TO THE MERCHANTS OF UTAH!

A. T. GREEN,

Successor to

JAMES LINFORTH,

Commission Merchant,

3 FRONT STREET, near Market,

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

MERCHANDISE and MACHINERY of all descriptions purchased or imported for UTAH TRADERS on the most favorable terms and at lowest current rates.

The near approach of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD to the principal business points in Utah, affords an opportunity to merchants to quickly and frequently replenish their stocks at any season of the year.

Many articles of general consumption, both of Foreign production and California manufacture, can be obtained at less cost from San Francisco than elsewhere.

California and Oregon-made Woolen Goods, Blankets, Cassimeres and Clothing, such as underwear and Hosiery, are superior to anything imported and intrinsically cheaper.

Respectfully soliciting a continuance of the business, as heretofore confided to Mr. Linforth, I beg to refer (by permission) to the following gentlemen.

GENERAL.

San Francisco.—Legal tenders 77.

Late Arizona advices say that the Indians in the neighborhood of Tucson had intercepted the mail coach and badly wounded the driver, who managed, however to escape with the mail. Two Mexicans were murdered by the savages within thirty miles of Tucson. The people of Prescott, finding the military unable to punish the Indians for murders and depredations committed, had organized a scouting party and started on the war path, determined to revenge the death of their friends. The risk of transportation from and to, and communication with, the outside world had had the effect to advance the prices of the necessities of life throughout the Territory. Flour at Prescott is twenty-seven dollars a hundred and other articles in proportion.

Chicago, 3.—The President hesitates to sign, and will probably veto the Tenure of Office bill, because of being so hastily passed and in such doubtful phraseology, that some members of Congress contest its interpretation, while jurists believe that it restores suspended officers.

Philadelphia.—Twitchell has made a confession to the Rev. Mr. Bringham; he declares that on the night of the murder his wife awoke him, stating that she had killed her mother in a quarrel. They both then went to the room in which she lay dead and threw the body out of the window. It is said that Mrs. Twitchell recently requested the exclusion of reporters from her husband until after the execution; she left the city this morning.

Knoxville.—The city is thronged with people to-day on the occasion of Andrew Johnson making a public address, to which about 5,000 listened. Johnson asked a fair examination of his record, and said he intended to devote the remainder of his life, as a private citizen, to the vindication of his official life and his native State from the obloquy cast upon them. He alluded to the recent obituaries of himself published in the papers, and said he might be regarded as one risen from the dead, and he thought one coming from the grave should be believed. He said there is great danger that the Legislative department will wipe out the Executive Judicial departments of the Government. He compared the acts of Congress to the acts of Great Britain to the colonies before the revolution, and said that a wise and good prince was infinitely better than an arbitrary and despotic Congress.

Noticing the accusation about being Moses, he asked if it was not he who freed the negroes in Tennessee. Freedom is only the liberty to work, and not to build a miserable lazzaroni to be supported by the Government.

He had never deceived either the white or black man. He told his hearers they were all the slaves of bondholders, who never shed a drop of blood, and he would to God that the Government had not had credit to borrow a dollar to carry on the war. "Thank God," said he, "my honors have not been gained through blood; wounded soldiers cannot attribute their wounds to me."

Johnson spoke about two hours, eliciting close attention; he was heartily applauded. In conversation he spoke freely of Grant as a bundle of prejudices and called his Cabinet a gift enterprise. The people were heartily glad to see Johnson, and they expect much from him.

Chicago.—The Republican's special says the Senate Finance Committee agreed, on the recommendation of Commissioner Delano, to strike the tobacco clause from the supplemental tax bill; also to extend the time of the payment of the tax on whisky in bond till June 1st. It is doubtful whether the House will agree to the latter proposition.

Washington.—The President, in response to a resolution, sent to the House yesterday a list of the vessels captured or destroyed by the rebel cruisers. The statement was made up from official claims filed by parties whose property was destroyed, and from other sources deemed reliable. The number of vessels given, with their names and value, amount to nearly three hundred in the aggregate; their value was upwards of $13,000,000.

Philadelphia.—A heavy robbery was committed at the St. John's Safety Fund building, to-day. The watchman left the building at six o'clock this morning, and returned at six o'clock to-night; he found the safe broken open and its entire contents, amounting to
