FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

Ex-Mayor F. Little has gone East.

Read City Council minutes in another column.

President Wm. Budge came down from Bear Lake last night.

Presidents A. O. Smoot and H. H. Cluff came up from Provo this morning.

The latest news from Apostle C. C. Rich is that he continues to fail slowly.

Bishop John Sharp, accompanied by two daughters, left for the East last night.

As a country editor might say, we are having fine moonlight nights nowadays.

Bishop Thomas Taylor is in Utah County, in the interests of the Iron Manufacturing Company.

The City Council last night granted the franchise for the Second South Street cable tramway.

Vocal and instrumental concert by the Giles' Glee Club and orchestra, in the 19th Ward Assembly Rooms to-night.

The cutting of freight rates has so increased the traffic, that the local railway freight offices are flooded with business.

Francis Cope, Esq., general ticket agent of the Utah Central Railway, was an east-bound passenger on last evening's train.

An attractive entertainment will be given in the 10th Ward, for the benefit of the Sunday School, next Friday evening.

The offices of the Cable Tramway Company are at rooms 4, 5 and 6, Commerce Building, Second South and West Streets.

Miss Katie Putnam, with a full fledged dramatic company, at the Salt Lake Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

J. L. Dargin calls attention to his millinery goods, ribbons and laces, and invites the public to step in and examine, at 229 Main St., S.

Remember the Tenth Ward Sunday School entertainment to-morrow evening. An olio and a farce. Proceeds for prizes for the little ones.

See Professor Smyth's announcement in another column. A special call for a meeting at the City Hall on next Monday night, for all who wish to study the Tonic Sol-fa.

Jesse James, a colored boy, with a name darker than his complexion, is undergoing trial in the Police Court this afternoon, on a charge of burglary at the Cliff House.

To all appearances the convicts, Taylor and Davis, who escaped from the Penitentiary some time ago, have covered up their tracks pretty thoroughly, as nothing is yet reported concerning them.

The Baton is the title of a musical journal, the first number of which has just been issued by Daynes & Coalter. It is designed as a medium of professional intercourse, devoted to the interest of local music and musicians.

Mr. John Bergen, tailor, has set up in business for himself at 224 Main Street, S., where he will be pleased to see his old friends. Many have reason to remember Bergen in the past, and he guarantees equally good satisfaction in the future. See his special in another column.

The meeting of the railway magnates at Denver, brought forth nothing, seemingly, in relation to the future policy of the two rival roads now waging a war on freight matters. Another meeting, which it is hoped was more fruitful of results, was held, or at least was expected to be held, in Chicago to-day.

The New York News says that Miss Putnam's conception and acting alike are the result of a deeply intelligent study of Dickens' meaning, and it is so seldom we find the great Box's character adequately realized on the stage, that to say she succeeds is equivalent to declaring her a comedienne of remarkable ability.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Fore-warned, fore-armed.— We are informed that parties claiming to do business for the residents in adjacent counties, represent that by entrusting them with the cases, filings can be made before the plats reach the Land Office. Any persons claiming to be able to do this, are simply misleading the public. We understand no filings can be made until the plats are duly deposited.

Quick Work.—A committee was appointed in the Twelfth Ward last Sunday evening to supervise and effect the re-roofing and painting of the Ward meeting house. The work was commenced on Tuesday morning, and to day was half done. By the end of the week it is fully expected the job will be finished and paid for, and the committee will report accordingly at next Sunday night's meeting. The committee's names are as follows: J. A. Knight, John Druce, Edward Snelgrove, Joshua Midgley, T. V. Williams. Their energy and despatch are commendable.

In North Carolina.—Elder Chas. P. Ostler, of Nephi, who left on a mission to the Southern States, December 2nd, 1882, writes from Falkland, Pitt County, N. C., on the 29th ult. He had labored in the counties of Pitt and Edgecombe since arriving at his destination, first and mostly with Elder John Barlow, and afterwards with Elders Jenkins and Cook. They had held many meetings, and felt well in their labors, though no baptisms had taken place since Brother Ostler went there. Three of the six Saints living in those counties a year ago, had since emigrated to the West. The field was unfruitful thus far, and the climate unhealthful.

The Moan Coppy Indians.—Bros. C. L. Christensen and R. E. Sainsbury, accompanied by Senuniska, a prominent Indian among the Navajoes, in the vicinity of Moan Coppy, Arizona, made a pleasant call at this office Monday evening. The first named is a resident of that place, the second of Joseph, Sevier County. They came up to the city with Bishop A. L. Farnsworth, of Moan Coppy, who returned south Monday after spending the Sabbath in this city. The others will leave in a few days, and in the meantime are showing their Lamanite brother some of the sights in this locality. He is a very intelligent, mild mannered creature, evidently past his prime, and betrays much interest in all that he sees and hears. He was particularly edified by witnessing the various processes of printing, as he was being shown through this establishment, and seemed to understand, with but little explanation, some of the capabilities of the press. He said in his own language, interpreted by Brother Christensen, that it seemed as if everything could be done here.

Senuniska is a cousin to Palchinclanney, a counselor in the Navajo tribe, of whom there are about thirty families in the neighborhood of the settlement, as well as twenty families of Moquis Indians. They are all very peaceable, inclining fast to the industrious and temperate habits of the Latter-day Saints around them, and many of them are desirous of joining the Church. They are kind to their children, and according to their own testimony are becoming better through the influence of the Elders. They state that their present condition, with its advantages of peace and prosperity, is in strict fulfillment of what the gray-haired men of their nation predicted long, long ago. Brother Christensen says he has been blessed in his labors among them, thus far, having acquired two Indian languages very readily.

Surprise Party.—A pleasant gathering in the nature of a surprise party to Brother William Calton, leader of the First Ward choir, was held at the Ward meeting-house on Monday evening. It was really a genuine affair, not one of those so-called "surprises," in which the recipient would have been astonished if it had not taken place, but quite the reverse entirely. Brother Calton was about retiring for the night when Bishop Warburton entered the house and told him he was wanted elsewhere. His surprise and happiness were complete when he arrived at the meeting-house and saw so many smiling and friendly faces waiting to receive him. He was presented by Brother S. E. Allen, in behalf of the Ward choir, with three handsome pictures, one of the Prophet Joseph Smith, one of President Brigham Young, and the other of Bishop Edward Hunter. The gift as well as the party were expressions of esteem and appreciation of his faithful services as a choir leader and member of the Ward. Brother Calton responded in a neat little speech. Bishop Warburton made some excellent remarks, too long for publication here, after which a bounteous supper was partaken of and dancing filled up the remainder of the evening. We are indebted to Brother James D. Stirling for a well written report of the affair.

The Spanish Students.—In a city of such musical pretensions as this, and not only of pretensions but actual taste and culture, it seems strange that a paradox can exist such as that furnished for three consecutive nights, in the superior character of the concerts given at the Theatre and the comparative sparseness of the audiences attending them. It is possible that one of the reasons assigned in Sunday's Herald—that of local support to the traveling troupe, may have imbued the public with the idea that the Spanish Students thereby confessed their weakness and inefficiency, but surely the quality of the support, especially after one or two hearings, ought to have been enough to dispel any such prejudice in this instance. The solos of Professor Krouse and Miss Olsen, judging from the applause they have elicited, are almost if not fully as well appreciated as the rare renditions of the Spanish orcheatra itself. But it is needless to speculate upon the whys and wherefores, which after all may be past finding out. We can only repeat that is is somewhat surprising, in view of the well known love for music which prevails in this community, that entertainments of so fine and unusual a quality as these, have not been better patronized. The Spanish Students close their engagement to night.

Coming this Way.—Kate Castleton, the actress, with "For Goodness Sake, Don't Say I Told You," is heading this way. The New York Mirror says: Kate Castleton last week signed with Al. Hayman for a fifteen months' tour of the Western States and Australia. She continues with Rice until the 15th of next March, when she begins under her new management at Omaha. Thence she goes to 'Frisco and Oregon, playing at intermediate towns. In June she sails for Australia, opening there the following month. Melbourne, Sydney and Adelaide will be visited, and after that, New Zealand. On the way out, one performance is to be given in Honolulu.

Kate will appear in a new play and will be supported by a strong company. Agnes Hallock goes along, and possibly Jacques Kruger, with whom negotiations are now pending. James Allison conducts the tour in Australia, while Hayman goes along as manager. The latter deserves credit for his enterprise. While several people were trying to persuade Kate to go out under their auspices, he came on here from San Francisco and brought her to the signing of a contract with one interview."

CHRONOLOGICAL CALENDER

FOR THE WEEK COMMENCING NOV. 11th, 1883.

PREPARED BY ANDREW JENSON.

Sunday, Nov. 11th.

1561—Hans Tansen, noted reformer, died as bishop, in Ribe, Denmark.

Monday, 12th.

1035—Canute, the conqueror, (Kunden Store), died in Shaftesbury, England, about 40 years old.

1720—Peter Tordenskjold the renowned Danish marine commander, was killed in a duel with Col. Stahl, in Germany.

Tuesday, 13th.

1833—A grand meteoric shower took place in the United States, which cheered the banished Saints in Missouri and frightened their enemies.

Wednesday, 14th

1779—Adam G. Ohlenschlager, famous Danish poet, was born in Copenhagen; he died 1850.

1832—A terrible conflagration destroyed a large portion of the city of Boston, Mass.

Thursday, 15th.

1738—Sir Friedrich Wilhelm Herschel, renowned astronomer, was born in Hanover, Germany, he died 1822.

1838—President Jos. F. Smith was born in Far West, Missouri.

Friday, 16th.

1864—A fearful storm did much damage in Northern Utah.

Saturday, 17th.

1869—The Suez Canal was opened.

The Immigrants.—The latest news from the immigrants is that they are expected to reach Ogden at 8 o'clock to-night, and will in all probability not arrive in this city before to-morrow morning. They may be looked for at any time between half past 9 a.m. and 12 o'clock, noon.

Katie Putnam.—Miss Katie Putnam, supported by her own company, opens a three nights' engagement at the Theatre to-morrow evening. The following is from the New York Sunday Times:

Comparisons have been made between Lotta and Miss Katie Putnam, the star of the past week at Brooklyn Park Theatre, and Miss Putnam has borne off the honors as the dual heroine of the "Old Curiosity Shop." This charming actress displays rare intelligence in her conception of the Marchioness, and fairly loses her identity in its portrayal. In action she is sprightly, and her pathos is electric in its influence upon her auditors. It is pleasant to record that the people of Brooklyn have fully endorsed the enviable verdict recently pronounced by the press and public during her successful Olympic engagement.

Lydia Knight's History.—The latest publication issued in book form from the Juvenile Instructor office bears the above title. It is the first of a new series, similar in appearance to those already issued from the same source, and only differing in the subject selected for treatment. This difference is indicated by the title, it being the history of a woman, and a noble one, and what adds additional interest, is written by one of her own sex. "Homespun" is the author, a writer whose clever pen is already familiar to readers of the NEWS, and who, we are pleased to note, has branched out more extensively into literature, a field where evidently her destiny lies. The book is well written and very interesting. The heroine, Mrs. Knight, is a lady who joined the Church at an early day, passed through some of its most trying vicissitudes with upright spirit and undaunted heart, and still lives to testify of the mercies and blessings of the God of Israel in her behalf and that of His injured and down-trodden, but still hopeful and happy people. The perusal of her history, briefly recorded in this little volume of 102 pages, will be found well worth the reading. Price, 25cts.

Utah Gazetteer and Directory.—The prospectus of the Utah Gazetteer and Directory of Salt Lake, Ogden, Provo and Logan, a work now under preparation and designed to be issued about the first of February, is in circulation. The projectors are Messrs. R. W. Sloan and D. C. Dunbar. The prospectus says:

Besides a complete directory of the names of the inhabitants of Salt Lake, Ogden, Provo and Logan cities, it is proposed that whatever facts might be of value to those in any way interested in Utah, which are accessible, shall be found upon reference within this volume. Thus, a complete list of the Territorial and County officers will be printed, with date of election, term of office and comparative vote; a list of the Federal Officers for Utah Territory, from its organization up to date; Territorial postal facilities; population of the several cities and counties; the area of each county, with comparative table of assessed value of property in each for ten years, and a statement of the agricultural, mineral and manufacturing products of each; the date of organization of each county; a chronological history of events immediately affecting the Territory, whether transpiring in or out of its boundaries; the productiveness of the Territory in the aggregate divided into agricultural, mineral and manufacturing departments; exports and imports; a history of the mining and manufacturing pursuits, etc., etc. Also a sketch of railroad building; lines completed, where to, and lines projected; facts relating to secret and benevolent organizations; churches with membership; educational statistics; charitable institutions; places of amusement, of learning and of recreation, etc., etc.

SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.
