FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

More snow fell during the night. Blowing meeting at half-past six o'clock to-night.

Two drunks and disorderlies were fined $10 each this morning.

Put up your home numbers. See Marshall Phillips' notice, elsewhere.

Wm. Derr's benefit on Monday next. "Cornell" the piece to be played.

"The Bells," by Mr. John R. Lindsay and company, at the Theatre on Saturday night.

A saloon keeper, for selling liquor on Sunday, paid $50 into the City Treasury this afternoon.

The Utah Central Coal Company are prepared to furnish Pleasant Valley coal in any quantities.

Don't forget the Boston Operatic Minstrels, at the Salt Lake Theatre during the Thanksgiving holidays.

The residents of some localities of the city have not yet been notified in relation to the numbers of their premises.

The shipment of beef from the Yellowstone Valley has averaged 75 car loads per day for the past six weeks, and the railroad company are taxed to their utmost to furnish cars to supply the increasing demand.

H. E. Giles announces to the public, in our special columns that the Utah Central Railway is furnishing him with plenty of Pleasant Valley coal. Send in your orders, by telephone, to the 15th Ward Co-op Store and have them filled with promptness.

In noticing the sun-tinting on the sky on Tuesday morning, the News says it "loomed up into the heavens for about 100 feet." Our measure must mean it 101 feet 24 inches. You might as well be exact while you are about it.—Herald.

The Herald man no doubt measured it with his own feet. We are not responsible for the increase.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

High Council.—The members of the High Council are requested to meet in the Social Hall, on Friday evening, November 23d, at 7 o'clock.

WILLIAM W. TAYLOR, Clerk.

Through Morgan and Summit.—Brother C. H. Bliss started on this morning on a tour through Morgan and Summit Counties, representing the Juvenile Instructor and canvassing for the various publications issued at that office. He also goes as a missionary in the Sunday school cause.

Up From the South.—This afternoon we received a pleasant call from Hon. W. Fotheringham, of Beaver, and Judge John M. McFarlane, of St. George. The latter gentleman is in town on land business, and will probably remain a week or two.

Purchasing Wheat.—A good chance is presented at Armstrong & Co's, mill, North Temple Street, for farmers and others wishing to dispose of wheat in any quantity, great or small. An advertisement states that the highest cash price is paid. The mill also has flour for sale, at wholesale and retail.

The Roman Rye.—The last performance of this successful play will be given at the Walker Opera House, beginning next Tuesday evening and continuing for four nights and Thanksgiving matinee. A special feature of the matinee on Thursday afternoon will be the prices, which will be reduced to 25 cents and 50 cents. The stage of the Opera House has been magnificently enlarged, the house itself beautifully decorated and vastly improved. The sale of seats, which begins on Saturday morning at the Opera House, will very likely be the largest of the season. "The Roman Rye," with all its great "pictures," will be given to perfection on these occasions.

Death, Sickness and Accident.—Miss Belle Glazier, a young woman of Provo, died on Monday morning, the 19th inst., of rheumatism and heart disease. She would have been 17 years of age in another week. The same parents lost a boy nine years old, last spring, and they now have another daughter, aged 13, afflicted with the same disease, and are without hope of her recovery. At the funeral of the young lady who died on Monday, as the carriages were returning from the grave, Mrs. Wm. Dunn was thrown from a buggy, by its suddenly turning a corner, and run over. Her back was severely hurt, but it is hoped no serious injury will result.

Married.—This morning another happy union took place in the marriage of Mr. Thomas A. Williams and Miss Susan Winder, a worthy and interesting young couple, well known as residents of the Twelfth Ward in this city. The ceremony which made them one was performed by President Joseph F. Smith. A reception will be held at the residence of the bride's parents this evening, at which the relatives and many friends of them will assemble to pay them their respects. The young people are members of two of the best known and respected families in the city. The groom being the son of T. V. Williams, Esq., and the bride the daughter of Col. John R. Winder. They are in every way worthy of each other and the many heartfelt congratulations of which they are now the recipients. None join more heartily than the News, in wishing them every righteous desire of their hearts.

ANOTHER UTAH ARTIST.

THE REAL "ROMAN OF A POOR YOUNG MAN."

A young Utah boy, by the name of G. H. Jack, is in New York City, a member of the Art Students League, whose headquarters are at Benedict's Buildings. He left home several years since, poor and penniless, with nothing but his talent and the ambition to become an artist, having up to that time studied but little in that or any other direction.

His first effort with the brush was upon the picket fence of four fellow townsmen, Mr. James Dwyer, by whom he was employed to whitewash the palings on his premises, and who told, after the job was finished, that he never would make an artist, for he could not even whitewash a fence properly.

Nothing daunted by this discouraging prophecy, the young aspirant, with the unquenchable fire of enterprise burning under his ragged waistcoat, made his way with extreme difficulty to the home of his uncle in Connecticut, where he studied at odd times, during intervals of labor, landscape and other kinds of drawing.

Two years ago he went up to New York, and was admitted to his medals as a promising student, into the drawing class at the Cooper Institute, the drawing which admitted him being a crayon sketch of the head of a cat, considered a very commendable piece of work. He occupied himself daytimes in painting telegraph poles and doing odd jobs of like character, and devoted his evenings to study. He now has a studio at Benedict's Buildings, associated with another member of his class, and as before stated, is also connected with the Art Students League.

He was at first considered dull, but his indomitable perseverance, added to the latent force of his ability, was resolved and still seems determined to surmount every obstacle to success. He is at present engaged, with two others, on a choice piece of work in the form of an embossed decoration, of a late patent, for one of the halls of the new palace of Mr. Henry Villard, President of the Northern Pacific Railway. This building, which is said to be the most costly dwelling-house in America, covers an area of an entire block, and is considered to be the only structure of its kind in this country, worthy of the name of palace.

Brother James H. Hart, our informant, has visited Mr. Jack several times at his studio and other places, and speaks in praise of the sketches in his portfolio. Hon. George Q. Cannon has also met him and given words of encouragement to him in the prosecution of his labors. A few Sun days ago he was invited by Hon. John W. Young, to dine with him and Brother Cannon at the Everett House.

Mr. James Dwyer has also come across the young artist in the East, and never fails whenever the subject is brought up, to express with characteristic gusto and good feeling, his pride and amazement at the young student's progress, and laughingly allude to him as his "early pupil, don't you know?" Mr. Jack is a native of England, but his Utah home is in Sanpete.

Arrival of Carp.—The United States Fish Commissioner's car, with carp for distribution in the Western States and Territories, arrived at the Utah Central depot from Ogden at 10 o'clock this morning. Mr. J. F. Ellis, the commissioner in charge, was met at Ogden yesterday by A. M. Musser, Esq., who is superintending the local distribution, and by him a News representative was introduced to Mr. Ellis, from whom the following facts were elicited:

The car left Washington on the night of Tuesday, the 13th inst, and distributions have been made at various points from Omaha as far west as Ogden. The fish are raised under the direction of the U. S. Commission on Monument Lake, in the vicinity of the White House, at the national capital. The present shipment are in 24's from one to six inches in length, and are carried in small tin buckets, the lids of which are punctured with air holes, and the water in them changed from time to time, according to temperature.

The buckets contain twenty carp or more, each applicant receiving one of the buckets, which are kept in tank on each side of the interior of the car. It is nicely fitted up and has conveniences for cooking, etc., for those who travel with it.

At Omaha forty-one applicants were supplied, and in addition thereto, 1,800 fish were left with the Nebraska State Commission for distribution. At Cheyenne only seven applications were made, but 500 extra fish were left for Wyoming Territory. At Ogden, shipments were made as follows: To Carson City, for Nevada, 2,100; to Idaho, seven lots or buckets, and to Montana three.

Utah had in all 57 applicants, 19 of whom were supplied at Ogden, and the rest at Salt Lake City. Besides these, 500 extras will be left with the local management. The car goes from here to Denver, Col., where there are 20 applicants, besides 1,000 extras to be left. At Topeka, Kansas, there are 338 applicants, which, multiplied by 20, gives the approximate number of fish to be left there for distribution throughout the State. The car leaves for the East to-morrow.

Woman's Exponent.—The latest issue of this valuable paper contains: Life's Summer in Waning, M. A. F.; Political Ostracism, Ruth; Physical Culture, S. G. B.; Last Chapter of Scenes in Navoo, H. M. Whitney; Phil May by the Harp, M. J. Tanner; Correspondence, Wm. East and Lucinda Gustafson; Woman's Voice, N. M. Tracy; Moral Courage, Constantine Wildwood; What They Say, Ed. A paper worth reading.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

RELATED BY ELDER JAMES H. HART.

Elder Angus McKay, of Huntsville, who labored eleven months in the Southern States mission, called from New York on the S. S. Wisconsin, November 13th, in company with Elders Smoot and Boschard, intending to finish his mission in his native Scotland. While in Elder Hart's office at New York, he related the following incident concerning Elder Chas. E. Robison, who died at King's Mountain, S. C., on the 26th of last August.

About two months prior to his death, Brother Robison had a dream in which his uncle, Counselor D. H. Wells, appeared to him and said, addressing him familiarly by name, "Charlie, you must hurry up, you have only half an hour left." He afterwards related it to the Elders with whom he was associated, at a conference held in July, a little over a month before he died. Some of them supposed at the time that it indicated their being driven out of the State, but Brother Robison, himself, as soon as he was taken sick, accepted it as a premonition of his end. He never expressed any hope afterwards of living, except to remark that nothing but the power of God could save him.

Elder Hart also relates the following: Mrs. Mary Gordon, a member of the Church living at King's Mountain, the place where Elder Robison died, a month afterwards had a dream in which her father (whose name was Harkness, and who died soon after the civil war, in which he took part,) came to her and said that Brother Robison (then dead) had been to see him and convinced him of the truth of the Gospel. He further declared that his daughter (Mrs. Gordon) had embraced the true Church, and that he depended upon her for his Temple work to be done, as his son, who then lived in Colorado, had apostatized, after joining the Church and emigrating to that State. Mrs. Gordon afterwards learned, although her dream was the first intimation she had had of it, that such was really the case, that her brother had fallen away from the faith.

Another item from the same source. Elder Hart received a letter from President Taylor, last August, in relation to a gentleman named Charles Bartlett, of Syracuse, N. Y., who had written to the President, making inquiries about the religion of the Latter-day Saints. Agreeable to President Taylor's instructions, Bro. Hart, who was then in New York, visited Mr. Bartlett and on the 5th of last October baptized him. He related to Bro. Hart the following: Five years ago that month, he and his wife were on board a Gulf Steamship, going to England, having sold out their property in Kansas and intending never to return. On the vessel were a number of "Mormon" Elders, bound for the European Mission, and with these he engaged in frequent conversations while on the passage. He became very much interested in their religion, but his wife was quite the reverse. One day, while talking on deck to a Scandinavian or German Elder, the latter put his hand on his shoulder and said, "There's no use of your going to England; you will have to return again. You will become a Latter-day Saint and gather to the bosom of the Church." Mrs. Bartlett repudiated the idea, with the remark that the Elder was "certainly mistaken for once," as she would never go back to America.

Times passed and she died in England. Her husband, after a three years' stay abroad, returned to America and lived for some time in Canada, but finally moved to Syracuse, New York. He was a strict temperance man, a member of the Congregationalist Church and a Sabbath school teacher. But his mind was in a restless condition, thinking more or less of what the "Mormon" Elder had told him, and finally he wrote to President Taylor, at Salt Lake City, with the results stated. He intends coming to Utah as soon as possible.
