

SOCIETY

This has been one of the busiest weeks of the season both in weddings and in other social affairs, teas, card parties, luncheons and other functions filling each day. The last week in June will see a number more weddings, while invitations have been issued for a score of other events.

Outside of the weddings the most notable home event of the week was the tea given by the Liberty Chapter D. A. R. on Tuesday at the Kenyon. The decorations being especially beautiful in fulfillment of the rose idea and all details making it a delightful affair. Prominent members of the society were in charge and a large number thronged the rooms during the afternoon.

The week opened with many delightful functions, among the most notable being the reception given by Mrs. E. O. Howard on Monday at her new home on East South Temple street, which was beautifully decorated with a profusion of roses in different shades, roses prevailing and the rose idea carried out in less and other details. About 15 friends assisted in receiving and the event was altogether delightful.

Another notably pretty event of the week was the flag function given by Mrs. H. J. Schulze and Mrs. E. T. Harvey at the Harvey home, in the way of a military euchre party, the national colors being used with pretty effect, while roses in red and white with other flowers helped in the flag idea. The prize in the contest was a silk flag, which was awarded the winners at each table, these numbers being: Mrs. H. J. Schulze, Mrs. John E. Howard, Mrs. Charles W. Boyd, Mrs. Fred Slade, Mrs. G. W. Cushman, Mrs. Elmer Darling, and a guest prize going to Mrs. Robert J. Hendrick.

Mrs. W. H. Child entertained at an informal reception on Monday in honor of her guests, Mrs. Evans and Miss McCarty, a number of friends calling during the afternoon.

On Wednesday Mrs. W. W. Armstrong was hostess at a bridge tea, the prizes in the card contest going to Mrs. Alexander C. Ewing, Mrs. C. R. Penhall, Mrs. H. Vance Lane, Mrs. J. T. Edwards, Mrs. A. D. PROVOC.

Perfect in every detail was the reception given Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Eggertsen in honor of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Achsa, to William Monroe Paxman, which was solemnized in noon in the Salt Lake temple. The bride was beautiful in a white silk gown with exquisite lace trimmings. The After an hour or so spent at the residence, the guests were invited to the Sixth ward social hall which had been transformed into a most inviting banquet room. On the stand which was almost concealed with potted plants and palms were stationed the orchestra which furnished sweet music throughout the evening. In one corner of the room formed with roses, was a booth from which punch was served. Five long tables accommodated the 250 guests. The host in a very appropriate speech welcomed the guests and acted as toast master, the following toasts were given: "The Divine Marriage Bond," L. L. Nelson; "A Married Man's Troubles," T. N. Taylor; "The Bride," Postmaster James Clowe; "The Groom," Sadie Graham; "Happily Married," W. M. Royland; "Kiss Me," Bert Smoot; "Advice to the Newly Wed," Ralph Poulton; "Joys of Married Life," L. E. Eggertsen; and "How to Be Happy," J. M. Jensen. After which the tables were removed and the remainder of the evening was passed in dancing. Probably no young couple has ever started life with happier prospects, loved by both popular and dearly loved by all who know them.
