PROSELYTING IN THE SOUTH. Returned Missionaries Report their Labors. Of the eleven missionaries who reorned from the Southern States on well att Monday evening we have had calls from quite a number, who, agreeably with the usual custom, have reported their labors while abroad upon this their first mission. In the case of most of them it was their first absence from the Territory, too, having been born and reared in Utab. As a whole they were a fine looking and intelligent lot of young men and worthy representa-tives of the Church of which they are members and the doctrines they were east forth to expound sent forth to expound.

ELDER GEORGE J. WOODBURY, who was in charge of the company, re-sides in St. George when at home, and was only in his 23rd year when he went upon his mission, which was in Oct. 1883. On arriving in the South he was assigned to the West Tennessee Con-ference, which includes the Middle and Western counties, and labored for the first six months in company with Elder

County to attend a two-days' meeting. While there Elders Fuller and Wood-bury went to the nouse of a friend to stay over night, and about 11 p.m., after having retired to bed and fallen asleep, they were set upon by a mob of nine or ten armed men. The first the Elders knew of their presence they were rudely awakened by the mob who surrounded their bed, brandishing their weapons and ordered them to arise, dress themselves and accompany them to the woods. The brethren proceeded to obey, at the same time asking what they had done that they should be thus disturbed. The reply was "Nothing, ouly preached old Joe Smith's doc-trines," but they proposed to stop tham from doing that. The Elders having dressed, the mob started to take them out of the house, each being led by two men who held them by the arms while others preceded them. Just as Elder Fuller reached the door a gun was fired by one of the mobocrats out-side to frighten away a woman whom he saw approaching, and the men who held Elder Woodbury inside the room, startled at the report, loosed their hold, and he, quick as thought, sprang through an open window at the back of the room and fied to the woods.

The leader declared that rather than have the "Mormons" preach and baptize between Cypress and Shoal Creek he would die and go to hell, and afterwards learned to his chagrin that they had done both, and that too within half a mile of his house.

Elder Fuller returned to the house after his flogging and found Elder Woodbury there, he having previously returned from the woods, and they rested undisturbed the rest of the

Elder Bingham found many true friends in the south who would lay down their lives if necessary in the defense of the Elders, had great joy in his labers, saw the power of God made manifest upon many occasions in his own behalf as well as in the healing of the sick to whom the Elders adminis-tered, and returns home feeling thankful for the experience he has gained. wilfully and maliciously. Under the ruling of the United States Marshal, as we understand it from himself, the News is entirely excluded from the 55 Hooper and Eldredge pen., because it does not cower to the lash of a knavish ring, or bedaub with fulsome praise those who are deserv-

He found the people of that region exceedingly hos-pitable, and though they were gener-ally greatly prejudiced against the Latter-day Saints, would seldom refuse to entertain the Elders, though they would frequently decline to listen to anything concerning the Gos-pel. In a few instances after he had appar-ently made a favorable impression, his entertainers were so horrified on learn-ing that he was a "Mormon" Elder that they ref used to listen to or allow him to remain in their presence longer, but this did not often occur, as it generally happened that their prejudice was removed and their friendship gained instead. Many of the people of that region are densely ignorant as well as prejudiced in regard to the Saints, their doctrines and the country they inhabit, and Elder Bates was some-times asked who was king in Utah since Brigham Young died, and what large bodies of water intervened be-tween there and Utah, and in one in-stance he was asked whether Solomon

ELDER JOHN W. GAILEY, of Kaysville, started upon his mission oct 9, 1853, and labored in Mississippl and Alabama, chiefly in the former. He declares that the treatment he received while absent was so much better than he expected that he feels it would be unpleasant things he had to encounter. He made a great many warm friends in the South, was enabled to remove a great deal of strong prej-udice concerning the Saints, intro-duced the Gospel to a great many peo-ple, had much joy in his labors and never fauffered for want of food or pickings. He had the promise made in the bleasing which he received when he was set apart for his mission being the sheat in the south want for a place to sheep while away, and it was verified. He prizes the experience gained while absent, and returns full of teal and strengthened in his faith.

An Excellent Skating Exhibition. As Excellent Skating Exhibition. Keefe's rink was crowded last night, not only with skaters but many spec-tators, attracted by the announce-ment that Miss Tonie Barnau, "The Queen of the West," would give an exhibition of fancy skating. At 9 o'clock the floor was cleared, and im-mediately after the lady glided grace-tuly out upon its smooth surface. Miss Bernau is of medium height, well built, has a pleasant face and is as graceful as a swan. She wore a satin dress of old gold, trimmed with white point lace and two rows of black point lace across the front of the skirt: a black silk corsage, white lace at the throat. a black silk corsage, white lace at the throat. On her breast glittered the gold medals won on various occa-sions. It would be useless to try to describe the various evolutions gone through with. Every movement known to the ice skater was skillfully executed, and dancing, waitzing, bât-ancing on the toes, etc., all seemed to come as natural to the skater as walk-ing on level ground. Perhaps the prettiest thing of all was the "fire dance," in which sixteen lighted can-dles were placed in the form of a square, four candles in each row and no space more than a foot wide be-tween any of the lights. Among these lights Miss Tonie whirled, danced and balanced without coming in contact with the lights and to the great delight of the spectators.—Cheyenne Sun.. This famous artist will appear at the Pavilion for one week, commencing Monday, March 1st. night. Brother Cragun related a number of other interesting incidents connected with his labors, illustrating the friendship and kindness of which he was the recipi-ent, as iwell as persecution received, but we have not space to record them. One case of healing, among a number related, however, we will mention. A lady—a member of the Church—had one side of her body paralyzed and was also afflicted with a very painful swell-ing under her arm. The Eldors ad-ministered to her in the evening and the next morning she arose wholly re-stored to health. ELDER JOHN W. GAILEY,

A Bonne of Gomeness. "Goneness" is hard to define scien-tifically, yet you know what it is when it overcomes you. It is a compound of iassitude, debility and "the misera-bles:" flavored with a seasoning of "the blues." Now you know. To get rid of "goneness," take Brown's Iron Bitters, and be well and strong. Mr. J. M. Gentry, Hannibal, Mo., says, "I took Brown's Iron Bitters for pain in the back, loss of appetite, kidney dis-ease, with good results."

Indigestion and billousness are the most common of all human aliments. A natural flow of bills from the liver is essential to good health. When this is obstructed, the food does not digest properly, the blood—the very life of the body—becomes impure, and this leads to many and often serious result-ing disorders.
