

yards, of an average area of 250x350 feet. Each yard is provided with a flowing well and will accommodate 200 head of cattle, making the entire feeding capacity of the yards about 2,000 head of cattle. These are the largest yards between Omaha and San Francisco. Intersecting the corrals is the track over which the beet pulp from the Sugar factory is hauled, and which extends 1,000 feet. On each side of this track are constructed mangers for the reception of the pulp and practically given about 2,000 feet of pulp mangers. On the north and south side of the corrals are constructed the sheds and hay mangers at which the cattle can feed. There are 4,000 feet of hay mangers. On the extreme south side of the yards is the dehorning corral. This is in the shape of a bellows and at the exit in the small end is fitted a patent gate. The animal is allowed to get its head through this gate when a lever is made to descend on its neck and it is held down in place until it is dehorned by means of a machine especially adapted to this purpose, then the animal is released and allowed to enter a corral especially reserved for the dehorned cattle. Mr. Austin, the foreman, explained of the 700 cattle there that when first brought into the yards they had to be starved for 48 hours before they would eat the beet pulp. Within that time every animal will be eating it with evident relish. After that they receive hay, but do not eat it very heartily. The immense pulp slices are between the factory and the stock yards.

TERRITORIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Cedar City, Iron County Record: Bob Mulliner reports that he has succeeded in getting an artesian well for Al. Thorley at Eight Mile Springs at a depth of 100 feet. We understand that a fine well-driving machine has been shipped to Cedar from Salt Lake, and that it will be used in this locality. We are glad to hear this.

Beaver Utopian: For some time past there has been a strong effort put forth to awaken an interest on the subject of irrigation. To this end a correspondence has been carried on between gentlemen in Salt Lake who have the matter in hand and prominent citizens in the various counties. This resulted in a general mass meeting being called here on Monday evening last, at which there were some fifty interested citizens in attendance. The meeting was called to order by Bp. Munford, who introduced Hon. J. R. Murdoch as chairman of the meeting. J. F. Tolton was elected secretary. The chairman then outlined the object of the move in the interest of irrigation which is intended to culminate in proper legislation on this subject by the next legislature. After some lengthy discussion it was decided to effect an organization for the furtherance of this object, and the following were duly elected: President, J. F. Tolton; vice-president, F. D. Farnsworth; secretary, D. M. Gillies; corresponding secretary, C. E. Murdoch; treasurer, D. Grimshaw. It was decided to hold regular meetings and charge a fee of 25c. for membership to defray expenses.

Manti Messenger: The young son of Peter Anderson of Gunnison had a runaway last Saturday. He was thrown from the wagon and had an arm broken. The boy was brought to this city and his injuries were attended to by Dr. Morrey. The 17th of this month was a sorrowful day for Mr. and Mrs. G. Gunderson of Mount Pleasant who have charge of the cream separator at Chester. Their year-old baby boy managed, accidentally, to get some strychnine articles from under the cupboard, placed there to destroy mice. In an hour and a half from the time the sweet little fellow showed the first symptoms, he breathed no more. The grief-stricken parents have the sympathy of every one in the settlement.

Tooele Transcript: While returning from the canyon last Friday evening Bishop Shields, of Lake View, was thrown from his horse and sustained quite severe injuries about the back. He is improving slowly and hopes to be out soon. Recently an option was secured by J. B. Waldeu, of Salt Lake City, on the four claims owned by Col. Wall, which are situated about one and a half miles south of the Submarine. On Tuesday Mr. Waldeu made his first payment and has arranged to do the preliminary work on the property at once. The South Bend, Gable End, Golden Circle and Golden Fleece form the group, and it is said that the apex of the vein is plainly discernable. Tom Phillips, more commonly known as Red Phillips, was brought down from Mercur on Wednesday by C. R. McBride. He was placed in the county jail, and will there await the action of the grand jury on a charge of committing an assault on Mr. Holly, the proprietor of the Mercur hotel.

Fillmore, Milford county Progress: About 4 p. m. Saturday last, Leffler Croft and his little chum, not aged about 12 years, returned from a hunt to Deereet, and tied their horse in front of a store and went in to buy some crackers and cheese to eat. When they came out, little (Barley) Dawson had their gun (a 22-calibre Winchester rifle) in his hand and pointing it at Leffler, said, "Is it loaded?" In response young Croft said "no," his chum had the cartridge; whereupon young Dawson pulled the gun off and shot young Croft. The doctor located the ball under the left scapula (shoulder blade) it having glanced down from the collar bone through the fleshy part of the arm. The wound was dressed and the boy was allowed to remain. The little fellow is doing nicely.

Tooele Transcript, November 2: On Tuesday Joseph W. Lee, a well known young man of Tooele, met with a serious accident at Bingham, by which his right hip was injured and he was otherwise bruised. Joe and Rob M. Lawrence were taking a trolley car, loaded with lumber, to the Lead mill, and it being top heavy, overturned with the above result. It appears that Rob and Joe both jumped when they saw the danger, but while the former managed to get clear of the board, the latter lit in a prospect hole to which lucky circumstance he probably owes his life. The hole was just deep enough for the lumber to catch him on the hip as he landed over the side, and so severely cracking the bone as to necessitate his being taken to St.

Mark's hospital in Salt Lake, where he is receiving every attention. Joe's many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Nepht Times: The Mt. Nebo Irrigation company is about completing the work in Salt Creek canyon, the dam and twenty miles of main canal having been finished last week. Nearly every mill in Sanpete valley has been running full capacity in order to supply the immense amount of lumber required and an army of teams have been busy hauling the lumber from this place to the works.

Tooele Transcript: John W. Tate, county registrar, Thursday heard the case of three challenged voters in this precinct. The men so ordered to appear are all Republicans, and they were disposed of in the following way: George Delthelm showed his naturalization papers, which were over ten years old, and he was dismissed. James Lynch had voted here before and had no other home, so was served the same way. Evidence was adduced in the case of J. Mac Smith, showing that he had paid his poll tax here, left his personal property here while on a tour of Southern Utah this summer, and fully intended making Tooele his home this winter; but the judge ruled him out. Attorney George L. Nye stated that he would at once appeal the case to the Utah Commission. About a week ago there were about fifty Goshute Indians camped on the outskirts of town on the west side, and the residents were treated to a genuine "Ghost Dance" every night. In the center of their camp they had a willow fence built in a circle, and each evening at dusk a huge fire was built in the middle of this circle. The old as well as the young bucks and squaws then formed in a ring around the fire, and then the scene was bewildering. Covered with their bright paint, and humming their peculiar chants they continued their reveries until daylight. At intervals some of them got tired and dizzy and fell out for a short rest, but were soon on their feet again and in the "ring" again as lively as ever. Every hour or so Chief Tabby of the tribe called them to order and then he would saw the air in a very impressive manner, and preached at some length to his people, who listened attentively. The chief is said to be an orator of no mean ability, but if he could have been understood by the people who visited the camp, that might better be determined. The Indians continuous tramping around the fire had made a trench in the ground, as though it had been dug with a spade.

Price, Carbon county, Advocate: It is stated that the Price Trading company and Salt Lake members of the Whittemore family have made a deal for the Morgan hotel property in Salt Lake City. It is not known what use will be made of the property which has proven a costly elephant to all previous owners.

Mt. Pleasant Pyramid: Last week, through an oversight, we neglected to mention a sad and distressing affair which happened at Chester on the 18th. The little baby of Gunner Gunderson, which was just beginning to creep, crawled up to the cupboard and got hold of a piece of bread contain-
