FROM ARIZONA.

We are indebted to Bishop A. H. Raleigh for the following extracts from a letter from br. Isaac Hunter:—

CALLSVILLE, Arizona, Feb. 4, 1865.

DEAR BISHOP:—I now redeem my promise to write to you, although I believe I had better come and tell you my story, as I hope to see you very soon after you receive this. We are doing well here, and driving business beyond our expectations. We have worked just three weeks on the warehouse and have one side and end up to the square, and expect in four days more to have the whole building to the square, so that we can finish it in two or three days more.

We have had extremely good luck in all we have set our hands to. The rock is on the ground both for lime and building, while the dirt dug out of the house is the best kind for our mortar. Thus furnished it is no wonder we have progressed so rapidly. While we are thus driving ahead br. Call is putting up a building 20 by 18 feet, which will be to the square to-morrow, and will be finished before the warehouse. The landing here is of the best kind. There has been one barge here since my arrival. The river is low, but we are looking for a steamer every day. We all consider this a permanent landing place. The country around here is the most rugged I ever saw, and if not a mining country it is fit for nothing else.

The fact of a practicable road by the way of the Muddy and Rio Virgen has been sufficiently demonstrated, although it can be greatly improved and shortened: it brings St. George with all the windings of the road as it now is, within 155 miles of steam navigation.

I know of no farming land nearer than the Muddy on this side of the river. The other side we have not yet explored much for want of a boat to cross in, but we will probably pass over and learn something more in that direction. We have a boat which will be finished in a few days.

Callsville is situated 7 miles above the mouth of the Vegas Wash, and 1 mile below the narrows, and is directly on the contemplated mail route from Utah to Prescott, the capital of Arizona, and bids fair to be a flourishing place.

POLISH STATISTICS.—A recent account of the population of Poland gives the following particulars relative to the inhabitants of the country:

The greater part of the land is in the hands of about 5,000 families, consisting of 25,000 individuals of both sexes. These constitute the high nobility. The class immediately attached to them comprises about 170,000 persons. These form the lesser nobility, most of whom possess a small piece of land, though the general-ity of them are said to regard the cultivation of land as degrading. It is from this class that the functionaries are taken and they also supply the higher nobility with many of their servants. The Roman Catholic ecclesiastics consist of 4,600 members, 2,218 of whom are priests, 1,808 monks and 521 nuns. Hitherto the clergy have had the privilege of tithing the whole of the natural productions of the kingdom, without respect to the creed of the proprietors. The number of the population engaged in trades and manufactures is estimated at about 930,000, of whom more than

580,000 are Jews. A large proportion of these are under the direct influence of the high nobility. Two hundred and twenty-eight of the towns they occupy of the 453 contained in the kingdom, are the property of single individuals, and the municipal and judicial institutions are, in fact, under the direct patronage of the great proprietors. Of course the influence of the nobility is still greater over the rural population, the total number of whom is estimated at 3,270,000, which may be subdivided into 1,277,500 small farmers, 522,000 peasant proprietors, plus 23,000 Jews, and the remainder is made up of laborers, who are described as merely serfs of the great nobles, and whose condition is exceedingly wretched. This state of things is in course of alteration or amendment.—[Ex.]

LAKE DISASTERS IN 1864.—The Detroit Tribune publishes a list of three hundred and seventy-nine disasters that have occurred on the lakes during the past year. They are thus classified: Explosions, 8; capsized, 7; ashore, 123; sprung a leak, 151; destroyed by fire, 4; lost sails, 202; foundered, 9; collisions, 46. There can be no doubt these estimates are below the actual number, notwithstanding they show an increase over last year of 29. The loss of canvas and damage done by vessels to cargoes which sprung a leak far exceeds similar losses in any former season.

AN ACT

Amending the Charter of Great Salt Lake City.

SEC. 1. Be it enacted by the Governor and Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Utah: First: That the City Council of Great Salt Lake City shall have power and authority to license, tax and regulate livery stables.

SECOND: To license, tax and suppress hackmen, draymen, carters, porters, omnibus drivers, cabmen, packers, carmen and all others who may pursue like occupations, with or without vehicles, and prescribe their compensation.

THIRD: To establish, erect and control hospitals, infirmaries and medical colleges; to purchase grounds for their erection and improve and adorn the same; and license, control and regulate physicians and surgeons.

FOURTH: To purchase and improve suitable grounds for a house of correction; to erect buildings thereon and adopt such rules and regulations for the government and punishment of offenders therein, as said Council may from time to time deem expedient.

FIFTH: To direct and control the location of railroad tracks, and depot grounds, within the city and regulate or prohibit the use of locomotive engines thereon, and may require the cars to be used within the inhabited portions thereof, to be drawn or propelled by other power than that of steam.

SIXTH: To regulate and control the location of gas works, canals, telegraph poles, and all improvements of similar nature.

SEC. 2. The City Council shall have power to levy and collect on real estate (or land claims and improvements thereon) in any division benefited, within the limits of said city, a sufficient tax to defray the expense of levelling, paving, macadamizing or planking and opening and keeping in repair the streets and sidewalks, of constructing sewers and drains, and keeping the same in repair, and of erecting lamps and lighting the streets in such respective districts or divisions; Provided the money thus raised shall be exclusively expended for such purpose in the district where such taxes are assessed and by such person or persons as the City Council may appoint. The amount to be assessed for any such improvement shall be determined by the City Council, who shall appoint three Commissioners, reputable citizens, to make such assessment, who shall be sworn to faithfully and impartially execute their duties.

Before entering on their duties the Commissioners shall give six days notice of the time and place of meeting to all persons interested. The Commissioners shall assess the amount directed by the City Council on the real estate (or land claims and improvements) by them deemed benefited by any such improvement in proportion to the benefit resulting therefrom.

When the Commissioners shall have completed their assessment and made a correct copy thereof, they shall deliver the same to the City Recorder within thirty days after their appointment, signed by all the Commissioners.

The City Recorder shall cause a notice to be published to all persons interested, of the completion of the assessment, and the time and place shall be designated therein, when the City Council shall hear appeals and objections and correct or confirm said assessment.

When the said assessment shall have been completed the City Recorder shall, within ten days thereafter, make a correct tax list which shall be delivered to the Collector, or any authorized agent appointed by the City Council, who shall collect said taxes within such time as may be prescribed by said Council.

If any assessment is set aside by order of any Court, the City Council may cause a new one to be made, in like manner and for the same purpose, for the collection of the amount so assessed.

If the first assessment prove insufficient another may be made in the same manner; or if too large a sum shall at any time be raised, the excess shall be refunded, rateably, to those by whom it was paid.

In this city, Feb. 7, Professor J. W. P. STANNARD, aged 65 years.

Prof. Stannard was born May 4, 1800, in Norwich, England, where he received his education. He became a proficient scholar in the French, Latin and Greek languages, but his favorite study was the mathematics, which he pursued with an ambition characteristic of the man. He was master of the Classical and Commercial Academy, St. Simons', Norwich, and head teacher at the Royal Grammar School, in that city, where he remained 12 years. He inspected the best schools in France, Switzerland and the Netherlands. In Bourbon College, France, he was made a Professor of Languages and Mathematics. Finding his health failing he retired to a country residence, at Wrenningham, 8 miles from Norwich, and in which he opened a boarding and day school. He left England, in April, 1861, landed in New York, about the middle of May, and went to Kendall County, Ill.: in 1862, he was head teacher at Oswego Academy, Ill., but feeling constrained by the Spirit to go to Utah, he accordingly prepared to do so, and on arrival was much pleased at seeing such a fine city built by the Saints in so short a time. He went to see President Brigham Young, who treated him with great kindness, and recommended him to the Superintendent of Schools, who was instrumental in obtaining for him the 13th Ward school, which he taught to within a short time of his death. He leaves a wife and family, with many friends to mourn his loss.

"His lov'd name will never perish,
Nor his memory crown'd the dust,
For the Saints of God will cherish
The remembrance of the just." [Com.]
