Theatricals in Sacramento.—After presenting tragedy, low comedy, comedy drama, drama and the sentimental, sensational and farical, last week, and playing to poor business all the time, manager Piper got desperate, brought out his reserved gun, long held ready for use, and last evening fired it off—dramatically. The result was a house "packed from pit to dome," as the old bills read. And what was it? Neither comedy, drama, tragedy, nor farce, but a variety minstrel character piece, utterly indescribable and away beyond the pale of criticism. It represented three country youths enticed to the metropolis, and followed by their sweethearts, who, in the guise of organ-grinders, firemen, fops, gamblers and minstrels watch all their acts, guard them from harm and read them a lesson on constancy. The piece is an old one, in which Ada Isaacs Menken used to delight. It has little plot, not a whit of literary merit, is full of slang, and brims with disguises and character acting. It gives Miss Walters and Miss Firmin opportunity to show remarkable versatility and to sing some pretty songs. It closes with a female minstrel performance and the old break down. It is the veriest bit of extravagant nonsense, but it seemed to greatly please, and kept the large audience in a roar of laughter the whole evening. Same bill this evening. The management has invited General Sheridan and party to visit the Theatre this evening, and has decorated a box for him in case he should accept.—Sacramento Record-Union, Sept. 21.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, SEPT. 24.

From San Francisco.—Honorable James Otis, Mayor of San Francisco, is in the City.

Diphtheria.—We are informed that this dangerous malady is somewhat prevalent in portions of Cache Valley.

Gone to Provo.—This morning President Brigham Young and Elder George Q. Cannon left on a visit to Provo. They will be absent for several days.

Summer Complaint.—An exchange gives the following remedy for summer complaint—"Beat up the yolk of an egg with sugar and a little milk; keep giving until cured."

Not So.—We are pleased to learn that our informant who stated to us that the boy Marsh, injured by a molasses mill, is not dead, but is doing well, under the treatment of Dr. Young, who is attending him.

Assault and Battery.—Last night Henry Haygreen, without any cause or provocation, struck Duncan Clark a blow in the face, for which he was fined $20, and an additional fine of $5 was imposed for resisting arrest. He paid the amount. Whiskey was the cause.

Postponement.—Nearly all of the parties whose property was advertised to be sold for taxes Sept. 27th and 30th, have stepped up and settled, and to give the isolated parties remaining, they are very few, a further opportunity, the assessor and collector has postponed the sale till October 30.

Hopeful.—On further examination of the injured arm of Brigham Clayton, accidentally shot yesterday morning, the surgeons find that the limb can probably be saved, and we were pleased to learn this morning that the condition of the young man is also otherwise favorable.

We learn that he was in a boat in a pond, some rods from the bank when the gun was unaccountably discharged, and that after the occurrence he paddled to the shore with one hand, and walked a quarter of a mile, to the house of Bro. Peck.

Concert and Party.—The Scandinavian concert and party, last night, for the benefit of Elder Sanberg, was a decided success, both financially and otherwise. The commodious hall was nicely fixed up with garlands and flowers, and the singing of Bro. Thomassen's choir excellent, and was heartily applauded. Four young ladies, who constituted a quartette, sang with excellent effect. At the close of the concert the seats and benches were cleared away and the remainder of the time was spent in dancing.

Home Manufacture.—Messrs. Taylor & Cutler's store is not only a place where a splendid assortment of imported goods are kept, but it is a regular emporium of home manufactured merchandise, such as cloths, flannels, jeans, linseys, &c., from the factories of Utah, and people who are skeptical regarding the excellence of home productions in that line should call and examine what they have got. Those who do so will discover that they not only compete with eastern productions in price, but also in quality. We reiterate our advice to all good citizens, to sustain home manufacture.

Very Bad Accident.—This morning Joseph Rands, about sixty years of age, met with a very severe accident in the Z. C. M. I. new building, where he was at work. His post was to attend to the wheel barrows on the elevator, which is operated by steam power. The signal for lowering the elevator from the third floor is the ringing of a bell by Rands, by means of a wire attachment, the bell which is close to the engineer, on the first floor. The engineer was deceived by the bell being moved by the vibration of the beam to which it is attached, and let the elevator down before Brother Rands was ready. The latter had one on the floor and the other on the elevator, and as the latter went down he was thrown back upon a wheelbarrow, which tipped and threw him off, when only a few feet from the top. In descending he struck across a beam on the second floor, and then descended to the floor below. He fell a distance of about thirty feet in all, eighteen feet after he struck the beam.

He was taken to the office of the Doctors Richards, when it was discovered that his right thigh was broken, that one of his arms was injured, besides several minor injuries about the body, and his system was very badly shaken.

He was placed in a wagon and conveyed to his home, in the north-eastern part of the 20th Ward.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, SEPT. 25.

In from Bear Lake.—Bishop E. F. Sheets returned last evening from a trip to Bear Lake Valley. He was accompanied by Elder A. M. Cannon, who remained a day behind on the return trip, at Logan, and who will probably reach town to-night.

From Canada.—Mr. Armstrong, of Hamilton, Canada, is in the City, on a visit to his son, Mr. Frank Armstrong, the well known lumberman. He is delighted with the appearance of the City, and but for business and numerous family ties in Canada, would be inclined to settle here permanently.

As Well as Expected.—Joseph Rands, the man who was hurt in Z. C. M. I. new building yesterday, is doing as favorably as could be expected. He was suffering severely last night, the shock to his body by the fall being necessarily very great. His injuries, however, are not necessarily fatal, and he will probably recover.

Thrown From a Horse.—This morning Walter Clawson, about twelve years old, son of H. B. Clawson, Esq., was riding on horseback and, in making a sharp turn, on South Temple street, was thrown to the ground with great violence. He struck upon the left side of his head and his arm. He was rendered insensible and in that condition was taken to the office of the Drs. Richards, near Z. C. M. I. drug store. We are pleased to be able to state that his injuries are not serious, consisting of some bad scratches on the face and bruises on one of his arms.

Home-made Locomotive.—The manufacture of a complete locomotive has been commenced at the railroad workshops, at the depot. It will be entirely of home manufacture, probably the first produced between Omaha and the Pacific.

The patterns for the wheels have been made, and other preliminaries commenced.

The boiler shop at the depot has turned out several boilers of late, one, of large dimensions, for the Provo Manufacturing Company, and another is being made now for Groesbeck and Crismon, for their coal mine in Summit county.

Disgraceful Conduct.—We are informed by a citizen of the unseemly, not to say outrageous, conduct of three soldiers, who were on their way to Camp Douglas, about midnight last night. In the 11th Ward they entered the lot of Mr. Phares Wells, and commenced tearing and throwing things around. On that gentleman getting up and going out they left. They next seized a wheel, that was lying in front of a blacksmith shop, and threw it into an adjacent lot, breaking a couple of fellows. They also emptied a number of water barrels, placed one of them on the street car track, finishing up their unmanly proceedings by committing a gross nuisance.

Dangerous Accident.—We learn from Bishop F. Kesler, of the 16th Ward, of a very severe accident that occurred to his son, George W. Kesler, last Saturday evening, at the rancho of J. Quince Knowlton, at Skull Valley. He was riding a wild mule, which became unmanageable, fell and rolled over him and kicked him twice. His injuries are principally in his head, and he is considered to be in an exceedingly critical condition.

After the accident he was conveyed to the residence of his mother, at the Point of the Mountain west, about sixteen miles from this City, where he arrived on Tuesday evening, and where he now lies. He was insensible when first hurt, and still continues in that condition.

We heartily sympathize with Bishop Kesler in this affliction.

Obsequies.—The funeral services of Garrett H. Conk, who died on Wednesday, from the effects of injuries accidentally received by a threshing machine on Sept. 9th, took place yesterday, at the First Ward school house. A few days before his death, feeling assured that his departure was near, he gave directions about his funeral, requesting that it should be inexpensive and unostentatious, desiring that his remains be placed in a home-made coffin and conveyed to the cemetery in his own wagon. Also that the services should be conducted in the First Ward school house, and that all who desired to speak on the occasion should have the privilege of doing so. A number of the younger people spoke, all bearing testimony to the upright character of the deceased, who was a young man generally respected and esteemed, being of an obliging and cheerful disposition, and who displayed in his life integrity to the latter-day work.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, SEPT. 27.

Tabernacle Meeting.—Elder Orson Pratt preached yesterday afternoon.

Warm Weather.—The atmosphere has been waxing very warm at midday for the last few days. Summer has returned late in September.

A Good Cabbage.—We were shown this morning, a cabbage weighing ten pounds, grown on the lot of Brother Horne, on the 20th Ward bench, a part of the city which, as everybody hereabouts knows, is famous for scantiness of water and abundance of gravel.

Write on One Side Only.—Some of our correspondents forget that important rule in writing for the press—only write upon one side of a sheet, because, if the writing is upon both sides, and the sheet has to be cut for distribution among several compositors, there is a good chance for a troublesome mixing up of the subject matter.

Shop-Lifting.—There was a genuine case of shop-lifting to-day. An elderly woman entered a boot and shoe store, and, thinking she was unobserved, adroitly transferred a pair of "understandings" and a packet of shoe tacks from a box to her basket and left. An eye-witness of the theft communicated the fact to the gentleman in charge of the establishment, who followed the shop-lifter, brought her back to the store and made her disgorge the stolen articles. She looked like an old hand at the business, and said she resided at Sandy.

The Coming Emigrants.—By dispatch from W. C. Staines, to President B. Young, we learn that the company of Saints that left Liverpool Sept. 15, numbering 230 souls, reached New York yesterday, all well.

The following returning missionaries were with it: Joseph F. Smith, Richard V. Morris, F. M. Lyman, John Squires, B. H. Watts, Archibald McFarlane, — Hansen, and H. Jorgenson. John H. Burrows, from the Liverpool office, is also with the company.

Elders Smith and Lyman left for the west last night, and the company were to leave to-day.

It is probable the company will reach this city on the 5th or 6th, and Elders Smith and Lyman on Friday or Saturday.

Farmington Co-operative Company.—The Farmington Co-operative Company are making good progress. Their tannery has been running for some time and turning out considerable quantities of good leather, which has been manufactured into boots and shoes, of very respectable workmanship. In the vats of the tannery there is now, in process of tanning, in the neighborhood of $2,000 worth of leather.

The company have decided upon erecting a building 18 feet by 36 feet and two stories high, for a shoe shop and tanners' shop. The ground for the structure has been purchased, on the Main street of the town, and work was to be commenced on it to-day. Bishop Hess is President of the Company, and Councilor Stayner Secretary, and both of these brethren, in conjunction with the entire board of Directors, are laboring assiduously and wisely for the good of the cause and the people.

About eighty heads of families in Farmington have renewed their covenants by baptism, and a general good spirit appears to prevail among the majority of the people there.

Immense Enthusiasm.—It will be remembered that at the meeting held on Saturday evening, the 18th, at the Federal Court House, of parties who were desirous of resisting the payment of city taxes, an adjournment was taken till last Saturday evening. The first meeting was an immense success, as a genuine fizzle, the invitation of "come one, come all," being heeded only by a very meagre crowd of persons. On Saturday night it was somewhat different, for one portion of the invitation was heeded to perfection, there being but one part of it that did not have a powerful effect upon the minds of a slumbering public.

Our reporter was on the spot at the appointed hour. He looked around in vain for the slender figure of the indefatigable Hudson, the portly and majestic McGuffie, and the sprightly and dignified General U. S. Marshal George R. Maxwell, they were nowhere to be seen, and the Hall was closed and in darkness. The first part of the invitation had been heeded, "come one," but the "all" preferred staying at home, showing that Burns was right when he said the "best laid schemes O' mice and men, gang oft a-glee."

Reprehensible Conduct.—On Saturday night a couple of soldiers entered the grocery store of Mr. Mackay, Third South street. They ordered a quantity of ham, which one of them picked up and walked off with. The remaining one ordered and obtained some crackers, and while Mr. Mackay was getting him, at his request, some butter, he also left, shouted to his companion, and both of them ran off as fast as they could, leaving the grocer minus both goods and pay. Mr. Mackay gave chase to the two petty thieves, but they escaped in the darkness.

The same evening a couple of other soldiers entered the store of Olaf Hammer, Second South St., and played a similar trick on him. Mr. Hammer gave them chase and succeeded in seizing one of them, but he got away from him, the soldier threatening to kill him. Seeing that he was unable to secure them, he did what he considered to be the next best thing; he captured the cap of one of them, inside the leather peak of which the name of Bone had been cut with a knife. If Bone be the guilty party, it is mete that he be punished for it.

We believe it is the desire of the commanding officers of Camp

Douglas to keep their men from encroaching on and annoying the citizens, and we therefore respectfully draw their attention to these incidents and others of late occurrence, in the belief that they will exercise an effectual restraint with a view to preventing such things.

Another Fearful Accident.—At 10.40 this morning William Fuens, aged about thirty, met with an accident at Little Cottonwood Station, on the Utah Southern railroad, that terminated fatally within two hours after the occurrence. While some cars, loaded with brick, were being switched he jumped up between two of them to tighten the brake and slacken speed, when he slipped and fell, some of the cars passing over him. His left thigh was broken and his right one terribly cut and lacerated, and he was also cut about the groin.

He was conveyed to his home in the 15th Ward, about half a block south of the depot, where the unfortunate young man expired shortly after twelve o'clock.

Deceased was a man of exemplary habits and was the first man on the Company's list for promotion to take charge of an engine. He leaves a wife and two children.

No blame can be attached to anybody for the accident, it having been caused by the deceased attempting to get upon a car in a manner that is exceedingly dangerous, and which should never be done. A person may accomplish such a feat ninety-nine times, and thus gain confidence, but be precipitated under the cars at the hundredth attempt and lose his life. During the four years that the Utah Southern Railroad has been running, not a single accident has occurred to any passenger traveling upon it.

An inquest was to be held over the remains of the deceased this afternoon.

Sudden Death.—This morning, about 8 o'clock, William Lewis, a mason, residing in the 16th Ward of this City, died suddenly at Stevenson's farm, Big Cottonwood. He had been suffering some time from an affection of the kidneys. Last night he went to Big Cottonwood to finish setting a molasses boiler, staying there the night. This morning he went to the mill and, while waiting for the tender, sat down and expired.

An inquest was held, at which D. R. Williams testified that he went to the mill about eight o'clock this morning, and after being there a short time heard a groan. He looked around, but did not ascertain whence it came. E. Stevenson afterwards found the deceased in the pit, dead.

E. Stevenson testified that deceased went from the city with him last evening, and on the way complained of a pain in his back, which he attributed to an affection of the kidneys. He went to the mill at eight o'clock this morning and found deceased in the pit, quite dead.

Lewis Oviatt testified that he did not see the deceased until he was brought into the house. He saw him about ten days ago, when he appeared quite feeble.

The following is the coroner's verdict—

"TERRITORY OF UTAH,
County of Salt Lake,
Big Cottonwood Precinct.

"An inquisition holden at the residence of Edward Stevenson, Big Cottonwood precinct, Salt Lake County, on the 27th day of September, A. D. 1875, before B. B. Bitner, Justice of the Peace in and for said precinct, upon the body of William Lewis, there lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed. The said jurors upon their oaths do say that the deceased died from natural cause. Supposed affection of the kidneys.
