

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY, SEPTEMBER 15.

Horace, the 17-year-old son of Robt. C. and Harriet McEwan of Ogden, died at the home of his parents on Monday evening, the cause of death being typhoid fever. Mr. and Mrs. McEwan are well known in this city, having resided here for a number of years, and in their present affliction they have the sympathy of their numerous friends and acquaintances here.

Skauska Dagbladet, one of the leading daily newspapers of Sweden, published in the city of Malmo, and which has over 30,000 subscribers, says in its issue of Thursday, Aug. 19th, under the heading, "A Giant Newspaper:"

"We have this day received a copy of an American newspaper, which is supposedly the largest issue of a daily paper that was ever published. It is a jubilee number of a Utah publication, the "Deseret News," issued on the occasion of the now blossoming Mormon city's settlement half a century ago. The number of that paper, dated the 24th of July, has no less than thirty-six pages of the great American newspapers' usual size. The matter covers a space of about 9½ square meters, and the contents of the paper therefore equals a pretty good sized book. There is given among other articles one of specially brilliant history in word and picture of Utah State's spiritual and material development during the past half century. The illustrations count up towards a couple of hundred and show portraits of a multitude of people—even from the great Prophet Joseph Smith—who have unceasingly labored for the State's advancement; also pictures of monumental buildings and more prominent public institutions. The whole certainly makes an imposing impression, especially when it is taken into consideration the low estimate Europeans generally have of Mormonism's social and religious worth and vitality."

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, SEPTEMBER 17.

Mr. Alma N. Bishop, whose address is 1217 Eynon street, Scranton, Pa., would be pleased to receive any information by which he could ascertain the whereabouts of the following persons or members of their families.

1. Sarah Ann Rees, sister to Mr. Bishop. She emigrated from Aberaman, Wales, about twenty-five years ago and settled somewhere in Utah. She was married to Wm. Rees, and if living is now about 60 years of age.

2. Also Jno. Ferrady, Mr. Bishop's uncle, who lived at one time at or near Ogden, Utah.

Respectfully,
H. TUTTLE JR.

There was a serious buggy collision and smashup in front of the Constitution building last night shortly after dark. Attorney W. A. Lee of the code commission and wife were occupants of a buggy that was being driven in an opposite direction from one that Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McHenry were riding in. Suddenly there was a terrific collision. All four persons were hurled to the ground. The two ladies were most seriously hurt. Mrs. Lee was rendered unconscious and remained so for half an hour. Today her physicians say she is out of danger. Mrs. McHenry still feels the effects of the shock while Mr. McHenry has a bruise on the back of his head that is affording him considerable pain.

The two buggies were badly demolished.

The spacious and beautiful hall of the Fifteenth ward was last night a scene of festivity and joy. The Relief Society, under the presidency of that veteran in the work, Sister Sarah M. Kimball, gave an entertainment or banquet to all whose names were upon the roll as patrons to the society.

After an hour's free and easy chat, nearly 250 guests sat down to tables laden with fruits and delicate as well as substantial refreshments. Music and speech-making found a part of the program. Very happy remarks were listened to from Apostle Lorenzo Snow, Sister M. Isabella Horne, President Jos. E. Taylor, President C. W. Penrose, Sister E. B. Wells, Bishop Morris, and Chief Justice Granger of Iowa. The only regrettable incident of the affair was the absence of Sister Kimball, which was due to her ill health. However, the entertainment was royal, the spirit of the occasion splendid and relief society work came beautifully to the fore. Great credit is due the sisters in carrying through so successfully so worthy an enterprise. The sumptuous spread, the tasty drapery and floral decorations, the happy countenances and general pleasure realized made it a beautiful thing and it will last in the hearts of those present.

East Bountiful, Sept. 17.—Mrs. M. E.

Glaque and son of this place had a narrow escape from being killed by a vicious cow shortly after noon today. As it is Mrs. Glaque is painfully if not seriously hurt.

Her 6-year-old son, James by name, went into the yard to drive the cow into the street to water. When the animal got on the outside she started after the boy, whose screams brought his mother to his assistance. She had no sooner commenced her work of rescue than the cow turned upon her, hooking her in the breast and trampling upon her. Mrs. Glaques position was a serious and dangerous one, and she undoubtedly would have been killed but for the rare presence of mind and heroic work of the little son whom she had saved but a moment before. The little child seized a pitchfork and with it succeeded in driving the infuriated animal away.

Mrs. Glaque in addition to being hooked in the breast received painful bruises about the body and upon one of her lower limbs.

The unfortunate lady is a sister of Mr. James H. Anderson of the "News," and a sister-in-law of Mr. Arnold G. Glaque of the Sixth ward, this city.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, SEPTEMBER 20.

William Richards, a resident of the Second ward, met death in a shocking manner in this city on Saturday afternoon. He was digging in a trench at the Agricultural College, when the bank caved in on him, killing him instantly. He was immediately dug out by the other workmen, and was found in a standing position. He was a native of England, and joined the Church and came to Utah about fifteen years ago. He was aged about 35 years, unmarried, and has a father and mother living here.

Lillie, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Fox, was badly burned shortly before noon yesterday. The child was playing with a lighted Chinese lantern and thoughtlessly pressed it to her breast. In an instant her clothing was in flames. Only the most heroic work on the part of neighbors and passersby prevented her from being burned to death. As it was her breast, neck, arms, hands, and face were badly scorched. Dr. Plummer was called and applied the usual remedies. The child's recovery is confidently expected.

Hargraves Wilkinson, whose address is 18 Featherstall road, north, Oldham, England, desires tidings of his aunt, Phoebe Woolsonholm. She lived at Lower House, near Barnsby, Oldham, and emigrated from there when many Saints were leaving that section. If still living she is about 70 years of age. While on the way to Utah she lost her husband. She had two or three children when she left England. She left a sister named Dora Wilkinson, who is the mother of the above-named inquirer. Phoebe Woolsonholm had an uncle in England named Richard Hargraves, who was executor of a will under which she received a legacy. Her nephew, Hargraves Wilkinson, will be glad to hear from any of her family, or from any person who can tell him anything of any of them.

The trial of Harry Mills at Junction, Utah, for the killing of Perjue has been brought to a termination. The arguments closed late Saturday night and three hours afterwards the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. Mills was immediately given his liberty. The trial has been a long and tedious one and all concerned are glad that it is over.
