FORECASTS TILL 6 P. M. SATUR-DAY.

Local forecast for Salt Lake City and vicinity:

Partly cloudy tonight; fair Saturday Forecast for Utah, made at Denver, Fair tonight and Saturday. WEATHER CONDITIONS.

One of the most remarkable storms ever shown on a weather map covers practically the entire United States this morning. Its center is over Lake Michigan and Chicago reports a barometer reading of 28:74 inches. It is probable that the barometer readings reached at stations in the upper Mis-sissippi valley and the upper lake regions are the lowest ever recorded by them. An area of moderately high pressure is coming in over the Call-fornia coast and promises clearing weathis vicinity by this evening. Precipitation has occurred over Wash ington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Ne-vada, northern Utah, the Missouri and Mississippi valleys. changes have been slight. Temperature L. H. MURDOCH.

COL. C. L. STEVENSON DEAD. Well, Known Irrigation Engineer Passes Away from Apoplexy.

An esteemed and long famillar figure ans disappeared from public view in this city, in the sudden and entirely unexpected death at 10.30 last night of Col. Charles L. Stevenson at the ma-ture age of 70. Apoplexy was the cause, although had not this been pos itively ascertained at the time of death, it might have been ascribed to inflamthis annoying and distressing trouble A note was received from him yesterday noon at the "News" office stating his wish for a personal to the effect that he was confined to his room with inflam-matory rheumatism, and also his regret at being unable to attend the sessions of the irrigation convention in which he was deeply interested and before which he was to speak. He was, however, hopeful of being out again shortly, and the idea that the hand of death

The decensed was born and reared in Boston, but for the last 20 years he has resided in this city. He was a skilled civil engineer by profession and ran lines for the Central Pacific many years ago, but has given most of his attention o irrigation, in which he was intensely interested, and he was accepted as an expert everywhere. But of late years rheumatism has prevented his doing much field work. Col. Stevenson derived his title from being on the staff of the governor of Massachusetts, and having served through the war in which he did his country excellent ser-vice. The deceased was of the most genial and kindly dim osition, and not-withstanding his severe and protracted affliction, never grumbled, and in fact never showed a complaining spirit: but was over cheerful even when suffering the most.
