Ring Defraud of the Pottawatamies.

It is said on good authority that a ring of speculators have been systematically defrauding the Pottawatomie Indians, who until recently occupied a reservation near Topeka, Kansas. The principal charge is that certain members of the tribe, living in Indian Territory, were represented as being dead, and their estates were administered upon and the proceeds pocketed by the ring. The amount realized by the scheme is estimated at $20,000.

The Rotunda and the Senate Chamber—The Funeral Furnishings.

WASHINGTON, 25. — From ten o'clock this morning until sunset an almost unbroken for throng of men, women and children passed through the Rotunda of the Capitol, to view the remains of the Vice President. The body, enclosed in a glass-covered casket, lay in state on a low catafalque, directly under the centre of the dome, watched over by a guard of honor, detailed from the marine corps. The Rotunda is profusely draped with the national colors, entwined with mourning.

The Senate chamber has been prepared by the sergeant-at-arms for to-morrow's funeral ceremonies, and presents an extremely impressive appearance. The entire base of the gallery and all the pilasters are covered with crape in broad bands and festoons, the woodwork over the Vice President's chair and the chair itself being draped with especial richness of effect. The approaches to the Senate chamber and the marble columns of the portices have also been fittingly draped with morning. The casket is rich and massive. The usual floral decorations rest on it, and it bears a plate inscribed simply, "Henry Wilson, born Feb. 16, 1812. Died November 22, 1875."

New York Arrangements.

NEW YORK, 25.—The committee of the board of aldermen having charge of the arrangements for the reception of the funeral cortege of Vice President Henry Wilson, met to-day, when a dispatch was read from Col. E. Wyman, of Washington, setting forth that the remains would arrive about 3 o'clock on Saturday p.m., and would be taken to Boston the same night, and that the plans could not well be changed.

In consequence of this, the proposition to have the remains lie in State in the City Hall was abandoned. The remains will be met at Jersey City by a command, and escorted to this city, when, under escort of the 22nd, 69th, 5th, 6th, 11th, 7th and 9th regiments, they will be taken to the Grand Central Depot. A troop of cavalry, troop of Washington grays, and battery B. of the artillery will also form an escort.

Two Deaths by Lamp Explosion.

PHILADELPHIA, 25.—This morning a coal oil or a fluid lamp exploded in the bedroom of Mrs. Charlotte Chew, of Camden, N. J., the lamp being on the mantel, and burst. The fluid was thrown over the carpet and immediately ignited. Laura Chew, aged eighteen, sprang out of bed and rushed to the door to call for help, when her night clothes took fire. She then opened the second story window, from which she either jumped or fell, and was injured so badly that she died in a few minutes. The clothes of her mother also took fire, and before they could be extinguished she too was so dreadfully burned that she expired to-day. Wm. Chew, son of the deceased, was severely burned.

The Philadelphia Programme.

Nearly all the arrangements of the Wilson obsequies in this city have been completed. The remains will lie in state in Independence Hall until 11 o'clock on Saturday morning, when they will be removed to the depot. The following is the order of march—

WESTERN.

The "Pacific" Inquest.

SAN FRANCISCO, 24.—The Victoria papers, in an account of the inquest on the bodies of the victims of the Pacific disaster show, by the testimony of the sailor at the wheel of the Orpheus, the colliding ship, that the captain was steering directly athwart the course of the Pacific, changing his course several times in an undecided manner. The steamer's side lights were visible. It was ascertained in a few moments that the Orpheus was making no water, but no attention was paid to the hails from the steamer. The Orpheus resumed her course without an effort to assist the Pacific. The testimony of O'Harlon, the rescued quartermaster, and Jelly, a passenger on the Pacific, showed a lack of discipline on board, and a want of authority on the part of the officers. After the collision the passengers crowded the boats, which could not then be launched. The crew of the steamer were all asleep below, except the helmsman, watchman and officer on deck. Their testimony mainly agrees with the previous reports as to details.

Race Postponed Till Christmas.

The Pacific Jockey Club held a meeting to-day. In accordance with the desires of owners of horses and the general sentiment of turf men, the four-mile race was postponed till Christmas. Pools off.

Major Wm. H. Kerns, of Los Angeles, was thrown from his buggy and killed. He was a graduate at West Point, and on the staff of General Baker at Balls Bluff.

The Mexican consul here has received a telegram from the Mexican minister at Washington, denying the reported annexation treaty.

Custom collector Shannon has received an order to reduce the custom-house expenses 15 per cent.

The "Pacific" Disaster.

The Victoria Standard says an effort will be made to procure the attendance of the captain and crew of the Orpheus at the inquest on the bodies of the victims of the Pacific disaster and a searching inquiry will be made as to the cause of the disaster. Charles Thompson, one of the crew of the ship Orpheus, has made a sworn statement before a notary public in Port Townsend, which charges the captain of the Orpheus with having been the cause of the disaster. He says that on the raising of the lights of the Pacific, he was ordered by the second mate to head for it, and a few minutes after the captain came on deck and ordered him to again put her upon her course. About three minutes afterwards he was ordered by the captain to let her luff, which he did. After this the captain signified his intention to speak the steamer, for which purpose the light was kept dead ahead until the two vessels collided. Then the steamer followed the ship, the people on board shouting and calling on the captain of the Orpheus to stop and rescue them, but he did not head their cries, he kept on his course and the steamer was soon lost to view.

The Funeral Ceremonies in the Senate Chamber.

WASHINGTON, 26.—The funeral of Vice-President Wilson took place in the Senate chamber at half-past ten this morning. Although the weather was very unfavorable, the crowd was great. Many were unable to gain admission to the building. After 10 o'clock the Senate chamber was heavily draped in mourning and immediately in front of the Vice-President's table the catafalque was placed, the desks having all been removed from the chamber. The seats were all arranged on the floor for the President and Cabinet, the Supreme Court, members of the Senate and House of Representatives, and other prominent persons.

At 10:15 the judges of the Supreme Court of the United States, headed by Mr. Middleton, their clerk, entered and were assigned to the front row of seats on the right of the Vice-President's desk. At 10:22 the body was taken from the Rotunda to the Senate chamber, preceded by the Rev. Dr. Sunderland, Chaplain of the Senate, Sergeant-at-arms French, the committee of arrangements and pall-bearers, and followed by the relatives of the deceased, among them his brother, Mr. Colbath, and wife. The casket was carried by twelve soldiers, and as soon as it was placed on the catafalque prepared for its reception, two privates of the marine corps took position at the head and foot, and stood "at rest" throughout the entire service. Numerous crosses and crowns of white flowers, sent to the Capitol this morning by friends of the deceased, were placed on the coffin. As the body was brought into the chamber, all the persons upon the floor arose and the Rev. Dr. Sunderland read the passage, "Lord, make me to know thy ways," etc., and other selections from the scriptures.

Soon after the casket was placed on the catafalque the President, with Secretaries Fish, Bristow, Belknap, Robeson, and Chandler, entered and were assigned to the front row of seats, opposite those occupied by the Supreme Court, all of whom were clad in their robes of office. The committee of arrangements and the Massachusetts committee occupied seats immediately in rear of the Supreme Court, and behind them were nearly all the members of the diplomatic corps, headed by Sir Edward Thornton, who is dean, or the oldest continuous member, of the corps, and behind them were citizens of Massachusetts in Washington. On the other side of the chamber the relatives of the deceased were seated in the rear of the President and next the members of the Senate and House of Representatives. Among others on the floor were Adjt. Gen. Townsend, Q. M. Gen. Ingalls, Judge Advocate Gen. Dunn, Gen'ls Pelouse, Van Vliet, Meir, Barns, and Humphrey, and other army officers, ex-Attorney-Gen. Williams, Commissioner Pratt, Fred'k. Douglass, and others of prominence. The chair of the Vice President was vacant and heavily draped in mourning. T. W. Ferry, of Michigan, president pro tem of the Senate, occupied a seat at the clerk's desk. The officers of the Senate and the committee of arrangements wore white silk sashes, gathered on the left shoulder in black and white rosettes.

In spite of the very inclement weather the largest part of those present were ladies. Among those in the diplomatic galleries were Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Belknap and Mrs. Bristow.

All being in readiness, Mr. Ferry announced that the services will now begin. Rev. Dr. Sunderland, standing at the clerk's desk, then read a brief selection of scripture, after which the Rev. Dr. J. E. Rankin delivered an elegant discourse.

When the address was finished, Rev. Dr. Sunderland offered prayer, and pronounced the benediction. The coffin was then closed and the funeral cortege formed in the order prescribed and proceded to the depot of the Baltimore and Potomac Railway Co. The streets along the route were thronged with spectators, who stood in the cold drizzling rain. Guns were fired and bells throughout the city were tolled. At the depot the remains were given by Senator Thurman, in behalf of the committee of arrangements, to the charge of the Massachusetts committee and placed on a special train, which started for Baltimore at 1.30 p.m.
