The winter palace stands on what may be termed the "back" land of the city of St. Petersburg and faces the great Neva river. Directly opposite the palace is a point of land which marks the junction of the great Neva with the Little Neva. On this point is the bourse, the custom house and other public buildings. The point is joined to the mainland near the winter palace by the Palace bridge. On an island on the other side of the point and commanding the winter palace is the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. It will thus be seen that the battery of artillery which fired the salute of the fortress, being stationed on the bourse square, was almost opposite the winter palace. The distance separating the square and the palace is estimated at about 500 yards.

STATEMENT BY POLICE.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 19.—The Associated Press publishes the following statement from the police at 5 o'clock this afternoon:

"With the second or third shot from the bourse battery on St. Isaac's island the interior of the winter palace was struck. The interior where the emperor was standing. The bullets had a very low velocity. The two which entered the chapel fell harmlessly to the floor. Several policemen about the chapel were struck. With the exception of one man named Romanoff, who was seriously wounded, they all escaped with contusions. An inquiry is being conducted by the grand Duke Sergius Michaelovitch, inspector general of artillery. It has not yet been established whether it was an accident or was due to premeditation."

From an authoritative source it appears that the distance of the existence of a plot arises from the fact that the shrapnel was distributed to the battery in anticipation of possible trouble with the fortress. The shrapnel was having reached the battery last night of a proposed attempt on the emperor's life today. Upon this fact rests the theory of a possible mistake made by a gunner.

"If this was a deliberate plot," said an officer especially charged with safeguarding the person of his majesty, "it was very ingenious. We have been prepared for an anarchist attempt in any form we could conceive, but an attempt to kill the emperor with one of his own guns under the guise of firing a salute was never dreamed of. It is a new departure, against a repetition of which we must take precaution. If the gunners of the emperor's picked guard can be enlisted in such a nefarious conspiracy serious possibilities are presented."

HOTEL MEN ORGANIZING.

Meeting This Afternoon to Discuss Articles of Incorporation.

The hotel men who are meeting this afternoon at the Knutsford hotel are considering articles of incorporation. The organization will be called the Salt Lake City Hotelmen's association. The object is to promote by united effort every interest that will advance the welfare of its members, to engage in social functions likely to create a sympathetic and friendly feeling that will lighten the burdens and hardships incident to the business. The annual meeting for the election of directors will be held on the second Thursday in January of each year. The two-thirds vote of the membership of the association shall be required to elect. The monthly meeting shall be held on the third Thursday in each month, and the membership fee is $10, with $10 per annum dues. Applications for membership shall be endorsed by two members, and a two-thirds vote will be necessary to elect.

It is believed that the hotel men are that with such an organization in existence, the influence of a gang of runners at the depot would be done away with, and in general concerted action taken along many lines that would be of advantage to all concerned.

STOP SUFFERING.

I Will Gladly Give You a Full Dollar's Worth of My Remedy to Test.

Nothing to deposit. Nothing to promise. The dollar bottle is free. Your druggist, on my order, will hand you a full dollar's worth and send me the bill.

No one else has ever tried so hard to remove every possible cause for doubt. In a slightly different community—more than a million—somebody's remedy is known. There are those all around you—your friends and neighbors, perhaps whose suffering has been relieved. There is not a physician anywhere who dares tell you I am wrong in the new medical principles which I apply. And for six solid years my remedy has stood the severest test of medicine ever put to it. I have said: "If it fails, I will not say it is a failure, but it has never failed where there was a possible chance for it to succeed."

But this mountain of evidence is of no avail to those who shut their eyes and close away in doubt. For doubt is harder to overcome than any other ailment. Those who lack the faith to try, do now I have made this offer. I disregard the evidence I have just given you. I tell you I am wrong in the new medical principles which I apply. And for six solid years my remedy has stood the severest test of medicine ever put to it. I have said: "If it fails, I will not say it is a failure, but it has never failed where there was a possible chance for it to succeed."

There is nothing new about this—nothing any physician would dispute. But it remained for Dr. Shoop to apply this knowledge—to put it into the hands of a doctor who would offer you a full dollar's worth free if there were any misrepresentation? Could I let you go to your druggist—where you know—and risk out any bottle he has on his shelves of my medicine were it not UNPROFITABLY sold? Would I apply my remedy if I could not afford to forward it to my every claim? Could I AFFORD to do this if I were not reasonably SURE that my medicine will help you? Write me today.

WAREHOUSE BURGLARIZED

Clothes Line Thieves at Work—Men Obtain Money Under False Pretenses.

The warehouse owned by the Hinta Mercantile company, was broken into by burglars last night. They gained entrance by breaking the lock off the rear door. The safe was unlocked, but the robbers pried open the inner door with a jimmy and got nothing for their pains. When the matter was reported to the police it was stated that nothing was missed and it is believed that the thieves did not steal anything.

Mrs. Lundstrom of 20 North Second street reported to the police this morning that her clothes line was robbed last night and several articles stolen. Mrs. Lundstrom does washing for a living and being extremely poor she feels the loss keenly. The police are trying to locate the thieves.

The attendance on the show is very large. The association ought to come out ahead.

FOR HEALTH AND HOME.

School Work in Hygiene and Domestic Science for Lady Students.

Miss Gertrude Tobison, secretary, reports that at the last meeting of the "Sennetts Society of Nurses," at the Latter-day Saints' university, an interesting and instructive lecture on food combinations was delivered by Mrs. J. T. Miller. The value of the different food groups was discussed. The most stress was laid upon the proper combination. Variety was shown to be essential, but not at one meal. Science as well as religion teaches that meat should be used sparingly. Other foods, such as the grains and nuts, furnish the same nourishment and are more easily digested. Proper preparation of food was discussed. The lecturer said that the regular class in nursing conducted by Mrs. Dr. Roberts.

Miss Rebecca Gustafson, a fourth-year student of the domestic science course, writes that it is interesting to note the progress in this work in the school. The class in household economics is making a careful study of Maria Parloa's Home Economics. They have had many practical lessons on the proper way of ventilating, sweeping and dusting, caring for the furniture, mending, cooking and brasses, dining room and table ware, washing windows and managing the kitchen with its utensils. Recently they have been washing, ironing, polishing floors and studying fuel and fire.

SENATE SEEKS TO WIPE OUT BOUNTY

Passed Law This Afternoon Repealing Premium on Wild Animal Pests.

HAS ONLY TWO EXCEPTIONS.

These Are Squirrels and Grasshoppers—Measure is the Outgrowth of A Former Bill.

Nothing contained in this act shall in any manner affect any right which may have accrued, any penalties which may have been incurred or any action or proceeding which may have been commenced and which is in violation of the provisions of the chapters hereby repealed.

The bill was submitted by Chairman Lawrence of the committee on agriculture, and was read twice and passed. It was accompanied by a recommendation that the bill be rejected and that this bill be passed.

Within five minutes after the introduction of the bill it was passed by the unanimous vote of the senate. The bill repeals the bounty law which was passed in 1892, and which provided for a bounty on the killing of squirrels and grasshoppers.

In explaining the measure, Senator Lawrence, chairman of the committee, said that the bounty law was a relic of a former bill, and that it was not in accordance with the provisions of the chapters hereby repealed.

running on the range through which the companies have a right of way. Mr. Thompson says that the bill is not to be kept but sold for all the damages for such losses, and he proposes to see if something can't be done in the way of legislation.

The statement by Director General Whitaker of the world's fair commission concerning the disposition of exhibits at the exposition, is expected to be not able to reconcile the commission's latest declaration with that made by him at a meeting of the commission held Dec. 30, 1904, when he reported that all the exhibits that were not to be kept but sold for all the damages for such losses, and he proposes to see if something can't be done in the way of legislation.

The disaffection in the ranks of the legislators concerning committee appointments, the governor's silence on highways and bridges and the attitude of the Salt Lake and Weber delegations towards their country colleagues, is not so widespread as at first appeared. It is true that the so-called "Alfalfa" met at the Wilson hotel the other night. It is also true that the matters referred to were discussed, but from the discussion it developed, it seems that but one member was seriously aggrieved, and he was the gentleman who called the house bills No. 2, making mines and net proceeds taxable; 16, prohibiting the use of powder in coal and hydrocarbon mines; 28, prohibiting the use of powder in mines; 29, an act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about metalliferous mines.

CHILDREN HELD FOR BOARD BILL.

Court to Determine Whether Human Beings Can Be Held as Debt Guarantees.

Mother Dead and Father Wants Them. Bid People Who Have Cared For Them Want Claims Paid.

PREDICAMENT OF TWIN BOYS.

A legal battle is in progress this afternoon before Judge Armstrong over the possession of the twin sons of P. L. Osner, who now resides in Butte. After his wife's death about two years ago Mr. Osner decided to go to Montana, and he left the boys with R. E. Ross and wife, who reside at 521 east Fourth South street, to be cared for. Mr. and Mrs. Ross refused to give up the children unless their father pays for their board during the time they have been at the Ross home, hence habeas corpus proceedings have been instituted by Mrs. Leary, as sister of Osner's wife, who was instructed by him to get the children and bring them to him.

The boys are three years old and their names are Basil and Cecil Osner. When Mrs. Leary called upon Mrs. Ross and requested the possession of the children, she was informed that she could not have them until Mr. Osner paid for their board. Mrs. Leary then consulted with County Attorney Christensen and he advised her to go to the county attorney. County Attorney Christensen advised her that no criminal action would lie in the matter and suggested that habeas corpus proceedings be instituted. The woman then consulted Attorney James Ingebreisen and authorized him to file a petition for writ of habeas corpus. The petition was filed and the writ was issued by Judge Armstrong and was made returnable this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

At that hour the matter was continued upon request of Mr. Ross's attorney until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

MUST GIVE UP CHILDREN.

Armstrong granted the writ of habeas corpus, and instructed Mr. and Mrs. Ross to turn over to Mrs. Leary the two children, Cecil and Basil. No defense interposed by Mr. Ross, but it was stated by his attorney, A. A. Duncan, that he had a contract with the father of the children to keep them and care for them for $25 a month and the action was dismissed. The action was continued upon request of Mr. Ross's attorney until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.
