CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, 10.—Cooking submitted a resolution instructing the committee on Judiciary to inquire and report in regard to the action taken by any department or officers of government in restoring Major B. P. Runkle to the army of the United States for one year.

He also submitted the resolution instructing the committee on naval affairs to inquire and report in regard to the restoration of Lt. L. J. Draper to the medical corps of the navy which was debated at some length and agreed to.

Edmunds submitted a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States prohibiting states from making appropriations for sectarian purposes. Referred to the committee on Judiciary.

After the morning business had been disposed of, Edmunds, of Vermont, called for the regular order, and the Senate resumed consideration of the resolution of Matthews submitted before the recess, declaring the right of Government to pay the principal and interest of bonds in silver coin.

Beck spoke in favor of the redemption of the silver dollar.

Sargent submitted the following: Whereas, Thousands of women of the United States are suffering from an amendment to the constitution, allowing women the right of suffrage, and

Whereas, Many of the representative women of the country favoring such an amendment are present in the city, and have requested the Senate to consider an amendment to the constitution, allowing women the right of suffrage, and

THE FOLLOWING BILL WAS INTRODUCED

By LUTTRELL, of California, to prohibit the employment of Chinese or Mongolians on any public works in the United States.

Also to punish and prevent the practice of polygamy in the territories and other places subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.

Also a joint resolution of the California legislature concerning Chinese or Mongolians.

By Cox, of New York, for the coinage of 5-cent silver coins and the discontinuance of the 5-cent nickel copper coins.

House, of Wisconsin, asked leave to offer a resolution empowering the military committee to have the testimony taken by it in regard to Mexican border troubles printed and reported to the House at any time.

File objected.

The motion to refer Wood's resolution to the committee of the whole was accepted, and thereupon the House went into a committee of the whole, Eden, of Illinois, in chair, for its consideration.

Burchard offered an amendment to the resolution so as to authorize the committee to apply to the President at any time for such powers.

Wood opened the debate by explaining the object of the resolution.

Clymer conceded the republicans were as earnest for investigation as the democrats, but he during the last session heard rumors affecting a high officer which he would no more have mentioned in the House than he would have assassinated him. He regretfully assured the House that if the proof of past wickedness was established, it was not coming and abundant.

Cox, of Ohio, said he had favored Wood's resolution along, of all his resolutions, he was not sure that Hale's substitute was not better. He would go with the democratic side for any investigation that might deem necessary.

Garfield said no objection was urged against investigating any public officer on any reasonable ground, but it was objected that it was a committee without any authority.

Banks said the resolution conferred upon the committee the power to search around for something to investigate, to command any private citizen to leave his business and come here, bringing his books and papers. It was an unwise and unprofitable thing to do.

He did not propose to throw a drag net over 44,000,000 citizens, to drag any one into a committee room without his consent, and without the authority of the House.
