

U. S. Senate Passes a Joint Resolution for That Special Purpose.

TO BE BEGUN IMMEDIATELY.

To be Conducted by Interstate Commerce Commission and to be Thorough.

Washington, Feb. 12 .- The joint resolution passed by the senate today for the investigation of railroads is as follows

Whereas, Persons engaged or wishing to engage in mining and shipping bituminous coal and other products from one state of the United States to other states of the United States complain that they are treated unjustly by common carriers engaged in interstate carriage, in that they, being independent shippers, without influence with and in whose business common carriers or their officers have no interest, are unjustly discriminated against, and undue preference is given to other persons in whose business the officers of common carriers are interested, or in traific in which the common carrier is interest-ed, either directly or indirectly, and. Whereas, It is further alleged that the bituminous coal and other traffic above referred to is controlled by a com-bination of common carriers by mean bination of common carriers by means of stock ewners, ship or other instru-mentalities directly or indirectly, thus creating a monopoly in restraint of trade; therefore, be it Resoled. By the senate, the house of

assembled, that the interstate commerce commission be authorized and instruct-ed to immediately inquire, investigate and report to Congress from time to time as the investigation proceeds: First-Whether any common carriers by railroad, subject to the interstate commerce act, they or any of them, own or have any interest in, by means of stock ownership or other corporations or otherwise, any of the coal or other or otherwise, any of the coal or other products which they or any of them, directly or through other companies which they control or in which they have an interest, carry over their or any of their lines as common carriers,

Second-Whether the officers of any of the carriers aforesaid or any of them or any person or persons, or any of them, charged with the duty of dis-tributing cars or furnishing facilities to shippers are interested, either directly or indirectly, by means of stock own-ership or otherwise, in corporations or companies owning, operating, leasing or otherwise interested in any coal mines, coal properties or any other traffic over the raffroads with which they or any of them are connected or by which they or any of them are employed. Third—Whether there is any contract, combination in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce among the several states, in which any common carrier states, in which any common carrier engaged in the transportation of bitu-minous coal or other products is inter-ested, or to which it is a party; and whether any such common carrier me-nopolizes or attempts to monopolize or combines or conspires with any other carrier, company or companies, person or persons to monopolize the trade or commerce in bituminous coal or other traffic among the several states, or with foreign rations, and whether or not, and if so to what extent such carriers or any of them limit and control direct-by or indirectly the output of coal mines or the price of coal.

He declined to argue the question of protection versus free the question of protection versus free trade, but maintained that the policy he has hitherto advocated is altogether apart from the controversy. Mr. Exi-four said his policy was designed, so far as might be, to diminish the burden on British industries which is due to the tariffs other industrial countries have imposed. In countries where hos-tile tariffs did not exist it was the inhave imposed. In countries where hos-tile tariffs did not exist it was the in-tention to preserve neutral markets and at the same time preserve the in-terests of the British colonies on an equal footing. It was, he said, a policy intended to maintain an increased for-eign market for British manufacturers. Mr. Balfour said the sentiment fav-oring his policy was not decreasing, but increasing, and unless it were carried out he believed as the world became more and more industrialized and as civilized nations brought more and more the weaker nations under con-trol, the question of markets for Great Britain would assume proportions which could not be ignored. The world saw great nations using not only diplo-matic, but their whole military and na-val force in order to push their commerce. To fight for British markets might again be inevitable, but fight-ing is a barbarous method where negoing is a barbarous method where nego-tiation might succeed, and negotiation never could succeed unless it was backed by some power of dealing with a country with whom we might be ne-gotiating if the latter asked extrava-gant or impossible terms. REPORT ON TITLE TO THE ISLE OF PINES.

Washington, Feb. 12 .- The senate in executive session today made public the majority and minority reports from the committee on foreign relation the committee on foreign relations of the treaty giving Cuba the title of the Isle of Pines. The majority views sub-stantially as given in the majority re-port have already been published. The minority report, which is signed by Senators Moragn and W. A. Clark, up-holds the contentions of Americans who have invested in the island, that they were warranted in doing so by the len were warranted in doing so by the lan-guage of the Platt amendment and the guage of the Platt amendment and the Cuban constituion, as well as early an-nouncemes made by Assistant Secre-tary of War Melkeeljohn that the title was vested in the United States by the treaty of Parls. The minority report adds that if the island is turned over to Cuba it will be unsafe to leave Ameri-cans there, for if they were maltreated this government would be compelled to protect them. It is stated that from the hour this government again sends the hour this government again sends soldiers to Cuba the destiny of that re-public would be that of Ireland or Egypt and the republic would disappear, Senator Morgan, who drafted the report, contends that the adjustment of title in fact amounts to a sale, which Congress alone is empowered to make. In that respect the report says: "The treaty now under consideration has become a proceeding against our own people in a more pronounced sense than it can be regarded as a means of doing justice to Cuba, and in the changed conditions that have so rapidly changed conditions that have so rapidly occurred and to meet new conditions that are extremely difficult and embar-rassing. if not dangerous to all con-cerned, it is safer, wiser and more just to submit our present difference with Cuba to arbitration. It is still better that Congress should settle the question of title by law and make provision for taking proper care of the people and the interests of both governments, whether we retain the title or concede it to Cuba. 2The Platt amendment is whether we retain the title or concede-it to Cuba. 2The Platt amendment is not broad enough to cover the political situation, and the treaty making power cannot make it broader without the ac-tion of Congress.
