WHAT A BAPTIST THINKS. PAIN LAKE CITY, U.T., August 2, 1883.

The proud and haughty man stands aloof, and looking down with acorn and disdain upon the poor in his humble garb, and with plain and unattractive face, are nothing in him but an object to revile. But the man of meek and lowly spirit gets so neaf to the poor and unpolished immigrant as to often feel the throbbings of a warm and generous heart, and, furthermore, is often in-structed and enlightened by his plain, practical ideas and commonplain, practical ideas and commonsense view of thing; and common sense, by the way, is often a rare commodity among the bookwise and wealthy.

And here are a few specimens of the insolence, lack of charity, common sense, or the common courtesy of society in so many prominent of society in so many prominent visitors to Salt Lake City. Here's from Commander Vandervoort's speech: "The slums of Europe with "Father, did William ask vont matted hair, bloodshot eyes, unholy thoughts, and beastly, idictic ignor-ance and fanaticism impelling them, are being massed behind the solid walls of the gigantic mountains."

Here's from the editor of the Col-here's the way he pays him back.

"Around President Taylor's library hang the portraits of the Latter-day Baints. It might well be a rogue's gallery. And so they appeared at the tabernacle."

Now this gentleman (?) will come

To balt Lake City when the found. It cheers the dark ness of misfortune, and warms the heart that is callous and cold. In social life who has not seen and felt its influence? Don't let little matters ruffle you; nobody gains anything by being cross and crabbed. If a friend has injured you, if the morald cost hard if you want emhe feels like it, and he knows very well that he'il go home again un-molested. But just let our friend talk in this strain concerning the citizens of the majority of our min-ing towns and cities, and what would be the outcome? Why, "good bye Charley, I'm going where the woodbine twineth."

the fruits of many years hard toll, or your faults are magnified, or ene-mies have traduced or friends de-ceived, never mind; don't get mad at anybody, don't abuse the world or any of its creatures.

Gentlemen, if we are gentlemen, and must agree to disagree upon many points in politics and theology, let us not forget the fact that no man can be convinced nor converted by reviling him. The golden text — "And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three, but the greatest of these is charity."

making few stops and accomplishing the distance (912 miles from Chicago to New York) in less than twenty-six hours. Modern railroad traveling has now become so luxurlous and easy that the public take as a matter of course comforts which only a few years ago were ccarcely dreamed of, or, at all events, were in embryo. So much so does this tendency prevail that it is almost impossible to excite anything be yond a languid and memporary in-terest in even the greatest strides taken by any railroad corporation to enhance the comfort of its patcan sometimes be taken aback, and confees their surprise and gratifica-tion in finding the palatial accom-modations provided on the "Chicago and New York Limited." Among the most notable of these features we may mention first and foremost the dining care, ejectally built for service on the "Limited" fast trains, which for elegance and convenience are unequalled. These cars are not mere ly repositories on wheels, on which cooked victuals are stored, but are perfectly appointed restaurants in which meals are served on the table d'hote plan at a uniform rate of $1 per head from bills of fare, which, as regards the wide range given for selection, cannot fail to please the most fastidious taste. Especially dear to smoker's hearts will be found dear to smoker's hearts will be found the smoking cars, which are liberally furnished with comfortable sofas, movable and easy arm-chairs, camp stools, caid-tables, together with a well-selected library of popular works, and a writing table, supplied with writing materials, all at the free disposal of passengers, and letters and telegrams will be forwarded en route by the conductor warded en route by the conductor on application. The train is composed exclusively of Pennsylvania dining and smoking cars and Pull-man drawing-room skeping cars, which run through from Chi-cago to Baltimore, Washing-ton, Philadelphia and New York, and such is the demand for accommodations that berthe have to be secured well in advance. The drawing-room sleeping cars are magnificent in the extreme. There can be no question that this route will outstrip all others as in its trains are combined all the comforts and con venieuces of a first class hotel, and passengers are saved the annoyance of hastily bolting ill-cooked and worse served meals in a draughty and uncomfortable depot, aside from the fact that the time ordinarily de-

Acid Drinks.

It is an established principle that cold and hot weather demand clothing and food of a different character, adapted to the varying circumstances. In cold climates and in cold weather the appetite demands, and the comfort of the body justifies, increased use of carbonaceous food that the animal heat may be su ained at the vital point of about 78 legrees Fabr. The natural a; petite which is a good guide, demands a change of diet as the spring opens the disuse of the concentrated foods the oils, sweets, etc., and the adop-tion of the succulent products, with those specially containing the sub-acids. And, is accordance with this acids. And, is accordance with this fact, our ever-watchful and kind Provider has given us just the needed medicine foods on the return of warm weather, the berries which are more acid than those appearing later in the season, as all may observe. They are demanded as one means of thinning and purifying the blood, or ridding it of the carbon accumulated dusing the winter. These acids stimulate the liver to increased activity, removing the waste matter, including that especially from the brain and nerves, which we call "bile," which in accordance with the same wise and beneficent plan, acts as nature's cathartic, plan, acts as nature's cathartic dimulating the bowels, etc., to nor mal action. [Special to the DESERRY EVENING NEWS of July 3rd, 1853.] Trial of a Twine Binder.

Yesterday afternoon there was an exhibition of the Osborne Twine mater as the farm of Mr. John Briggs, in Sugar House Ward. The main points of excelent claimed by the company for this machine are, its simplicity, case of draft and make agement, perfect binding, power to elevate and the width of cut, the smallest machine baving a six foot blade, while the largest one's blades are ten feet long. The machine did excellent work, blading equally firm and even in long and the grain and not missing a single bundle. Notwittanding the fast that the grain and green and heavy, the clevator did perfect work, and the grain was bound so that it was next to Empocable to shake the bundle out.
