FRAGMENTS.

J. RENSHAW was arrested today on a charge of drunkenness.

ROBERT TAYLOR was taken in by the police this morning for drunkenness.

GEORGE SNOW has been arrested for obstructing the sidewalk with his merchandise.

THE Ward Comedy Company commences an engagement at the Theatre to-morrow evening.

TOMORROW the Fifteenth Ward excursion to Syracuse takes place. Utah Central trains will leave at 8 a. m. and at 2:15 and 4:10 p. m. A variety of amusements have been provided.

UPWARDS of a thousand people went bathing at Garfield Beach on Saturday, and yesterday the number was still greater. Most of them were eastern visitors. The attendance at the Beach for the two days was about 8000.

THE tomato crop in this county is a failure. The canning company of this city have telegraphed east, countermanding their orders for cans and labels, and intend to turn their attention this year to the manufacture of jellies.—Provo Enquirer.

MR. CHARLES MUSGRAVE, of Plain City, was severely kicked by a horse on the right leg below the knee last Thursday. The leg was broken by the force of the blow. Dr. Driver was at once summoned, who upon his arrival set the bone and made the patient as comfortable as possible. — Ogden Standard.

A GENTLEMAN who went in bathing at Garfield yesterday was unwise enough to take his watch and a gold locket, valued at $150, into the bath room and leave it there while he was disporting in the lake. On coming out he found the watch, locket and $5 in gold missing. Up to this afternoon the thief had not been discovered. Bathers should heed the notice to leave their valuables at the office, or they must take the risk of being robbed.

THE parachute jump as made at Lake Park yesterday afternoon, but not by the lady as advertized. The professor made the dangerous descent however, in a way that seemed to satisfy the crowd. The attendance was not as large as when the people were disappointed, the public not relishing such mishaps. The balloon went up to a height of about 3,000 feet, and from there the parachute, an umbrella shaped machine about twenty feet in diameter, was started eastward. For about a hundred feet the man dropped like a shot; the parachute then began to fill out, and he came the rest of the distance steadily, until he alighted, about a mile inland from where the ascent was made.

A Return Sunday School Visit.

Yesterday morning the meeting house at Union, Salt Lake County, was filled to overflowing with the members of the South Cottonwood and Union Sunday schools. The occasion was the return visit of the first named school for one paid to them by Union Sunday school a month ago. There were present, besides the presiding authorities of the two wards and the superintendency of both schools, quite a large number of the parents and friends of the scholars. An interest-programme of exercises was gone through with, including historical and exhortational remarks by Bishops Rawlins, Phillips and others. A pleasing feature was the recitation in concert of the "Lord's Prayer" by a number of the smallest scholars of the Union school. The singing and order of the schools were very good.

The Twenty-fourth.

A week from tomorrow will be the forty-first anniversary of the entrance of the Pioneers into this valley. It is one of the chief events connected with the history of this community, and as a local occurrence it is pre-eminently important. The time will come when it will be recognized as one of the most significant circumstances connected with the history of this Republic. Its anniversary should not be passed over without recognition, if for no other purpose than to impress the young people with the fact that their fathers were led here by the hand of God to establish a great commonwealth, and that through their instrumentality this vast intermountain region was opened to settlement and civilization. We are more than gratified to learn that the officers of the Sunday School Union have taken up the matter of celebrating the day by a great gathering in the Tabernacle, beginning at ten o'clock in the morning. A suitable programme is in course of preparation. It is such a one as will do credit to the occasion. We may as well state here that we are requested to announce that the members of the general committee on celebration and the sub-committees are expected to meet at the store of John C. Cutler & Brother, East Temple Street, at 8 tomorrow evening.

Admission to the Tabernacle will be free to all.

Ratification at Provo.

When it is said that Utah County did her best last night to democratize, it need not be told that there was nothing shabby about it. After the parade of the brass bands and the bonfires on the street, the populace literally packed the parquette, dress and first circles of the Opera House, after which the Lehi brass band opened the proceedings with one of their most inspiring airs. Mr. J. S. Rawlins arrived and the meeting was called to order by Hon. S. R. Thurman, who nominated Judge Dusenberry as chairman. The Judge set the patriotism bubbling in a short opening speech.

J. L. Rawlins was introduced as the first speaker. His remarks were telling and patriotic and well punctuated with applause. Reviewing the origin and growth of the Democratic party, the speaker wrought up the feelings of his audience little by little, until when the red bandana came in for mention, and the record of Grover Cleveland was detailed in terms glowing with ardor and wreathed in flowerly eloquence, the enthusiasm fairly boiled over. Tariff revision, self-government by the Territories and statehood for Utah were subjects for special applause. "Hail Columbia" was played by the combined bands of Lehi and Provo.

Hon. Wm. H. King was next introduced and responded in a few well-chosen terms. His remarks were confined to the tariff question.

S. R. Thurman referred with stirring pride to the integrity and manhood of Grover Cleveland.

Dr. W. R. Pike in a few feeling words of sympathy for democracy, added another gem to the speechifying of the evening.

Wm. Creer, of Spanish Fork, endorsed the remarks of the preceding speakers.

Dr. Pike moved that it be the sense of the meeting that we ratify the nomination of Grover Cleveland and Allen G. Thurman by the St. Louis convention.

After a vote of thanks to the bands, Wm. H. Brown moved that the meeting adjourn to meet again to ratify the election of Cleveland and Thurman.

PROVO, Utah, July 15, 1888. A.

A TERRIBLE DEATH.

A Fifteen-Months' Old Boy Drinks Concentrated Lye.

Another of those heart-rending cases that have been altogether too frequent in this vicinity, occurred on Saturday afternoon, resulting in the death of the bright little son of George and Emma Everett, of the Sixteenth Ward, this city. A little girl had been scrubbing the floor, and in this labor had been using some concentrated lye. She had used all out of the box as she supposed and had rinsed it in the tub. About 2 p. m. she rinsed the box again, and refilling it with water, placed it on an article outside of the door. It had been there but a short time when Parley M. Everett, an infant not quite fifteen months old, came along and took a drink from the box. The small quantity of lye that had remained around the edges of the can had dissolved, and burned the poor child's mouth, throat and stomach.

Medical assistance was summoned, and as it was thought that possibly the deadly poison was not present in sufficient quantity to do serious injury, every effort was made to counteract its effects and relieve the child of its sufferings. But the terrible work had been accomplished, and between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after about 26 hours of fearful agony, the babe relinquished its hold upon life. It was born in this city April 21, 1887.

It is impossible to describe the terrible grief of Mr. and Mrs. Everett at the fate of their little one. The poor mother especially was fairly distracted.

An Indian's Ideas.

The Winnemucca (Nev.) Silver State contains the following from an Indian boy attending the Grand Junction Industrial School, in Colorado:

"I left Lovelocks last winter in the month of January, 17, 1888. On my way through Humboldt County and Lander County I saw quite a number of my friends. On the 18th, morning, I arrived at Ogden at seven o'clock, and changed cars for Grand Junction, Colorado. In about two hours I reached Salt Lade City. Salt Lake City is a nice place. After leaving Salt Lake City I saw a great many farms on each side of the railroad for 60 or 70 miles. At every house I saw big, stout, healthy-looking women, to each woman six or seven children, and I thought to myself salt water must be healthy for people in Utah.

On the 28th I arrived at Grand Junction, Colorado. Mr. J. B. Mooney and Henry E. Harris were at the depot to meet me. My first step at this Indian school was on Sunday morning. I found the Indian pupils all well and enjoying themselves. They look to me like civilized citizens—their hair cut short, their boots blacked; white shirts and stand-up collars. Two Indian boys were employed in the kitchen. The following are the names of the white employees; Mr. and Mrs. Mooney, teachers; Dr. J. J. Robertson, clerk; Mr. Florida, industrial teacher; Mrs. Florida, seamstress; Mr. Gannan, carpenter; Kate Richardson, laundress; Thos. H. Breen, superintendent.

The Indian boys are doing very well in their studies. Our pupils here don't seem to realize their education and treatment, but I am in great hopes that our pupils will come to the front some time. The people of Grand Junction think that our pupils are like dumb, driven cattle—they think we cannot learn. People of Grand Junction say they don't like to see Indians on the street, but still we march through their streets. We know this soil belongs to us, and we have a right to walk upon its face. We have American blood in every vein. I don't think people here are better than people in Nevada. I think the world of the people in Nevada; I uphold them. The people of Nevada brought me up to where I am standing. I thank them many times for their treatment. I say good bye to all my school friends in Nevada. I remain, yours truly,

JOSEPH BANKS.

The Southern States Mission.

Elder Wm. Spry, President of the Southern States Mission, returned to this city this morning after an absence of a couple of months looking after the interests of the mission, bringing with him a company of about thirty Saints from the South to Conejos County, Col. He reports the missionary work in the South as being in a fairly prosperous condition. A large force of Elders from Utah are now in that field, who are moving along quietly, introducing the Gospel to all who will listen to them, and in some portions of the mission are making good headway. No mobbing or other violence has been manifested towards the Elders of late, and the policy of the Elders is to cultivate the acquaintance and friendship of the more intelligent and influential classes, by which means they are enabled to make more rapid progress than they otherwise could. The mobbing which the Elders have received in the past in that region has usually been from the most ignorant and bigoted classes of people, though generally instigated by preachers whose antipathy is aroused by the success of the missionaries in making converts among their flocks, and who, as a consequence, imagine that their craft is in danger. The more intelligent people of the South are noted for their liberality of ideas and especially for their hospitality towards strangers, and the Elders who travel in that part without purse or scrip, as did the Apostles of old, are perhaps as well provided for as in any other part of the world. Elder Spry expects to return to Chattanooga, the headquarters of the mission, about the last of the present month.

He makes special mention of the good that is accomplished by sending copies of the NEWS to the south and commends the practice to all who have friends living in that region or who have a desire to assist the Elders in the work they are engaged in.

The Circus.

Sells Brothers' circus came into town today and located on Washington Square for two exhibitions, at 1 and 7 p. m. The usual parade was held at 10 a. m. and thousands of people lined the principal streets to see the lions, elephants, etc., and paraphernalia that attracts so much attention. At 1 p. m. the tent doors opened for auditors to view the menagerie, and an hour later the circus performance began. After the "grand entre" came the introduction of a pair of monster hippopotami male and female. The huge brutes attracted great attention as they were led around the ring. Then followed the "circus tricks" of the trained horses, mules and donkeys, feats of equestrianism, some fine pictures of ancient and modern statuary, athletic performances, Captain Bogardus in feats of markmanship, races, and other interesting proceedings. There was a fair audience this afternoon, and as many people were coming in from the surrounding country later in the day, it may be presumed that with the city patronage there will be a big crowd tonight. The performance begins promptly at 8. Admission 50 cents.

DEATHS.

EVERETT.—In Salt Lake City, July 15th, 1888, from effects of accidentally drinking lye water, Parley Monroe, infant son of George and Emma Everett. Funeral service at residence 231 N., 5th West Street, at 1 o'clock p. m. on Tuesday, July 17th. Friends of the family are invited.

THE EDITORS AT THE LAKE.

The Iowa Excursionists Entertained at Garfield.

At 5:40 p. m. last Saturday a Utah & Nevada train, bearing 120 members of the excursion party of the Iowa Press Association, and a large number of residents of this city, most of whom were formerly citizens of the Hawkeye State, started for Garfield. This bathing resort had been prepared for the reception of the guests in a splendid manner. Across the entrance to the stairway leading to the pavilion was a streamer bearing these words: "Welcome Iowa! The Affections of its People, like the Rivers of its Borders, Flow on to an Inseparable Union."

From 6:30 to 7:30 such of the excursionists as so desired, bathed. Judging by their expressions of pleasure the bathing in the bouyant waters was a delightful experience to the visitors. They lingered so long in the water as to necessitate a postponement for half an hour of the opening of the dining room doors for the grand banquet which had been prepared. By 8:10 o'clock the guests were seated at the tables, which were spread with an elegant collation, including Idanha mineral water, and champagne.

Just before the attack on the edibles was made President Swalm of the Iowa Press Association called the assembly to order, the guests being seated at the tables, and announced that the present was deemed a fitting time for the transaction of of the Iowa Press Association. A financial report was then read and the following officers were elected:

President—Al. Swalm, of Oskaloosa.

Vice-president—Byron Webster, of Marshalltown.

Secretary—C. M. Junkin, of Fairfield.

Treasurer—J. M. Brainard, of Boone.

Executive committee—Ralph Robinson, Newton; L. A. Marine, Vinton; E. M. Cas, Manchester; J. H. Duffers, Madison; J. H. Ragsdale, L. Mars; and the officers, ex-officio, are members of this committee.

This business transacted, grace was pronounced by Dr. Clarkson and the company proceeded to do justice to the banquet. When their appetites had been satisfied, Chairman Sells, of the reception committee, in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, whose guests the visitors were, in behalf of the committee, and of the excursionists, thanked Mr. Hoyt Sherman, manager of Garfield, for the reception which had been tendered to the tourists. In well chosen words he bade the latter a hearty welcome, and closed by introducing who made a brief but excellent speech of formal welcome to the visitors. He said: When asked where he is from, no honest man need be ashamed to say 'I am from Iowa.' I am proud of having been long a resident of that State. Though but a youth among the States, she furnished 80,000 men in the great struggle for the Union, and had equally glorious things to boast of in the pursuits of peace.

He then pictured, in glowing terms, the natural wealth and attractions of Utah, and praised the peaceful character of her innabitants.

Mr. Swalm, in behalf of the guests, made a neat speech in response to the address of Judge Benson, expressing surprise and gratitude at the reception they had been given in this city.

HON. LAFAYETTE YOUNG,

State Senator, and editor of the Atlantic Telegraph, then made an address of some length, characterized by a rich humor and rare eloquence. The speaker proved himself an orator, and a man capable of appreciating greatness and the higher qualities of manhood, even among men with whose views he differed widely. He expressed a keen gratitude for the hospitality which had been extended to the visitors, and a vivid appreciation of the attractions and advantages Utah now offers to the world.

He paid a glowing and eloquent tribute to the Pioneers who first ventured into this then far away and forbidding region, and hoped that, when there should come a solution of pending questions here, justice would come with it.

Mr. Young was frequently applauded, and his remarks were of a character to merit it.

MR. CLARKSON

then responded in a very happy and humorous manner to the toast "Iowa Editors." His remarks elicited much laughter and applause, and were interspersed with several entertaining anecdotes.

At the close of this speech Chairman Sells announced that the company might consider itself dismissed, when there was a rush for the pavilion, where dancing was indulged in by all who desired to participate therein. A few went in bathing, a pastime to which the shimmering moonlight on the water lent additional attractions.

The grounds and buildings were illuminated in a manner to present a grand and beautiful spectacle, and every phase of the reception tendered to the visitors at Garfield was a pronounced success. Hoyt Sherman, Esq., deserves great praise for all this. His exertions to make everything pleasant for everybody were strenuous and deserved the triumph which followed them. The last of the excursionists returned on a train which started for this city shortly before midnight, and yesterday afternoon the Iowa editors "went west."

Drowned.

On Saturday, July 7th, the usually quiet settlement of Oakley, Idaho, was thrown into a fever of excitement by the sad news of the accidental drowning of Frank Tuttle, son of N. R. Tuttle, of the Oakley mills, who, with some companions were bathing in Goose Creek, near the mill where the water was quite deep in places. Getting too far out into the deep water, and being unable to swim, he sank before aid could reach him. It was some time before the body was found and taken from its watery grave. Deceased was about nineteen years of age—just budding into manhood.—Albion Sentinel, July 12.

Simon Baker, a worthy young citizen of Teton, was drowned in Teton river, near the town of Teton a few days ago. He attempted to wade the stream and when near the center found himself being carried down the current. He called for help which was soon at hand, and the helping party threw him a willow, which he caught and held to for a while, but in the excitement lost his grasp and sank, rose once and then sank forever. The deceased was about 26 years old and married. He left a wife and one or two children.—Blackfoot News.

Powder Explosion.

An explosion occurred in Evanston, Wyoming, last Monday. Robert Addy was engaged in loading some cartridge shells in the shop of Beckwith & Lauder when fifty of the shells and a can containing 6¼ pounds of powder exploded. The partition and the window glass were all blown out, and pieces of tin, wire, tools, and in fact everything in the room was scattered promiscuously about, and the ceiling showed where the wad from the shells had struck, and also where the lid of the powder can had made a dent an eighth of an inch deep.

Mr. Addy was taken to Dr. Harrison's office, where his wounds were dressed and he was made as comfortable as circumstances would permit. His shirt was about half burned from his body, and his moustache was pretty badly scorched. His right arm and side were very badly burned, and his face filled with powder. Under the care of Dr. Harrison, he will probably be around again in two or three weeks.—Evanston Chieftain.

IN the Police Court today Charles Jacobson and James McGregor were fined $10 for drunkenness.

MRS. CLEVELAND.

WASHINGTON'S MOST EXCLUSIVE SET AGHAST AT HER INDEPENDENCE.

There is a section of Washington society, the sternly exclusive set, which affects to regard with disdain and aims to keep at a distance the new people whom the fortunes of political war are constantly sending to the front here. These severely select people assume the attitude toward the mixed official society of the capital which the vielle noblesse in France assumed toward the second empire crowd. Some years ago I heard an old dame of the exclusive circles say that she would not receive Gen. Grant into her house.

When Mrs. Cleveland became the rage, however, the "selects" in due time thawed out and smiled upon her, and in consideration of her beauty and brightness and general refinement they consented to overlook her accidency and newness and accept her as one of themselves. Of late, however, it is said, the "selects" have come to regret their generous treatment of the young woman, and it is probable will drop her. The trouble, it seems, arises from Mrs. Cleveland's continuing to receive as her guest and to treat as an intimate one, Miss Katherine Willard, a beautiful girl, who possesses a voice of wonderful sweetness, and who was a schoolmate of the mistress of the White House. When Miss Willard first came here last winter as the guest of Mrs. Cleveland she was received with wide opened arms by society of all grades, in consideration of her girlish beauty and her exquisite voice. Along towards spring society was shocked by the announcement that Miss Willard had accepted a position as instructress in a local young ladies' school. Of course, society people said they would be compelled to cease to know her, although it would cost them no little regret, as she was such a dear, sweet girl; and of course they thought Mrs. Cleveland would also cease to received Miss Willard. But, to their surprise, Mrs. Cleveland continues to associate with Miss Willard just as if the latter were not a working girl, and actually has her now as a guest at Oak View.

It has been a fearfully trying ordeal for the exclusives, but it is said they have set their faces, as firmly as is consistent with good form, and resolved that they owe it to their sacred exclusiveness, come what may, to drop Mrs. Cleveland as well as her working girl friend—Waterbury American.

TO

Gardeners and Farmers.

BUY NORTHERN-GROWN SEEDS. WE ARE THE PRODUCERS OF seed sold by us. They are the best in the world. They are the best for all climates. They are earlier, more hardy, vigorous and productive than those grown in lower altitudes. We keep a large stock of fresh seed and believe that we can give you satisfaction. We unhesitatingly affirm that no better seeds than those we deal in CAN BE PROCURED. Bestowing such assiduous care upon them, we feel justified in saying our seeds are UNSURPASSED in purity and quality. We do not pretend to be the "only house in the west selling NORTHERN-GROWN SEEDS," but we do claim that we have the very best seed to be had anywhere; and that has not been all over the country, for several years, in commission boxes, as we do not send out any commission boxes at all, as so many do. Ask your HOME MERCHANT for our Northern-grown Seeds. OUR PRICES are as low as reliable stocks can be sold at and afford a fair remuneration for the expense and labor attending the proper conduct of the seed business. We ask a trial order from all who have not used our seeds. Write for circulars. Address all correspondence to the UTAH NURSERY CO., General Western Agency, Salt Lake City, Utah.
