

FIRE CRACKERS IN CHINATOWN

New Year is ushered in with
Weird and Mysterious
Incantations.

ONE MONGOLIAN IN DISGRACE.

Hong Wong is Not Sharing in the Noisy Celebration Because He Will Not Work.

With weird and mysterious incantations, with the booming of large and small firecrackers, with prayers to the god of war and the god of peace, with the burning of incense, the beating of tom-toms, the consumption of much tea and with expressions of good feeling, the local Chinese colony, numbering about 175 souls, ushered in the New Year promptly at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

The din that was created by the explosion of thousands of bunches of fire crackers at the hour mentioned, the beating of tom-toms and the loud shouts that sounded more like lamentations, caused dozens of Commercial street and the immediate neighborhood to think that war had broken out. But the Mongolians were totally oblivious to the fear they had created. They were out in force to do honor to the occasion and right royally did they do it, in their own peculiar and mysterious way.

TO SCARE EVIL SPIRITS.
The setting off of the fire crackers was not only for the purpose of arousing some sleepy oriental and notifying him that the holiday season had arrived, but also for the purpose of frightening away any evil spirits that might be lurking about—Chinese whisky and wine not included.

Plum alley, Commercial alley, and Commercial street look pretty much battered up this morning. The streets and sidewalks are strewn with varied colored paper and what remains of the explosives set off at daylight. Long before the boom of the cannon at Fort Douglas announced the break of day, the Chinese women, there are not many of them in Salt Lake, got busy setting their houses in order and getting the children ready for the festivities.

Tapers of incense were set burning in beautiful Chinese vases, tables were spread with Chinese candies and delicacies, while Oolong tea was brewed as only the Chinese can brew it. Whisky, wine and cigars, besides fruit and highly seasoned edibles were spread upon tables in generous profusion.

BUSY AT JOSS HOUSE.
While these preparations were going on, while the mistress of each habitation was getting ready, the male members of the colony were busy at the Joss house, praying to the god of peace to grant happiness and prosperity. From time to time they went before the god of war and prayed that he would keep away disease and trouble.

After these devotions more fire crackers, the biggest ones that could be found, were set off and the tom-toms were beaten again and again. This ceremony, according to Mongolian ideas, put the finishing touches upon the festival. Every man would have been forgiven for forgetting and forgiven for a time. They will be remembered again after the week's celebration, but during that time there must not be the least ill feeling.

Enemies, bitter enemies, call upon each other. They greet each other with a few remarks that sound like the expiring fizz of a soda tank. Each man clasps his own hands in front of him and shakes vigorously. Then tea, wine and cigars are served and presents in mysterious looking red packages are exchanged.

Before night all the Chinamen will have visited each other. Each will have consumed many quarts of tea, wine, etc., and many cigars, good, mean and indifferent, will have been disposed of.

ELABORATE DECORATIONS.

The decorations in each household are most elaborate. Especially is this the case in the abode of Chin Chin, the most powerful of the race in this city. From early morn his place was thronged by the copper-colored gentry anxious to pay their respects to Chin Chin, his young and pretty Chinese wife and their three very fat little children. The youngsters and Mrs. Chin were dressed in the most costly and fancy regalia the flowery kingdom could afford.

CHINESE ISHMAEL.

While past differences are forgotten for the time being, and while expressions of good will are the order of things, there is one Chinaman in Salt Lake who will not share in the celebration. He will not be forgiven for his wrongs, and he can have no part in the pleasure. His name is Hong Wong, and he is in deep disgrace and also in jail. He is in the latter because of violating the ordinance on vagrancy. He is in disgrace because he is the only Mongolian in Salt Lake who will not work. He refuses absolutely to perform any labor whatever, preferring to live from the bounty of others. For more than nine years this worthless Chinaman has been a burden to the local colony. Now they are through with him. He has committed the unpardonable sin in refusing to earn his own living and now he is an outcast shunned by all.

COLONY IS SMALLER.

The celebration this year will hardly come up to the standard for the reason that the colony has been considerably depleted during the year.

Your Duty is to be Well.

But you cannot be well if you neglect taking Hood's Sarsaparilla when you know you should take it. Impure blood, poor appetite, headache, nervousness, that tired feeling—by these and other signs your system demands Hood's. Get a bottle today.

Glow of Health.—"My blood was very poor. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I have more color in my face, sleep and eat well, and work is a pleasure." Mrs. A. A. HOWARD, Taunton, Mass.

In Worst Form.—"I had catarrh in the worst form and was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took seven bottles and am now in good health. I hope everyone who has catarrh will give Hood's a fair trial." Miss WILLIAM METCALF, Parkerford, Pa.

Always Praise.—"I first took Hood's Sarsaparilla 12 years ago, and always speak in favor of it." H. COWELL, 237 Perry Street, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold everywhere. In the usual liquid, or in tablet form called Sarsatabs, 100 Doses One Dollar. Prepared only by C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

APPEAL NOW GOES UP.

Attorney Martin Creates Another Scene
In Spectacular Engagement.

Joseph Martin of New York, an attorney who has gained much notoriety in the district and supreme courts, was forced to smile bitterly yesterday. After having threatened to mandamus J. U. Eldredge, Jr., clerk of the Third district court, seeking to compel him to transmit Martin's appeal to the higher court, went to the office of J. U. Eldredge later in the day and filed his undertaking or bond on appeal, furnishing $100 in coin of the realm. Now his appeal will go up to the higher court.

Martin's troubles began when he came here from New York. They have continued ever since. The cause of his latest trouble started when he acted contrary to a court order and was cited before Judge Morse for contempt. In this proceeding he was taxed $28.80 costs and his appeal covers all the proceedings in this particular case.

BEFORE JUDGE DIEHL.

E. E. Shelly Fined $20 for Battery—
A. Burt Re-arrested.

E. E. Shelly, convicted in Judge Diehl's court of battery upon C. E. Taylor, a well-known local real estate dealer, appeared in court this morning for sentence. In passing upon the case, Judge Diehl remarked that even if Taylor did call Shelly names, the latter had no legal justification for the battery. The court fined the accused $20, which was promptly paid.

A. Burt, charged with grand larceny, was to have had a hearing this morning, but the case was postponed because of a flaw in it. Burt was accused of stealing a quantity of cable and it was alleged to have belonged to the Bell Telephone company.

It developed that the cable was taken from an electric supply company. Burt was discharged from custody, but was immediately re-arrested by Officer Taylor.

OLD FASHIONED BALL.

Preparations have already begun for the old-fashioned ball to be given by the Daughters of Utah Pioneers on Friday, Feb. 21, at the Lion House, and the following committees have been appointed: Arrangements, Susan Y. Gates, chairman, Ann D. Groesbeck, Ina C. Smith, Annie Lynch, Minnie James, Nellie C. Taylor, Lily C. Wolstenholme, Victoria C. McCune.

WEEKLY VITAL STATISTICS.

The weekly report of the board of health for the week ending today shows 34 births during the week, of this number, 19 being males and 15 being girls. Twenty-two deaths were reported to the board of health, 12 being males and 10 being females. Eight bodies were brought to this city for burial. The disease record for the week shows 71 cases of contagious and infectious diseases. Of this number 19 were cases of scarlet fever, 11 were diphtheria, 35 were measles, 5 were pneumonia and 5 were chickenpox. Fifty-four houses are quarantined for scarlet fever, and 17 for diphtheria.

JOHNSON WILL CONTEST.

Petition of Elizabeth McCormick is

The contest of the will of R. M. Johnson came before Judge G. G. Armstrong this morning, but the hearing of the petition of Elizabeth McCormick, who is seeking to break the contest being based upon a codicil which is somewhat different to the provisions of the other testament, was continued until March 21. E. C. Olney has been appointed special administrator of the estate.

The will of Johnson, who died just as fortune was about to smile upon him, provided bequests for his two brothers. In a codicil written after the original will was drawn, Johnson made in consideration of her kindness to him during his life. This codicil is the basis of the contest and the brothers are seeking to have the original will admitted to the exclusion of the codicil.

FEEDING BEET PULP.

It Has Developed Into a Big Industry
By Itself.

A branch of the sugar industry, of which not much is heard by the public, has loomed up into stronger prominence this year than ever before. This is the feeding of pulp to cattle and sheep at all the factories of the companies which operate in Utah and Idaho. Agricultural Supt. George Austin of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company was in town today, and reported the winding up of the sale of the company's mutton, 30,000 head of sheep having been bought and fed for the last several months on pulp and alfalfa hay in the company's yards; the recent sales have been made in Los Angeles and San Francisco and the prices obtained were very satisfactory; in fact, the prices of sheep generally stood about as they were four months ago, prior to the slump. The company is now a great many of its cattle, but still has a string of fat steers in Sugar City, Idaho.

Mr. Austin said that last fall the company made an experiment for the first time in early fall feeding of its cattle at Garland. One hundred head of steers were weighed in on Aug. 28, the average weight being 1,025 pounds; 100 days later, Dec. 9, they were taken out and weighed and the average gain of 202 pounds in that time, the only feed having been alfalfa hay and last year's pulp.

Mr. Austin says that the company has already received applications from numerous farmers desiring a plant in Utah county the coming spring.

AUDITOR CANNOT COMPLY WITH LAW

Excuse Given by City Official
For Failing to Submit Financial Statement.

HE IS BALKED BY EXPERTS.

City Has Already Paid $13,000 for New System and the End is Not Yet
—Report Due Feb. 2.

The expert accountants have made it impossible for City Auditor Rudolph Ait to comply with the state law. The changing of system and account books has delayed him with his annual statement and it will not be ready for two weeks or more, according to a statement of Mr. Ait this morning. His excuse was that the new system was balking him. This new system has cost the city $13,000 and the city is not through paying for it yet.

The session laws of 1901 required the city auditor to prepare annually a financial statement of the city to be published in some newspaper having a general circulation in the city. The report must show the total receipts of the city, stating particularly the source of each portion of the revenue; the amount of cash on hand at the date of the last report; the amount of the sinking fund, how invested; the number, date and amount of every bond issued or redeemed, and the amount received or paid therefor; the indebtedness of the city, funded and floating, stating the amount of each class and the rate of interest borne by such indebtedness, or any part thereof; the amount of cash in the city treasury, and in its several funds; the total expenditures of the city, as shown by the warrants issued, giving in total the amount expended in each department.

REPORT DUE NEXT MONDAY.

With the section of the statutes making this requirement, the auditor is unable to comply. The section of the state law is incorporated in the revised ordinances of 1903 and the auditors who have been going over the books of the city have had every opportunity to know that the auditor would have to comply with this law on or before the first Monday in February.
