

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THEATRICAL.—The "White Slave," presented at the Theatre last night, elicited hearty tokens of applause. As a dramatic production, this piece possesses but little intrinsic merit; it abounds, however, with scenes and incidents of a highly sensational and heroic character, and is by no means lacking in the comic element. The locale of the incidents is one of the French West India islands, before the abolition of slavery. Monsieur Jacques Rebelle, Mr. Lindsay, a French aristocrat of the old regime, Madame, Mr. McIntosh, one of his slaves, and the special object of his hatred and ill-will, Edmore de Tourville, Miss Lockhart, the ward of Rebelle, and Julius Donatien, a white creole, personated by Mr. Hardie, are the principal characters in the piece, and sustained their respective roles with much ability.

Mr. Margetts, as Jack Whirligig, a pedler, Mr. Graham, as Bill Bull's Eye, a British soldier, and Mr. Thorn, as Aminadab Holdfast, a drunken Quaker, are indispensable accessories in the piece, and created considerable fun. Miss Platt played with spirit and vivacity the part of Jenny, a mulatto slave. "The Lost Child" was never played better here, the whole of the characters, both ladies and gentlemen, seemed to forget they were actors, and played with such excellent effect that the audience were sent home tired with laughing.

To-night the White Slave will be repeated, and will be preceded by the very laughable farce "Too much for Good Nature."

RETURNED.—We were pleased to see Elder John Brown, looking hearty and well, in our sanctuary this morning. He has just returned from a mission in the Southern States, where he has been laboring faithfully and energetically for the last two years. He left for his home at Pleasant Grove this morning.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.—We inadvertently omitted to mention that the long and very interesting account of the proceedings at the Promontory, on Monday, printed in the NEWS yesterday, was reprinted by Deseret Telegraph line; we gladly correct this omission, believing in rendering honor to whom honor is due.

DISTRICT COURT.—The District Court was in session this morning, and adjourned until to-morrow after admitting a few aliens to citizenship. The grand jury were in session this morning.

BRIGHAM CITY.—"A. C." writes flatteringly of the progress of music and the drama in Brigham City, and of the order and quiet which now prevail there. He says everything is as quiet as a continual Sabbath day.

CRASHOPPERS are abundant in some parts of Hot Elder County, and are doing some mischief to the wheat.

THE DEPARTURE OF THE MISSIONARIES.—We have been informed that it is the intention of a number of the missionaries who live in this city to leave for their fields of labor on or about the 20th inst. We have also learned that several belonging to the Weber, Morgan, and other companies, North, intend starting from Echo on the 21st inst. They have requested us to publish this notice, so that all wishing to accompany the party can do so.

DISTINGUISHED CALLERS.—We have been highly gratified at receiving calls from several "brethren of the quill," representatives of the press, East and West, at the celebration at Promontory on Monday. Amongst them were Mr. Foot, assistant editor of the Omaha Herald; Mr. Atwell, of the St. E. Morning Chronicle, known in the profession as "Billie" the Scribbler; Mr. Freeman, of the Frontier Phoenix; and Mr. O'Leary, of the Sacramento Bee; also Mr. Jones, assistant postmaster at Omaha.

These gentlemen all express their gratification and pleasure at their recent visit to the Promontory, and are charmed at the beautiful appearance of Salt Lake City. As they are men of acknowledged standing and talent in "newspaperdom," the public, east and west, will no doubt, shortly be gratified with the perusal of glowing accounts, from their facile pens, of the proceedings at the Promontory on Monday, and of their visits to Salt Lake and other cities in Utah.

VACCINATION: A SINGULAR CASE.—Brother George Waylett, of Millville, Cache County, sends us an account of the death of his son, John Samuel, aged five months and fourteen days. The child was vaccinated on the 25th ult., and was taken sick on the following day, suffering intensely until the 4th inst., when he died. Previous to vaccination he was a fine healthy child.

This is the first case of fatal consequences following vaccination that has ever come to our knowledge, and we are not at all of the opinion that death was the result of the injection of vaccine matter into the system of the child.

It is a very common thing abroad, where vaccination is commonly practiced, and where the matter is used indiscriminately, for healthy children to be inoculated with mercurial diseases; and it may be that cases of death have occurred under such circumstances. But, where the vaccine matter is pure, and is taken from the bodies of healthy subjects, the evidence of hundreds and thousands has been given of the highly beneficial and preservative effects of vaccination.

We are of the opinion that, in the case of Brother Waylett's child, the vaccine matter was impure, or, in its operation, it developed the germ of some hitherto latent disease, and so caused its death.

POLICE.—Mosley, the interesting young gentleman who shot his friend, Harry Evans, on Monday afternoon, was examined this morning, and held in $500 bonds to appear for trial at the June term of the Probate Court.

Edward E. Jones, for keeping Mosley concealed from the officers of the law, was also committed for trial at the Probate Court, and held in $100 bonds.

John Corbett, a would-be candidate for the honors of the "prize ring," was fined $5 for attempting to exercise that disreputable calling.

Walter Schofield, for stealing the iron rod from a wagon bed, and five small bolts, was fined $20. That should convert "Walter" to the "honesty is the best policy" doctrine.
