

DIVIDENDS TO EASE MONEY MARKET

September and October Payments Will Reach
$1,500,000.

SEVERAL EXTRAS DECLARED.

Huge Sums to Go to Beet Growers in October and November.

Sugar Factories Are Now Commencing To Run and Tests of Beets Show Good Results.

The last part of September and the first part of October are the dividend periods for most of Salt Lake's big business institutions, and disbursements made and to be made to stockholders within those periods are relied on for the easing up of the local money situation. Already there are signs of a loosening of the tension, and considerable loans were made during the week on a basis of 5 per cent, while the tendency of late has been 7 per cent and even a per cent, on the best class of paper. It is somewhat unique to know, however, that the big borrowers in the west have not been required to pay the rates offered by the bigger borrowers in the east, and considerable money has been sent to eastern points to loan on gilt edged paper at high rates.

It is estimated that with the mining dividends, payable during September and October, and with the disbursements to stockholders in the commercial list, something like $1,500,000 will be paid out to people scattered all over Utah. This money will find its way naturally back to the channels of trade and ought to do much to help the money stringency.

The list of dividends paid this month and next is as follows, according to a compilation made by Broker John C. Cutler, Jr. Some of the payments are quarterly and some semi-annual:

BIG BEET PAYMENTS.

Another agency which will set a big sum of money afloat in the community beginning next month, will be the distribution of the first payments for this year's beets among the farmers of Utah and Idaho. October 15 is the time for the payment for all beets delivered in September. This amount at all the factories controlled in Salt Lake and Ogden will be something like 100,000 tons, or $450,000 to $475,000, cash which will go to the farmers. This great pay day, of the year, however, will be November 15, as the large proportion of all beets is delivered during October at all the factories. This will be a total anywhere from 600,000 tons to 800,000 tons and taking the lesser figure as a basis, it will mean close to $1,000,000 that the factories will pay the beet growers. Doubtless, however, a small part of the delivery will take place in November and be paid for in December.

The sugar factories have begun working and reports of the beets from all the fields show them to be in fine condition. They are especially high grade in Lehi, Ogden and Nampa, being the highest at the last named place. The first two factories to start up were Ogden and Nampa, the others begin operation in the following order: Lehi, on the 23rd, Lewiston, on the 25th, Idaho Falls, on the 26th, Sugar City, 26th, Clarkston, Oct. 1st, Logan Oct. 1st, Lewiston Oct. 1st, Blackfoot Oct. 5th.

MAY SETTLE DISAGREEMENT.

City, Rudy and Gun Club Are Holding Conference Today.

The old dispute between the city, John Rudy and the New State gun club may be settled today. Acting Mayor Davis has taken upon himself the task of attempting a settlement, and this afternoon a party is going over the ground to decide the merits of the three-cornered controversy.

Rudy, in numerous complaints to the city council, has charged the city with being derelict in its duties, the gun club with overstepping its rights and generally figuring that he has been getting the short end of the rope. The gun club is in a similar predicament. It claims that the city, upon a request made by Rudy, went to the vicinity of its shooting grounds and dynamited the dams controlling the drainage of the area. This, they claim, was unnecessary. They say that they are deprived of the water that rightfully belongs to them.

The party which will view the ground this afternoon is composed of Acting Mayor A. J. Davis, City Engineer L. C. Kelsey, H. J. Dimmy, assistant city attorney, members of the council and members and officers of the New State Gun club.

IN JUDGE DIERL'S COURT.

Jennie Steel Happy Over Sentence Imposed This Morning.

Jennie Steel, a woman who has been in the criminal division of the city court many, many times for drunkenness, was hauled up before Judge Dierl again this morning on the charge of drunkenness. Jennie was given a pleasant surprise. For several days she has been unable to appear in court owing to illness caused by over indulgence in bad whisky. Usually she has been fined $10, but this morning Jennie wanted a more severe fine. She pleaded guilty and when the court pronounced judgment she chuckled with glee. The court fined her $25, which means 25 days in jail. Jennie was pleased and said: "Thank you Judge. Thank you." She expected only 10 days.

Henry Stewart pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace. The prosecution stated to the court that Stewart went home last night in a state of beastly intoxication, and shamefully abused and maltreated his wife. Stewart had no explanation to make and was fined $25, which he paid.

LIBERTY IS A RIGHT NOT A PRIVILEGE

imate industry, insurance policies are more valuable today by reason of the elimination of grafting on the part of some insurance officials. We can eat our meat with more satisfaction since abuses in the beef packing business were stopped. When railroads and other special interests are compelled to obey the law, it will not retard their development nor hinder their real progress, but will put them on a more secure and substantial basis.

PRIVILEGE OF LAWLESSNESS.

In the light of the privilege of lawlessness, there have arisen questions between the federal and state governments as to the constitution of the power of each. If the people of the states cannot be trusted to enact valid laws with respect to corporations, by what process of reasoning can it be assumed that they have the capacity to legislate for the individual citizens? If the states are to be the corporations, shall they be denied the control of their resources? The regulation of interstate commerce must necessarily be by the federal government, but it is to commerce within the states, it is the right and duty of the state to regulate it. In ordinary lines of business, competition can be trusted to regulate itself. It is the duty of the people, with a monopoly, however, the law must supply the regulation. Which in the case of enterprises open to all, is furnished by competition. Railroads are monopolies, and the development of our vast resources, and are entitled to fair treatment, the same as individuals. But unrestricted, their power to tax is in the hands of the state, and the power to tax is the power to destroy. They have no more right to carry the freight of one man for less cost than another under the same circumstances, or to carry one man free and charge another, than a tax collector would have to remit a portion of one man's tax, to collect half of another, and put all of the burden on still another.

DANGER OF STATES.

"The danger to the integrity of the states can best be checked by the states exercising their rights of self-government in the enactment of good laws, and enforcement of those laws. The states that allow their self-government to be spread out and dissipated among many subdivisions, until it becomes so weak as to mean but little, are doing much to aid in the plan of those who argue for a centralized government at the nation's capital.

WORLD'S GREATEST NATION.

"This is the greatest nation in the world, but it is no greater than the states that compose it. It is great because it is a nation of self-governing states. Let us keep it so, for its guiding principle is the right of self-government of the states, the fountain of its strength, is taken away.

THE TARIFF.

"In a sense, every governmental question is a question of right or wrong. The tariff is a moral question. A tariff, deliberately designed to create monopoly and to give a few people the right to prey upon the rest of the people, is prohibited by the moral law—the law of conscience. But considered purely upon an economic basis, the tariff is a question of right or wrong. It is a question of right or wrong, as to whether a tariff cannot be fairly defended. International commerce can never be a one-sided transaction. Mutuality is the primary principle of trade. Trade restrictions breed trade restrictions, so long as we pursue a policy of hostile exclusiveness we can never hope to dominate the commercial markets of the world. We must be on a reciprocal trade relations with the leading nations.

OUR FOREFATHERS.

"In constructing this great government, our forefathers exercised a wisdom unsurpassed in the annals of mankind. They founded a government guaranteeing rights to the individual never obtained or exercised by any other people. They fought in order to give us this nation with its blessings of freedom. It is for us to preserve it as a government of the people, for the people and by the people. Let us endeavor to maintain inviolate the principle of popular self-government and recognize the sacred liberty of the individual citizen consistent with law and order; unite in enforcing the laws and in counteracting any attempt to deprive them the privileges of lawlessness. Let us maintain the rights of all by causing each to respect the rights of the other. Let us not seek as a remedy for existing evils, democracy, but more democracy; not more money but more conscience. Let us hand down to our children a government in which the individual has a privilege to the coming generation, to the end that the individual may be uplifted more and more as time goes by until the might of America is in enlightening the world with the benedictions of liberty is accomplished."

Startup, treasurer; Alfred J. Startup, secretary; Hazel Startup, assistant secretary; and C. W. Thomas, auditor.

YOUNG BURGLARS HELD BY MARSHAL

Trio Said to Have Robbed Twenty-Second Ward Store Are Caught.

A trio of youthful burglars has been caught by the city marshal at Stockton. They are Robert Edgar, Ernest Harnden and Earl Burbank. They will be brought to this city Monday by Probation Officer Guardino, driven and tried before the juvenile court.

Thursday night the Twenty-second ward store, Fourth North and Fifth West streets, was entered through a front window, which was broken by the intruders. An investigation by the clerk in the morning of Friday showed the following to be missing:

Cheating gun $5.00
Candy 5.00
Dimes and nickels 2.00
Postage stamps 1.00
Total $13.00

It appears from the investigations which have been made that the three boys now held in custody are the ones who entered the store and took the articles enumerated above. After robbing the place they soon disappeared. It was seen by the mother of one of the boys that he had altogether too much candy. Later she found that the ward store had been robbed. Later it was found that the boys were selling stamps. Pennies were unusually numerous among another's possessions. These discoveries led the boys to know that there was something wrong, and they disappeared.

The city marshal at Stockton found the kids eating candy, chewing gum and playing with an unusual amount of spending money. He took the boys in an investigation later. When the news of the robbery came to him, he notified the probation officers in this city, with the result that the trio will be brought to this city Monday. The Edgar boy is 10 years of age, the Harnden boy is three years older, and Earl Burbank is also 10 years old. All have been before the juvenile court before, and this time their punishment may be different to that of their friends in the past.

HILL GETS JAIL SENTENCE.

Jack Hill was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail by Judge Armstrong yesterday for assault with a deadly weapon. He stabbed Sadie Mertala in Bingham, Aug. 27.

C. H. RAMMELL HERE.

Has Several Veins of Coal in Pack Saddle Canyon, Idaho.

C. H. Rammell is down from Hayden, Fremont county, Idaho, bringing with him a sample of coal taken from his mine in Pack Saddle canyon. The sample was taken from a 10-foot vein, 15 feet under the surface. The sample is at the office of the Lumber company, 12 east Second south street.

Mr. Rammell says that he has uncovered six veins from 7 to 20 feet at a depth of 20 feet. These have great indications of being good. He has dug on the dump in the neighborhood of 10 tons of marketable coal, ready to be hauled away. The coal can be sent as a small piece of road can be put in condition. The entire output has been taken out with a hand shovel. As soon as possible Mr. Rammell will put in modern conveniences that will expedite development of his valuable mine. He has a small road from Hayden and 12 miles nearer to St. Anthony and the Snake river country. The demand for coal Mr. Rammell says a number of teams may be seen at the mine, and it is possible to haul and carry away the black diamonds. The price of coal at the mine is now $2.50 and $3.00, and may be increased as the winter approaches.

Mr. Rammell states that his coal does not need screening as it comes out in large lumps and does not break up.

To the Public:

"The death of Mr. W. P. Lynn, manager of the Lynn-Smith Co., has been announced in the press. We beg to inform you that it is the intention of Mrs. Lynn to maintain her interest in this life insurance business, and see that it is carried on uninterrupted. To do this with justice to our policyholders we have entered into a contract with STOWE & PALMER, controlling the WILSON-SHERMAN insurance agency, to manage our business. The WILSON-SHERMAN Co. is one of the oldest and most reliable insurance agencies in the city, and there is no question that the business will be most efficiently managed. At the same time Mrs. Lynn will retain an active part in the work, and her interests will exceed those of any other party.

We solicit your patronage and good will toward the new management, assuring you of its entire capability to watch your interests as well as did Mr. Lynn. We remain very respectfully yours.

THE LYNN-SMITH CO., Inc.,
By LILY E. A. LYNN."

The above letter is self-explanatory. We have entered into an arrangement with Mrs. Lynn by which we will take care of her business in connection with the WILSON-SHERMAN insurance business. The WILSON-SHERMAN CO. already had the strongest list of companies of all the agencies in Utah. It is now still further strengthened by the addition of the Phoenix of Brooklyn and the Scottish Union & National, two grand old companies.

The office of the Lynn-Smith Co. is now with the Wilson-Sherman Co., 58 West Second South Street, where all accounts due the Lynn-Smith Co. are payable. Meanwhile we are going right on doing a slashing real estate business.
