

SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE ALDINE.—From a prospectus recently issued by Stevens & Co., of this city, we understand that they have become agents for this beautiful illustrated work of art, and are offering it to subscribers on the plan of monthly payments of fifty cents in delivery. As an inducement to persons to become subscribers, every such subscriber will be constituted a member and entitled to all the privileges of THE ALDINE ART CIRCLES, which distributes to every 5,000 subscribers 100 different prizes valued at $2,500.00. Three beautiful chromos will be presented to every subscriber to the series. A finer work than the Aldine is not published in the United States, and the monthly payment system offers advantages to a great many to easily possess a beautiful work of art.

Stevens & Co. also intend supplying all the European and American periodicals and reviews. They have just received an invoice of Picturesque America bound in full morocco. This is a fine work of art for which they are agents.

CITY, Jan. 23, 1875.

Dr. C. W. Higgins:

Dear Sir:—Permit me to add my testimonial to the many others that have been published, all testifying to your skill. I have suffered five years with a bad cough, and my friends began to think I had the consumption. In vain I tried every remedy, until father prevailed on me to try your Cough Drops and other remedies, and I am now happy to say I am well, having taken your medicines only four weeks. Your friend,

GEORGE WILKING.

OUR CLAIMS.—We claim that there is greater certainty and uniformity in the production of good bread, biscuits, &c., in the use of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, and that the articles made with it are more wholesome and digestible than if made with any other kind. That it is one-third stronger, hence requires one-third less, which may be proved by the only reliable and truthful test, a trial by the oven. We claim for it, as also for Dr. Price's favoring Extracts, that they are just as represented, and they are just what the public expect them to be by the name under which they are sold. Steel & Price, manufacturers.

GROUP DISARMED OF ITS TERRORS.—The croupy cough—so alarming to the ear and so dangerous to life—to which the children are subject, may be immediately relieved by administering a dose of HALL'S HONEY OF HORSERADISH AND TAR. When given to a child who seems to be choking under the effects of a spasmodic and husky cough, the effect is electrical, as many a mother will testify. In fact there is no affection of the throat or the lungs, short of the actual disorganization of the tissues and membranes, which it will not cure.

PRICE'S TOOTH-ACHE DROPS.—Cure in one minute.

IMPORTANT TO THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

It is the duty of all persons before starting on a journey to ascertain by what route they can reach their destination with the least trouble, and if there are two or more roads leading to the same point, to decide which is the safest and most pleasant to travel. We take pleasure in stating, that the CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY is the oldest, and several miles the shortest, route between Omaha and Chicago. Within the past two years the road has been put in admirable condition, and almost the entire line has been re-laid with steel rails.

The Depot in Chicago is centrally located, and as their trains arrive three thirty minutes in advance of all other lines, passengers can always be sure of making Eastern connections.

Close connections are made at Chicago with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago, Kanaback Line and Pan Handle Routes, for all points EAST and SOUTH-EAST.

If you are going to Chicago, or East, you should, by all means, purchase your tickets by the Old Pan Handle Route.

The Chicago and North-Western. You will find on all through trains Pullman Sleepers, new and magnificent Day Coaches, and the best Smoking and Second Class Cars now on any road in the United States.

Particular information, with maps, time tables, etc., may be had at any of the Through Ticket Offices in the West, or upon personal written application to J. W. Hines, Ticket Agent, Salt Lake City, A. H. Earl, Ticket Agent at Ogden, or to J. H. Mountain, Western Traveling Agent, Omaha, Neb., or to W. H. Stennett, General Passenger Agent, Chicago.

SUPERIOR WINES AND LIQUORS.—California pure wines, and especially a most excellent brandy, can be found at Mr. Stanger's Old City Liquor Store. My friends and the public in general are invited to pay him a visit to find out the truth of my statement.

A French comestor, LOUIS A. BERTHARD.

CHAMBER'S ENCYCLOPEDIA.—Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., of Philadelphia, announce that, by the sole proprietors of the American Revised Edition of "Chamber's Encyclopedia," and are thereby enabled to offer the work at much lower rates than hitherto. In the course of its recent thorough revision, the American edition was edited with the special view of supplying the wants of American readers. It also possesses a special attraction in containing a series of over seventy-five full-page engravings not contained in any other edition.

PURE OLIVE OIL.—Constantly on hand the genuine article directly imported from France, for sale by Louis A. Bertrand, at his residence, half a block west from the Valley House and three doors from the Utah Hotel, and by Mr. Riser, watchmaker, opposite the Herald Office; price from fifty cents to two dollars, according to the size of the bottles.

As a Frenchman, I do testify that my olive oil is the very best in the market.

Poisoned to Death.

A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested, it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance, which therefore remains to poison the blood and is conveyed to every part of the system. What must be the condition of the blood when it is receiving and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through other channels and organs. The kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., but these organs become overtaxed in performing this labor, in addition to their natural functions, and cannot long withstand the pressure, but become variously diseased.

The brain, which is the great electrical centre of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the unbalanced blood which passes to it from the heart, and it fails to perform its office healthfully. Hence the symptoms of bile poisoning, which are dullness, headache, incapacity to keep the mind on any subject, impairment of memory, dizziness, nervous feelings, gloomy forebodings and irritability of temper. The blood itself being diseased, as it forms the sweat upon the surface of the skin, so it irritates and poisons that it produces discolored brown spots, pimples, blotches and other eruptions, sores, boils, carbuncles and scrofulous tumors. The stomach, bowels, and other organs spoken of, cannot escape becoming affected, sooner or later, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, diarrhoea, female weakness, and many other forms of chronic disease, are among the necessary results. As a remedy for all these manifestations of disease, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with small daily doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets are positively unequalled. By their use the liver and stomach are changed to an active and healthy state, the appetite regulated and restored, the blood and secretions thoroughly purified and enriched, and the whole system renovated and built anew. Sold by all first-class druggists and dealers in medicine.

Notice to Seventies.—The members of the Thirtieth Quorum of Seventies are hereby notified that, on Tuesday evening next, at 7 p.m., and until further notice, the meetings of said quorum will be held at the house of Bro. Nelson A. Empey, corner of South Temple and Second East Streets, two blocks east of President Wells' residence. Those who have not attended for so long are informed that, unless they do so after this notice, they will be dealt with as occasion may require. Tnos. C. Jones, Clerk.

Horse Thieves.—This morning deputy sheriff S. D. Sirrine and Mr. Thomas A. Starrh reached this city from Laramie, bringing with them a couple of horse thieves, James Dougherty and Robert McCausland. They also brought in nine head of mules which had been stolen by the two thieves named, and which are the property of Mr. Starrh. Dougherty and McCausland were placed in the County Jail.

Deputy Sirrine, accompanied by Mr. Starrh, went to Laramie for the purpose of capturing the thieves and the animals, and have had a successful though a hard trip. They were compelled to leave Mr. Golding's mules behind. The officer obtained possession of them, but they were reprieved by a party named Granger, who claimed to have purchased them from another party.

Deputy Sirrine speaks highly of the excellent treatment he received at the hands of Sheriff Brody, prosecuting attorney Bramel, and in fact all the Wyoming officials with whom he met.

"Bob" McCausland is the same who was pardoned out of the penitentiary about three years ago, by Governor Woods, the same also who was held in the county jail pending trial on a charge of abducting a China woman, and the same who, with others, knuckled down and overpowered the county jailer and escaped from jail. He is an exceedingly hard case, or perhaps he would not have been pardoned. Lately he had assumed the name of Hunt.

Theatre.—Miss Katherine Rogers has been doing very good business the past week, especially considering the time. At her benefit last evening there was a much more than ordinary large audience, an appreciative one too, and the play, Tom Taylor's "An Unequal Match," went off swimmingly. It is one of the sweetest, most charming comic dramas in the language, and last evening it was played in a delightful manner, with the slight exception of an occasional hesitation and feeling for the text by one or two of the support, a blemish, however, that may be held to be excusable, considering the number of parts, new and old, which they have to commit, and the frequent changes of character which they have to assume.

Miss Rogers' "Hester Grazebrook" is a beautiful, lovely character, so excellently and delicately rendered as to compel unstinted admiration pretty equally from both gentlemen and ladies all over the house. It is one of the prettiest, most pleasing, and best things she does on the stage. Even her enemies, if she is so fortunate as to have any, might be safely deflected to do less than like her as "Hester Grazebrook." Misses Walters and Cogswell were very good in their respective parts, the latter a rather ungrateful one. Mr. Margetta as the "gentleman's gentleman" was in one of his happiest vein. Mr. Lindsay acquitted himself creditably as the lover and the husband, rather censorious but subsequently well-taken-in-hand and brought to his senses. Mr. Graham as the shrewd but good hearted country doctor was equally effective, and Mr. Foster, too, as the farmer blacksmith and father of "Hester," Messrs. Marden and Wilton also did well.

The recitation of "Mary, Queen of Scots," was admirably given by Miss Rogers.

This evening there is what the posters sometimes term a "treasure-bill," consisting of the classic drama of "Galeata," and the powerful drama of "Leah," with Miss Rogers in the title-role of both. All we need say of this programme is that it is really too much for the money, too much for one evening's entertainment at any price. Shakespeare's "As You Like It" is underlined for early presentation.

Humbugs.—Lack of space prevented us elaborating yesterday as extensively on this subject as intended, and we therefore allude to it again.

Some time since parties came to this city from the East, soliciting orders for trees, shrubs and the like, and did amazingly well—to the tune of some thousands of dollars. People who gave orders, some of the latter being quite large, seemed to ignore the fact that they were ordering from abroad trees, vines, etc., of which there was any quantity of exactly the same kinds in our home nurseries, those of the latter having the great advantage of being acclimatized. Those patrons of importation saw the colored engravings of the fruit claimed to be produced on the States raised trees, and ignored the fact that things of that kind are not generally so represented, except with very best care and cultivation, and then exceptionally, and that although such trees may take good enough fruit where they are produced, that trees are more or less injured by being transported such a long distance, and transplanted far from their native soil and climate, and withal our home nurseries should be encouraged in preference to those that tend to a distance, who have no interests in common with the community, their only object being to carry off the people's money for as limited a return as possible. In cases where people import trees of rare kinds not already here, for the encouragement and development of horticultural pursuits or to extend the number of varieties, the matter is somewhat different. So dissatisfied have many of the people been after their orders for imported trees have been filled that they have not scrupled to call the tree business aluded to a humbug. Not long since a person engaged rooms in this city and announced that he would teach people the modus operandi of making enlarged drawings of small pictures by means of a small mathematically constructed instrument, for the sum of from $8 to $10, including instrument and drawing cranes. This individual made lots of money while here, notwithstanding that the same little instrument, called the "graphic," with book of instructions, is advertised in England for the insignificant sum of one shilling, which is twenty-five cents in American coin. This can scarcely be classed among the humbugs, as the instrument is concerned, which is a very ingenious and rather useful concern, but the difference in price indicated is something enormous and exorbitant.

Astonishingly clever fellows come along this way sometimes with the surprising announcement that they will teach people to speak French with astonishing fluency, by a severy discovered process of communication, in a few brief lessons. When the consideration for these valuable services is handed over, this cultivated French teacher is generally soon discovered to be non est, and the duped would-be pupils are left to express their disgust and disapproval in their mother vernacular. French teachers of this description are unmitigated humbugs.

Some people have a mania for making all their purchases of household and other goods at second-hand stores, and in many cases if after buying they would price similar articles in the merchants' stores they would discover either that they had paid more than they could have got new goods of the same kind for about the same price, or at so small a reduction as to at once enable them to conclude, if they have good sense, that they have been humbugged.

And then some of these auction sales, some of those humbugging auction sales; we mean those of the kind where furniture and other goods are "thrown together," fixed up for the occasion, and mixed up with the furniture and goods of a household, the whole announced as to be disposed of under the hammer, and thus it goes, and people frequently pay more for goods at auction than they could purchase them at Dinwoody's or any other furniture dealer's.

Some of the humbugs introduced hereabout, and palmed off upon unthinking people, are almost as glaring as that perpetrated by the fellow who advertised that he would, for the small consideration of one dollar, send to the address of any party desiring it a couple of steel engravings, portraits of Washington and Franklin, which had been approved by a congressional committee, etc., and in getting the dollar forwarded a one cent and a three cent postage stamp, on which were the likenesses of the two worthies named, and thus he made money and humbugged those who were silly enough to patronize him.

A certain line of the petition business is a genuine humbug. For instance, parties who are hard up have dashed up some kind of a heterogeneous concatenation of extraneous balderdash to which they give the name of a lecture. The next thing is to go around among people who are supposed to be of some note in the community, and to ask them to sign their names to a document expressive of the deep heart-rending anxiety of the signer to hear this mixture of stuff denominated a lecture, and thus the unthinking or underestimating portion of the public is led to expect something, but pays the money and gets less than nothing, so to speak. As a general rule those who sign such documents show the high estimation in which they held the lecturer and lecture, and manifest the sincerity of the before-expressed deep anxiety to listen to the delivery of the affair by absenting themselves on the occasion. All such things are spread, hollow and humbugging in their character, and so far as the honesty of the matter is concerned, are not much above the level of signed or unsigned begging certificates, which are somewhat plentiful now-a-days, the main distinction being that the one is slightly of a higher tone than the other.

One of the most disreputable and villainous humbugs in existence was brought to our notice recently. A set of unqualified soundburies in the East advertised in the public journals that they will send to any young man desiring it, for twenty-five cents, a portrait of his future wife, and the date when they will be married. A lad in this city, partly from curiosity, and partly by way of a joke—although jokes should never be indulged in—sent to one of these fellows, and in addition to the portrait of a female the response included a number of circulars advertising various obscene books, vulgar and obscene cards of such a disgusting, immoral and disreputable character as to make this classed mode of advertising them the only available one, upon publication laying the parties open to prosecution and punishment under the law, for circulating obscene literature. This is not only a humbug, but the parties engaged in the nefarious business are criminals of the blackest description, poisoning the life-blood of society with their vile trade. They are the ruffians of the morals of the youth of the country and, when discovered, should be ostracized, banished, or imprisoned, almost anything being too good for the abominable wretches; society should be rid of their unhealthy, unsalutary influence, and any measures that would accomplish that end, anything that would remove those fetid and corrupting causes, would be beneficial.

Musical Periodicals.—"The Amateur" for January contains "Buried in the Snow," a tale of the Prairies, "Wit and Wisdom," "The Amateur Abroad—Six days in Munich," "Paris Correspondence," "Death of Sher. Campbell," "Ostrolenska," "Minor Notes," "New York Letter," "Arcadian Music," and the following music: "The Sunbeam and the Brook," a song, and the "Sardinian Shepherd Boy," Organ Music: "Manoah," and "Angels' Hymn."

"Benham's Musical Review" for January contains a portrait and biographical sketch of Miss Grazella Ridgway, an American prima donna, "Abbe Volger and his Pupils," "Tuning," "Love," and a variety of other interesting reading matter, besides the following new music—"Daisy and I," "Purity," and "Notre Dame Waltz." Both can be obtained at the music store of Calder & Careless, East Temple Street.

Littell's Living Age for Jan. 23 contains "Charles and Mary Lamb," "Alice's Journal," "International Vanities," "Valentine and his Brother," "Saxon Studies," "Longevity and Brainwork," "Ultimate Consequences of Mr. Gladstone's Pamphlet," "A Philological Puzzle," etc.
