

THE EVENING NEWS.

UNPUBLISHED DAILY, SUNDAYS RECEIVED AT FOUR O'CLOCK.

Wednesday, Dec. 16.

DAVID O. CALDER,
Editor and Publisher.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

A MAN and his wife and child burned to death at New Britain, Ct.

Homicide at St. Louis.

Democratic mayor and lady school officers elected at Boston, Mass.

Another "Esquadrilla" title, this time New York, amount $100,000.

Extract from a Havana letter in telegraphic columns.

Testimonial to officers of the Tornado, the captor of the Virginia.

Democratic Senator from S. Carolina, Senator Thompson, president of the Senate.

Colored convention at Washington, the negroes want Congress to pass a civil rights bill.

The signature of the Governor of Alaska is reported.

Heavy blizzard of snow in the Kanab country.

United States Judge Delaney, of Kansas, resigns his position.

Secretary Belknap is to be married to-morrow.

Eponologia in the Senate and House of Representatives.

A Conservative elected to Parliament, at Exeter, England.

Letters from Prince Frederic Charles of Prussia, now at the Hague, continue.

Irving, the burglar, and self-accused murderer of Nathan, sentenced to Sing Sing.

British sailors ill of yellow fever on the voyage from the Gold Coast to Liverpool.

Numerous accidents including three killed on the Thames in London yesterday, on account of the fog. Another heavy fog to-day.

The Virginian to be delivered to the U. S. next Tuesday.

Gowdy indicted for assault ex-Senator Pennington.

A man frozen to death, near Fort Bridger, last night.

Thirty people killed in a railroad accident near Elginburgh, this morning.

JURIFIABLE HOMICIDE.

By very common consent certain crimes are considered of so vile a character that the injured punishment thereof is practically justified and in some instances applauded in inflicting summary and extreme chastisement therefor, as set forth in the following from a letter from a Macon correspondent to the Atlantic Herald—

It is impossible to convict a man before an American jury who kills the insulter of his wife. When a man offers such insults, especially in the South, almost every person I speak with says, "If he gets off he deserves it."

In the notorious case of Sickles and Key and Macfarland and Richardson the Northern people sanctioned the verdict of the jury of no guilty.

Then, later, in the shooting of Parish by Biggs in an Augusta hotel, Judge Lumpkin completely justified the act.

FEELINGHUYSEN AT IT AGAIN.

Mr. FeelinghuySEN was the man who introduced the new anti-Mormon bill to the Senate of the United States, Dec. 3. This new bill, it appears, has all the emendations, additions, etc., senatorially agreed to last session. The Washington Star thus reports the introduction of the new but not true bill, and other papers make substantially the same report—

After the motion

Mr. FeelinghuySEN introduced a bill, in the execution of the first article of the territory of Utah and for other purposes.

He said that U. S. would be considered that the President had sent in his message to Congress, saying, "The early and special attention of Congress is invited to the condition of affairs in Utah; and though the reference to the Mormon business is brief, it leaves no doubt of the President's desire for prompt and energetic interference against the peculiar institution."

It is to be apprehended that Senator FeelinghuySEN has but a very remote idea of the character of the clique whose tool he has thus been.

BY TELEGRAPH.

PER TELEGRAPH LINE.
To-Day's Dispatches.

EASTERN.

Insurance Co. in Trouble—Law suit—Sentenced.

New York, 10.—The Commonwealth Life Insurance Co. has decided to stop selling policies; policyholders have sued the company, and the company has sufficient funds to protect its present policy holders, and has made arrangements to transact its business, as far as possible.

A suit has just been begun in the Supreme Court by Morris Galliverty, plaintiff, against Drake Bros., brokers, to test the legality of the heavy interest charged by brokers on customers' balances.

L. L. Living, the self-accused Boston murderer, has been sentenced to seven years and six months in Sing Sing on a charge of burglary.

FIRE.

CINCINNATI, 10.—A fire at Springfield, O., last night, destroyed the depot four miles with the grain sheds, &c., loss not ascertained.

FOREIGN.

MORAY BRITAIN.

Yellow Fever.

London, 10.—The Yellow Fever has arrived at Liverpool from Cape Coast; thirteen of the cases died of yellow fever.

Another Fog—Innumerable Accidents.

London is again enveloped in a dense fog. There were numerous accidents yesterday in the streets of the city, and the hospitals are filled. On the river three persons were killed.

FRANCE.

French Revolution.

Paris, 10.—The French Revolution has been declared by the National Assembly. We have heard him represented as, with all his faults, the best of his race, which is an exceedingly poor argument for the set.

CANADIAN PACIFIC R. R.

It seems that many years shall have passed, when there will be two trans-continental railroads north of the U. S. and Canada. There can be little doubt that the Northern Pacific Railroad will be a fact yet, the northern extension, including the Montanas, the Washingtonians, and the Oregonians will not rest until they have an accomplished fact. Nor do we believe them. The Canadian Pacific also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The difference of the opinion of this city in their efforts to extend the extension of the railway that was contemplated at the Canadian Pacific settlements in Manitoba.

Opposed to the Canadian Pacific

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

A painful reader revealed here yesterday that Gen. De Trobriand, the chief of the staff of the Flotilla, having been shot in the open hand, was still alive, and that the men who captured him did not consider him dead, and supposed the bullet had passed through his body.

The Canadian Pacific, however, in their efforts to extend the extension of the railway that was contemplated at the Canadian Pacific settlements in Manitoba.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion. Mr. James W. Taylor, United States consul at Victoria, informs the St. Louis Advertiser, that the present Canadian government and the opposition are committed to the project of building a railway from Vancouver to Fort Garry, and thence westward to the Pacific, and that if it is accomplished.

The Canadian Pacific, however,

also, the western extension to believe, will be persistently pushed on to completion