suspension of the writ of habeas corpus cannot be justified under present circumstances. The constitution does not permit that great bulwark of liberty to be suspended in mere anticipation of danger. Its language is that "the privilege of Treacurer-James Jack: Superintendent of Common Schools-O. H. the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it." There is at present no rebellion, there is at present no invasion, and in the tewart and E. Mailin Weiler; present condition of the country the habeas corpus cannot be constitu-Coroner George J. Taylor; tionally suspended. The constitu-Prosecuting Atterney-Z. Snow; Assessor and Collector-R. J. Golding: tion does not permit its suspension in anticipation of a rebellion of which there are no immediate signs, or in anticipation of a fanci-ful invasion, but only when rebellion or invasion has actually occurred, or is so imminent as to require strong measures. There is no re-bellien now, there is no invasion now, there is no immediate prospect now of either rebellion or invasion, and it would be an abuse of authority for Congress to authorize the suspension of the habeas corpus at a time when there is no threatened disturbance of the public peace.
The writ of habeas corpus is simply a guarantee against illegal imprisonment—a security that no citizen shall be deprived of his liberty, without proof that he has violated Grow, M. H. Felt, David McKenzie, Ferasome law. When this sacred writ is suspended the President can arrest and imprison anybody he pleases, with or without cause, and the most innocent man in the community, if the President chooses to suspect him, may be made a per-petual prisoner. A President with the habeas corpus suspended is as absolute a despot as the Czar of Russia or the Sultan of Turkey.

From the moment that this dangerous act passes we shall have a Cresar, because the authority to suspend the habeas corpus at his pleasure makes him the absolute master of the liberty of every citizen. If the caucus bill should be enacted into a law the President can suspend the habeas corpus whenever he pleases in every part of the United States. He could suspend the writ in New York and immure Governor Tilden in one of the forts erected to defend our harbor; he could arrest Senator Thurman and Senator Bayard, and hold them in close custody, and no judi-cial tribunal could issue a writ for bringing these persons before it for the purpose of deciding whether there were any legal grounds for their detention. If this infameus bill passes President Grant can bill passes President Grant can make a close prisoner of every leading democratic statesman and crush out all opposition to his third election in 1876. If the power is conferred on the President to stretch forth his hand and imprison any citizen he pleases and confine him in a government fort as long as he pleases, nothing can be easier for him than to secure a third election and as many subsequent elections as he chooses to have, so long as he has power to suspend the LADY'S WORK BOXES PARLOR KALEIDOSCOPES, as he has power to suspend the habeas corpus. The practical effect of this disgraceful bill, if it passes and becomes a law, is to make every citizen of the United States dependent on the mere will of the President for his liberty; and when we confer en General Grant authority to imprison whom he pleases and to imprison whom he pleases and to detain them in custody as long as he pleases, without responsibility to courts of justice, we make him absolute master of the country.— New York Herald, Feb. 16.

Editor Descret News:

I had a son who appeared to be in ill health, being in a pining condition. I was unable to determine the nature of the disease which affected him. A few days since I placed him under the treatment of Dr. Plant, who, within a few hours, and without pain or incompenience to the lad, freed the patient of a tope-worm about forty feet long, since which time the boy has been improving. I with you to publish this circumstance, as much for the benefit of people afficied similarly to my boy, as to award credit to Dr. Plant, whose skill in that line of complaints can be relied on, beside his charges are moderate.
