EVENING NEWS.
 Thursday, January 2, 1877.
 ANOTHER VERSION OF MOR-MON LIFE.
 (CONCLUDED.)
 Perhaps we have digressed from our subject as we promised to give our version of life among the Mormons. We shall not be able to tell you in the article more than a few items. We came to this Territory when it was a barren waste of sage-brush and saleratus beds; we know the struggles that have been made to cultivate the soil and make comfortable homes for the people, and suitable preparations for the emigrants arriving by hundreds and thousands, from year to year. When properly settled, the women have borne, has scarcely been realized outside of the Territory. Many times, in trying and difficult places, in poverty and want, we have seen the wives, sisters and daughters who have, by their faith and prayers, as well as by the amenities of domestic association, stimulated husbands, brothers and sons to greater efforts and hardships, when not only their strength but their hearts almost failed them. The story can never be told in words, of the courage and heroism, and the most painful circumstances, of these noble women. One gentleman from New York City, in conversation with us remarked, that the Mormon women must be a fairer, more intelligent life, equal in importance to that of the men. We replied that in point of paths and intensity of suffering there could be little comparison between the two. And here we beg leave to say, that when women undergo the same calumnies as men, it should be remembered that, aside from the difference in physical strength, the women bear the pains and anxieties incidental to maternity and motherhood.
 When we think of the babes born in tents and wagons, some even with scarcely a shelter at all, under the most painfully aggravated circumstances, we are horrified with even the recollection. Some of those little babes, too frail for endurance, were buried on the open plains, and afterwards torn up by the wolves, and their bones scattered upon the ground. This is but a glance at the fearful picture. Dear reader, are you not aware that women must have some strong incentive to urge them to traverse a desolate wilderness?
 Our own dear mother, in the pain of life, summed up the accumulation of hardships, and we buried on the prairie, leaving her orphan children to the mercy of strangers. Our forefathers had fought for a meritorious freedom both in the Revolution and the War of 1812, as did our brothers, nephews, cousins and friends, in the late war; some of them losing their lives. I crossed the Mississippi River on the ice in the month of February, 1847, being then a mere girl, renouncing everything we had heretofore held dear, to follow this people, and with the purest intentions. We have never regretted our choice, notwithstanding the many false rumors and misrepresentations made in depreciation of Mormon women. We can with all confidence say the same for many hundreds of other women.
 We bear no malice towards those who have driven us out from their midst as though we were outcasts. We would not be from them good, if they would receive it at our hands. We pray that retribution comes to the few who do wrong to others; this is a law that is inevitable in its fulfillment. We would not be shrewd, rather than to do wrong. We pray for our enemies. We love all those who are sincere in their desires to improve the condition of the human family.
 True and conscientiously believe the system of plural marriage, as revealed to Joseph Smith, is the greatest blessing to both man and woman, if they would strictly adhere to the principles therein set forth. It would give to women more freedom to live their own lives, and devote themselves to such pursuits as are suited to their tastes and inclinations, and at the same time, they might fulfill the laws of their creation honorably; namely, "to multiply and replenish the earth." Whoever believes the Scriptures, need see that women, in ancient times, who understood the laws of God, were anxious to have posterity. If it was so great a blessing as it is portrayed in the Holy Scriptures, then does it not remain to be seen, that women, in ancient times, who understood the laws of God, were anxious to have posterity. If it was so great a blessing as it is portrayed in the Holy Scriptures, then does it not remain to be seen, that women, in ancient times, who understood the laws of God, were anxious to have posterity. Records, Records.
 WE ARE NOW PREPARED to receive orders for FRANONI and WARD RECORDS, of a new and improved form, which has been approved by the presiding Bishop and other members of the same.
 We shall make them of four, five and six quires each, holding 2,000, 2,500 and 3,000 names each, respectively, and the price will be for four quires, $12.00, for five quires, $13.00, for six quires, $15.00. Each book will contain a suitable Index, and be bound in Cloth and Russia Leather, with ornamental lettering, pieces for name of the Ward on the inside of the book, and a large number of other valuable features.
 We do not think it advisable to make them up for you, as we have no means of knowing the names of the members of the various Wards, and we do not wish to be responsible for any errors in the names of the members of the various Wards.
 Orders may be sent to the Office, and orders received for the same.

TO CALIFORNIA.
 We don't give this for an fact accomplish, but is very strongly rumored that Cedar Rapids is to be the half-way station between Chicago and Council Bluffs.
 It is so far and some conditions have been made to that end, we suppose it is on account of the superior condition of the road. A trip on the steel rail and well ballasted road, is not any more now, if as much, more and less on the smelting and machinery to a train from Chicago to Cedar Rapids, 21 miles, as it was on the iron rails from Chicago to Clinton, 138 miles, in the olden time.
 It is not necessary for us to say that the C. & N. W. R. is a first-class road, in every particular, that it rides as easy as sitting in "rocking chairs," that its coaches are parlor, that its employees are the most polite and able gentlemen the traveling public can meet or will need in a lifetime of travel; the only road to do so, in a high standard, if we may so say, in a high standard; we say we need not say this in a newspaper, it is self-evident to every traveler on the road. But in the future there is to be increased, we suppose the speed will be more than twice that of the present, more complete, either for comfort or safety, leave the other commercial metropolises for the golden gate, than the great trans-continental road, and the reason every officer or employe feel so happy and obliging.
 It is with pride we mention these things, and join the general shout along the line, Hurrah for the "OGG BELL" Cedar Rapids Republican, Aug. 14, 1876.
