote, Hawley alone opposing the measure.

At this juncture the house adjourned till 2 o'clock.

REFUND OF SILK MONEY.

At the afternoon session Joseph offered house concurrent resolution No. 3 as follows:

"Whereas, there still remains to the credit of the Utah silk commission about $3,000 unexpended balance of the appropriation made for said commission at the fifth legislative session of the State of Utah;

"Whereas, said Utah silk commission is no longer in existence by reason of the action of this legislature;

"Therefore, be it resolved, That said amount of money representing the unexpended balance be, and the same is hereby declared to be, turned into the state treasury, and the state auditor is hereby instructed not to issue any warrants covering the said amount for the purposes of the Utah silk commission."

The resolution was adopted.

An important committee report presented to the house this afternoon was that by the committee on judiciary, recommending the passage of H. B. 110, by Lawrence, preventing unjust discrimination against publishers of newspapers. The bill is believed to be directly aimed at the Associated Press, the idea being to compel this agency to furnish service to all publishers who desire it. If the measure succeeds, and indications are that it will, it may lead to the launching of a Republican daily in this city.

ADDITIONAL REPORTS.

The committee on judiciary recommended the passage of H. B. 84, by Park, making certain exemptions from liability to act as a juror; the passage of S. B. 111 by Lawrence, an act to establish a board of commissioners for the promotion of uniformity of legislation in the United States; the passage of H. B. 112, relating to changes of venue in actions in municipal courts, etc.

The committee on irrigation recommended the passage of H. B. 104, by Austin, granting to the United States the right of way over state lands for ditches, tunnels and telephone and transmission lines in connection with irrigation works controlled, or constructed by the United States.

THIS AFTERNOON.

The house "adjourned" (at 2:50 this afternoon, when Speaker Hull, acting under pressure from those who wanted to get through, rapped for order and instructed the chief clerk to call the roll.

The sitting committee recommended the non-passage of the following bills: S. B. 87, H. B. 127, H. B. 128, and house resolution No. 1. On the reading of the report, Marks moved that S. B. 87 and 127 be referred back to the committee on judiciary, as they had been taken out of their hands before they had had time to give them proper consideration. Austin, chairman of the sitting committee, opposed the motion, as he thought it would be unfair to other bills, besides, he thought the committee was unanimous in its report. He argued that if one bill was taken from the committee, all should be taken. Marks spoke for the motion, and argued that the bills were meritorious and deserved due consideration. The matter was being discussed when this report closed.

COLDS LEAD TO PNEUMONIA.

Laxative Bromo Quinine, the world-wide cold and grip remedy, removes the mucus from the lungs and throat, soothes the inflamed membrane and restores the normal condition of the system.

COLD WAVE COMING.

There is a promise of an end in the distress of winter weather that has been delecting winter visitors from the east, and making the local farmers shake their heads in doubt as they think of a probable coming dry summer. A low barometric area is coming this way from the northwest, and tonight the weather will be unsettled. Yesterday's local temperatures ranged from 15 to 12, and the maximum keeps up 12 degrees today. The precipitation in the south continues and it has got so bad down there, that the railroad traffic through the territories is a very uncertain quantity. It is raining heavily also on the Atlantic coast.

PERSONALS.

General Supl. Watson M. Nesbitt of the Fort Huachuca and Juman mining properties near Pocatello, is at the Cullen.

F. H. Holzmeier, formerly a resident of Eureka, and now practicing law at Pocatello, is visiting at his former home in this state.

H. B. Windsor and wife will return from southern California March 20. Mr. Windsor has practically recovered from the trouble with his foot.

Mrs. C. C. Countryman of Eureka is visiting with Rev. and Mrs. D. M. Holnick. Dr. and Mrs. Countryman will move to Iowa to reside, April 1.

HOUSE DECLINES TO PAY DEFICIT

Senate Resents the Killing by Representatives of S. B. 7 Making Appropriation.

FOR WORLD'S FAIR SHORTAGE.

Look Upon It as a Repudiation of a State Obligation—Citizens Who Backed Notes.

When the senate resumed its business this afternoon there was a general feeling of surprise and resentment present at the action of the house in killing S. B. 7, making an appropriation to cover the world's fair deficit. As the John Q. Cannon shortage had been made good before the investigation committee had been rendered showing a further shortage, the senators tended to consider the action of the house to be one of repudiation of a state obligation. This action leaves certain patriotic citizens in possession of notes for money which they loaned the commission in order that the Utah exhibit might be continued to the end. Among those holding notes for substantial sums, upon which reimbursement is refused are John C. Cutler, W. W. Riter, W. S. McCormick, Heber M. Wells, Joseph P. Smith and Hoyt Sherman.

The communication from the house accompanying the return of the rejected bill was received just before the motion to "sustain" was put at 12 o'clock.

SPRY ON SHEEP COMMISSION.

The confirmation of the governor's appointments was a leading subject for the afternoon. It is understood that in the hands of President Love are names for all positions yet unfilled. The sheep commissioners are returned, with the name of Chairman Spry substituted for one of those rejected. Caleb Tanner is submitted again for state engineer, and it is conceded that his confirmation will go through without opposition. The matter of the Utah sheep commission is settled until the call of an executive session late this afternoon.

ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Of routine business the senate considered a long list of house bills this afternoon. At press time the following had passed:

H. B. 114, relating to changes of venue; H. B. 139, to regulate the practice, sale and transfer of merchandise.

H. B. 171, relating to making of false statements. The question of the University-Agriculture college consolidation did not come up for further consideration, an agreement having been reached between the two factions to postpone the matter until tomorrow.

LATE LOCALS.

The flour and grain men report trade is picking up, the season progresses, and the chances of a recurrence of wintry weather become less and less.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hammer, Jr., were made joyful by the arrival at their home last night of a nine-pound baby girl. The mother and child are doing nicely.

Charles Ford is in town today from Lagoon, where he reports rapid progress is being made with the new dancing pavilion, now that lumber and other building material is arriving in desired quantities.

Michael Cantlon of Butte, formerly a well known politician of this city, and a sergeant on the police force, is at the Cullen for a few days, having come down to visit with friends. He has not been here for two years.

Dr. Hearty says of Dr. Osler's criticism on elderly mankind, that there is no question but that after a man has passed the age of 40 his administrative powers increase; while it is true that constructive and creative work is done best by men under that age.

Four cases of measles and one of mumps were reported to the health department this morning.

J. P. Debonson, aged 38, was picked up on the street this morning by Helian Commissioner Wilcox, suffering from smallpox. He was taken to the quarantine hospital.

C. A. Quipley is revealing in the Tucson and enervating breezes of Palm Beach, Fla., where he has gone to consult with Manager Fish of the Studebaker company who is down there for his health. Mr. Quipley is suffering in his spare time fishing for young alligators with a hook and line, and eating pine apples.

R. C. Porter, who rooms at 246 east Second South street, called at the health office this afternoon to inquire as to what was the matter with him. He was given the information and is now at the quarantine hospital with an attack of smallpox. He was somewhat nervous when he was told the nature of his disease, and the information was not as agreeable as he anticipated, but nevertheless he will take his medicine and will languish in the hospital for some time.

Dr. J. E. Scallion, a prominent physician of Hancock, Mich., has returned to this city to practise his profession. He says that eastern people used to cold weather in winter, complain of the heat in Arizona and California when they get there, to escape the hard weather of an eastern winter; whereas, in Utah there is just enough cold to relieve the climate of the accusation of sameness, and give it something of a winter snap without being too cold for comfort. The doctor is an Elk and has joined the lodge in this city.

Capt. G. B. Cameron, the New York mining man, is in from the east, on a periodic business trip. He reports climatic conditions in and around New York as something horrible, and the weather here was still very unpropitious when he left. The captain says Exchange Place, which runs from Broadway to Hancock street, is so built up with skyscrapers that the sun never shines into the street, and the thoroughfare has come to be known as the Canyon. The tallest buildings are 12 stories high, and the tallest ones are 22 stories—hence the absence of the sun. The streets of New York are all torn up by new subways and other improvements going on. And there is no telling when matters will get straightened out there.

BACK HOME FROM SUNNY SOUTH SEAS

Two Salt Lake Railroad Officials Return from Tahiti and Honolulu Respectively.

BURLEY'S TALE OF ARCADIA.

Regular Louis Becke Yarns from Coral Isles—L. A. Benton's Stormy Voyage to Hawaii.

General Passenger Agent D. E. Burley of the Oregon Short Line who yesterday returned from a voyage to the tropics of the South seas, this morning in summing up life in Tahiti, unburdened himself of a gem that is liable to make him famous. "Tahiti," he said with that indelible infection of the voice for which he is noted, "is a place where people go to be early and get up the next day to rest." According to the railroad official the Society Islands are a veritable Arcadia where foliage, fruits, flowers and tropical growth abound, with not a single fly in evidence. Of mosquitoes, however, there are some that look kindly to the epidemic of the Salt Lake so that he was compelled to play the role of the sleeping beauty "neath the gauze folds of a mosquito net." The colony has no American on Tahiti also affords not only rest to the body and the joyous exercise of taste and smell, but it develops his mind of mental arithmetic in much as the French colony has no less than three separate monies in circulation as a medium of exchange—to wit, French, Chilean and American. A dollar is worth 25 centimes French and $4.00 Chilean. Consequently when an American goes around scattering sinelings he has to do some tall figuring if he expects to get correct change.

Mr. Burley and Clem Schramm while making their brief stay on the islands took a trip up country and derived all sorts of pleasure with the thermometer at 84 in the shade. In speaking of the sights Mr. Burley told of an ideal rest place inland that abounded in verandahs and shady nooks, while outside was a natural arbor composed of a single tree whose branches were spread out and propped up by poles for an area of 75 feet by 35; a year ago it was nearly twice as large, but part of it had been damaged by a storm. This tree, said Mr. Burley, was a dazzling, hard mass of red flowers.

From scenery, cocoanuts and the idyllic scenes of the natives he drifted into telling shark stories—which, of course, are essentially fish stories. Stories of pearl divers who hit bottom from a boat 175 feet on the surface above and then grabbed a shell and came to the surface and always interlarded with a story of a shark. With a submarine battle a shark thrown in for full measure they became absolutely thrilling. Mr. Burley says that the record made by a pearl diver on the bottom is a dive of 200 feet straight down under water. Sometimes these fellows run short of wind and then there is a tragedy. They get down on the bottom and see a pearl shell, then they see another try to grab both to the surface and their consciousness is their death. The companion, watching in the boat, knows to the bottom and see a pearl shell and then they see another try to grab both to the surface and their consciousness is their death. The companion, watching in the boat, knows to the bottom and see a pearl shell and then they see another try to grab both to the surface and their consciousness is their death.

To hear Mr. Burley tell these yarns is to make his audience want to pack up and migrate to the sunny south seas where there are no bonds and no worries, no correspondence, no bills, no waiting for a street car, no "line" up for a telephone, no tribulations—simply breakfast at 11 a. m., when the store is closed until 2 p. m., while the proprietor takes a siesta, and then a nap, and no 32 sent at the theater afterward.

Messrs. Burley and Schramm apparently had a most enjoyable trip of 12 days on the water each way with good sailing and four days on the islands.

COL. I. A. BENTON HOME.

Col. I. A. Benton of the Rio Grande is another Salt Lake railroad official who returned yesterday from a voyage on the Pacific ocean. Mr. Benton, who was accompanied by Mrs. Benton, did not experience the best of weather going to and coming from Honolulu, as the ship spent two days in a gale on her propeller and playing hop-skip-and-jump across three waves at one vault, consequently dressing and disrobing in a state room was reduced to a science. Mr. Benton met several Salt Lakers over in Honolulu who asked after acquaintances at home. Mr. Benton, formerly of this city, and proprietor of the Bulletin, greeted him on shore and promptly secured some good live matter for publication.

Mr. Benton says that Honolulu can be of municipal regulation, police in street car service and a museum that are away ahead of what can be encountered in some big American cities, but the average American feels shut out from the world of things that the papers publish but little news regarding what is transpiring in the outside world beyond 10 or 12 two-word bulletins a day. The telegraph editor telegraphically has a sincere and hand assignment as black he takes a hand at "sticking type."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Benton return to Salt Lake greatly benefited by the change and rest.

MRS. DOUGLASS MAY BE SET FREE

Atty. James Ingebretson Brings Up an Interesting Legal Question Before Judge Armstrong.

NO PRELIMINARY HEARING

Was Held on Charge of Attempted Murder, for Which She is Being Held.

A decidedly interesting and probably fatal point has been raised by Attorney James Ingebretson in the case of the state of Utah against Mrs. M. I. Douglass, charged with attempting to murder Mrs. Martin. In a rooming house in this city in December last. The matter came up today before Judge Armstrong in the criminal division of the district court when the attorney for the defendant asked leave for his client to withdraw her plea of not guilty and enter a motion to quash the information in the case and also a demurrer to the same.

Permission was granted by the court to change the plea, which Mrs. Douglass did, after which the motion and demurrer were filed. The motion to quash the information is based on the grounds that the court has no jurisdiction over the person of defendant or the subject matter of the information, that no complaint was ever filed against defendant for the charge contained in the information; that defendant was given no preliminary hearing upon the charge contained in the information and was never afforded an opportunity for such preliminary hearing. The demurrer recites practically the same grounds as the motion to quash.

It appears that the complaint against Mrs. Douglass in the city court charged her with assault with a deadly weapon. She waived a preliminary hearing upon the charge and the matter was set for a preliminary hearing in the district court. When the information was made out and filed in the district court it charged her with attempting to murder, a much more serious offense. Upon that charge she has never had a preliminary hearing. The state provides that the charge against a defendant cannot be changed to a greater offense in the information unless the testimony at the preliminary hearing clearly justifies it. In this case no preliminary hearing was held at all, hence no testimony was introduced and hence according to the contention of the attorney for the defense, the action of the district attorney in changing the charge to murder is illegal. The motion has been set for hearing by Judge Armstrong for March 24.

COL. MERRITT CASE.

Property and Estate Basis of Suit Entered by J. H. Moyle.

The property and the estate of Col. Samuel A. Merritt, who was recently adjudged incompetent, is the basis of a suit filed in the district court this afternoon, by James H. Moyle against Judge William P. Hall guardian of the person and estate of Col. Merritt, and Eliza Merritt, his wife. The suit was filed on March 7, 1934, at the instance and request of Col. Merritt and Eliza Merritt, he recited and ever since has had in his possession all of the personal property belonging to Col. Merritt and valued at about $50,000. It is alleged that both of the defendants herein claim the property in prevention of plaintiff. Judgment is therefore asked that the defendants be required to interplead herein, and set up their claims to said property, and that some person be authorized to receive the property pending this litigation. It is further asked that the plaintiff be awarded reasonable compensation for his services in caring for the property during the time that it has been in his possession, and that upon delivering the same to a receiver, plaintiff be relieved from all liability in connection therewith.

COURT NOTES.

M. Marie Wagstaff appeared before Judge Armstrong in the district court today and legally adopted Gladys Wagstaff, the four-year-old child of Moroni Wagstaff, who consented to the adoption.

Judge Armstrong today granted Marla M. Henderson a divorce from H. J. Henderson on the ground of failure to support. They were married in Omaha, Neb., on Jan. 1931, and have one child, the custody of which was awarded to plaintiff.

In the case of George P. Holman against the Salt Lake City Water & Electrical Power company, Judge Armstrong today appointed Josiah Thomas as receiver, plaintiff in the case of Morris Sommer, deceased, to complete the sale of the property belonging to defendant company pursuant to an order of the court heretofore entered in the case.

Theresa Andersen filed suit for divorce in the district court today against Hjalmar Andersen on the ground of failure to support. They were married in this city on Dec. 3, 1932, and have one child, of which plaintiff asks the custody. She also asks that she be awarded $15 per month as alimony, $25 as attorney's fees, and that her maiden name, Theresa Aamodt, be restored to her.

MRS. STANFORD DIED UNNATURAL DEATH

Verdict of Coroner's Jury Says That It Was Due to Strychnine Poisoning.

NO CLEW TO THE MURDERER.

High Sheriff Henry Thinks Poison Was Placed in Soda in San Francisco.

Honolulu, March 9.—The coroner's jury tonight returned a verdict that Mrs. Jane L. Stanford died an unnatural death.

The verdict says that death was due to strychnine poisoning, the poison having been introduced into a bottle of bicarbonate of soda, with felonious intent by some person or persons to the jury unknown.

The end of the inquest with a positive verdict of murder leaves the police of Honolulu as much without a clew as when Mrs. Stanford died. High Sheriff Henry said, after the inquest, that it was his opinion that the strychnine was placed in the soda in San Francisco by a member of Mrs. Stanford's household. At the inquest Dr. Shorey testified that the strychnine used, as shown by the tests, was a strychnine such as is not used generally for medicinal purposes, but used principally for poisoning animals. This statement is regarded as possible evidence in tracing the purchase of the strychnine.

The jury returned its verdict after about two minutes' deliberation. The detectives who are expected to arrive from San Francisco on the steamer Alameda tomorrow may be able to take up the investigation on new lines. The local police admit that they are at a loss.

The fact that Bertha Berner and May Hunt, secretary and maid respectively to the late Mrs. Stanford, will not leave Honolulu on the Pacific Mail company's steamer China tomorrow, but will remain until the sailing of the Oceanic steamship company's vessel Alameda, is due to police instructions to complete the investigation which Andrews suggested that they should not be allowed to leave before the arrival of the detectives from San Francisco on the Alameda, which is due here at dawn tomorrow.

DR. JORDAN IN HONOLULU.

Honolulu, March 10.—Dr. David Starr Jordan, professor of Leland Stanford, Jr., university, Timothy J. Hopkins, a member of the board of trustees of the university; Capt. Jules Calandren, representing a detective agency of San Francisco; and Detective Harry Reynolds of the San Francisco police department, arrived here today on the Oceanic S. S. company's steamer Alameda.

Dr. Jordan and Mr. Hopkins said to the correspondent of the Associated Press that they had come to show respect to the memory of Mrs. Stanford, and to assist in the investigation of the remains of the woman with whom they had worked for many years in the great project of the university founded by her and her husband, the late Senator Leland Stanford.

Dr. Jordan said that all the way to Honolulu he hoped he would find on arriving that the death of the great scientist was due to natural causes. Mrs. Stanford, in conversations with him, he said, made little reference to the attempted poisoning at the Stanford mansion in San Francisco on Jan. 14, and did not appear to think very much of it.

Dr. Jordan and Mr. Hopkins both said they had nothing whatever to do with the investigation which the police of San Francisco and Honolulu are conducting.

San Francisco, March 10.—The fact that the coroner's jury at Honolulu last night decided that Mrs. Jane Stanford was murdered by means of strychnine has added interest to the mysterious case. A conference will be held here today between Detective Harry Reynolds of San Francisco and the police of San Francisco and Honolulu are conducting.

Four Rioters Killed. New York, March 10.—Dispatches from San Marco, in Lania, near Manfredonia, report, according to a Herald dispatch from Naples that peasants, provoked to crime by war matters, attempted to storm the customs house and town hall. There was a conflict with the troops, who had 15 wounded, while the rioters had numerous injured and four dead.
