NOTABLE UTAH WOMEN.

MARY OLIVE GRAY.

Miss Mary Olive Gray, the subject of this sketch, has become widely and popularly known in Salt Lake musical circles, her talent as a pianist and proficiency as a teacher of piano playing, having brought her into prominent notice during her residence in the city, which has been for a period of four years. Miss Gray was born in Atchison, Kansas, and at a very early age evinced a marked inclination for music. Her practical training commenced at the age of eleven, under the best teachers in the locality and at seventeen she went to Boston and continued her musical studies at the New England Conservatory of Music, her teachers being such well known artists as Prof. Klahre, a pupil of Liszt, Prof. Percy Goetschowsky, Louis Elson, Rheinhold, Faetion and Samuel Cole, each of whom gave flattering testimonials of the ability of their pupil who was one of the youngest graduates of her class. One of the tributes paid to her standing, while at the conservatory, was her choice as vice president of her class during both the junior and senior years, and her active participation in the public recitals given at the conservatory and many outside musicals given in Boston, and other places, under the auspices of the conservatory. After her graduation she gave a number of piano recitals in Colorado and Montana and during the term of 1895 and 1896 occupied the chair of music at the State University in Missoula, Mont. In the latter year she decided to make Salt Lake her home, and during her four years' residence here has been steadily gaining in favor and prominence, her proficiency as a teacher having brought her a large list of pupils and her personal talent as a pianist making her renditions a favorite feature of both public and private musical events in the city. Her first public musical recital was given some two years ago and with others, which have followed, furnished convincing testimony of the excellent methods employed by the artist as well as the individual talent which combines to make her a thorough mistress of her art. Aside from her private musical activities Miss Gray occupies the chair of music at the Salt Lake College of this city, at which institution a number of pupils' recitals have been under her direction.

AT BRIGHTON.

July 13, 1900.—We can tell from the condition of the weather up here, how the thermometer must have kept you dancing down there. It has been quite warm every day, but fires at nightfall still remain the rule.

It is now definitely settled that the big hotel will not be opened this season. James H. May, who represents the owners, returned to the city during the week, and gave it out that the arrangements for a tenant had fallen through. This means that the hotel cottages will be "gobbled up" by people who will bring their own furniture.

Rulon S. Wells and family have rented the Staten cottage and are expected up Saturday to occupy it.

Spencer Clawson, Mrs. Nettie Easton, Mrs. Eva Y. Davis and Geo. D. Pyper are looked for tomorrow.

Deputy Sheriff Rob Brighton lives here and his presence exercises a restraining influence on the herdsmen who cross the hills with their sheep. Few of them are seen in the locality of Brighton this year.

AT WASATCH.

Wasatch, July 14.—This week at Wasatch has been one of real rest. Few parties have been given and no dancing has been indulged in, though there was a merry hop here last Saturday night. It was participated in by almost everyone in the camp and was, all things considered, a very pleasant affair. The prime mover in dances here has, for years past, been Mr. Russell L. Tracy of Salt Lake, who will go down in his pockets for music money, forego any other engagement he has on hand, or doing anything necessary to arrange for one of the mountain balls that has helped to make Wasatch so popular. Mr. Tracy, however, is not here this week, he and his wife having returned home, and the latter having reluctantly gone East to spend the summer. The ball here Saturday night was a novel one indeed, the music being the first of the kind ever heard here. It was produced by Mr. John Silver's grand piano, which would have attracted a provision platform in the west end of the hall. While this wonderful instrument did not fill the bill as well as Christensen's orchestra would have done, it nevertheless sufficed for the occasion, and gave young, middle-aged and old an opportunity to trip the light fantastic until about midnight. The dancing hall, which was just finished for this season, is a large and very creditable structure.

Another dancing party is scheduled for tonight, music to be furnished by an orchestra from Sandy.

Fishing continues good and the camp is well supplied with toothsome trout. Individual fishermen and women, too, as well as organized parties, can be seen at any hour of the day whipping the stream for speckled beauties, and wonderfully good catches are made, considering the fact that the business is kept up incessantly.

One of the most unique sights in the camp—probably the only one ever witnessed in the mountains of Utah—was a real, up-to-date automobile which came rolling up the tortuous windings of the canyon road, a few days ago, apparently with as much ease as though it were going down. It was guided by Mr. Silver of Salt Lake and almost produced a sensation when it pulled up in front of the hotel. Had it been a living curiosity from some wonderland across the seas, it would have attracted little less attention than was bestowed upon it by some of the people here.

President Joseph P. Smith was here with his family, who are located here for the summer, early in the week.

General and Mrs. R. T. Burton came up to the canyon from Salt Lake and registered at the hotel on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Spencer and children, and Miss Crismon, Mrs. Spencer's sister, moved into the Preston cottage on Thursday, where they expect to remain until the end of the season.

Mr. William S. Burton and daughter arrived on Wednesday for a brief stay.

Miss Mamie Silver is the guest of Jennie Silver.

Mrs. A. B. Miller and daughter May are registered at the hotel this week.

Mrs. Lizzie Neidham is visiting Mrs. W. A. Needham.

Miss Jennie V. Smith is being entertained by Miss Donnetta Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boethe, Jr. Miss Vera Rich, Miss M. Goodsell, Miss E. Giles, Mrs. N. Harris and sons are among the late arrivals at the hotel.

John Alford, a veteran employee of Z. C. M. L., is spending his vacation at Wasatch, which he thinks is the most delightful of all near-by-summer resorts.

Mrs. Louis Seckels, son and daughter, have taken the Bishop Burton cottage until August 1st, when Mrs. Burton will move into it for the remainder of the summer and after which Mrs.

wasque and lavender and white striped dimity, with V-shaped neck and flowing sleeves.

Seckels will be located at some other cottage or at the hotel.

Mrs. S. J. Newman and a party of friends are at the old Livingston cottage.

Mrs. Samuel Lester and child are stopping at the hotel.

Mrs. Gertrude Moss and child are expected here tomorrow, Sunday.

Mrs. Dr. Edwin Wilcox and children of Nephi will spend a portion of the summer here.

Nephi Pratt and family will today move into the cottage that has been occupied from the beginning of the season by the family of Mr. John Silver, who returns home this evening.

Mr. T. B. Dougherty of the Mt. Shasta hotel, California, came out here a couple of weeks ago accompanied by his wife, to remain for a day or two on his trip across the continent, and to Europe, before returning home. Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty were so delighted with the place that they will remain until after the heated term is over before continuing their journey to the old world.

Madam M. N. Barrett and son Sam, have taken quarters at the hotel. Mrs. Barrett will remain until the end of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam are due here today. They have engaged rooms at the hotel for two weeks.

Mr. Fred P. Hansen of Tooele, came out here last night for a brief stay.

PROVO SOCIETY.

Mrs. Mary Thorne, mother of Mrs. E. A. Wedgewood, has come from Chicago to visit during the summer.

Mrs. S. R. Thurman has returned after a most delightful trip East. Mrs. Thurman visited her son Bert and wife.

Miss Mamie and Harold Eldridge are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Reed Smart.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buttle have gone to make Salt Lake City their future home. Mr. and Mrs. Buttle have made many friends during their stay of a year and a half in Provo.

The intermediate department of the First ward Sunday school took a hayrack ride to the lake, where they spent the afternoon having a jolly time.

Mr. W. H. Berry has come from Butte, Mont., to visit with his family.

Mrs. Loane, mother of Mr. C. E. Loane, is in Provo from Salt Lake City, visiting.

Mr. Ben Schwab, with his nephew, Frank Schwab, left Monday afternoon for Cincinnati, where they will spend several weeks visiting relatives.

Miss Marlam Neikley and Miss Arvilla Clark went to Eureka Tuesday evening, where they will give the first of a series of concerts.

Friends are pleased to note that Mrs. Joseph Yates is improving in health very rapidly.

The following ladies and gentlemen are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farver: Mr. and Mrs. James Chipman of Salt Lake City, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen L. Chipman, and Mrs. W. H. Grant of American Fork and Mrs. Harrington and daughter Zina of Washington.

The W. C. T. Union will meet at the home of Mrs. Mary Boyden Monday, July 16 at 2 p. m. A most interesting program has been prepared; the principal feature will be the telling of the struggles encountered in getting prohibition in Kansas by Mrs. Robert Seale. The public are invited.

The marriage of Miss Dora Allman and Conrad Hansen took place Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Almira Allman, in the First ward. The young people left on the 8:30 train for Eureka, where they will make their home.

Miss Corda, daughter of Lieutenant Gov. Wells and the other members of the asylum board on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss C. Davis have gone to Malad, Idaho, for a ten-days' visit. Mr. Davis completed a course in law at Ann Arbor in May, and on his return from Idaho will begin the practice of law in Provo with W. C. Rydalsch as his partner.

Herman Martin and Warren Loane went to Salt Lake City Wednesday afternoon on business.

D. J. Williams and daughters, Edith and Martha, are visiting Mr. Williams' mother in Salt Lake City.

The young ladies composing the G. T. and G. B. club are making preparations for a day out at Utah Lake resort.

Mrs. E. C. Loane and daughters, Fay and Erma, have gone to spend a week in Provo canyon.

CLUB CHAT.

For twenty years the Staten Island Diet Kitchen association has worked among the poor, providing gratuitously nourishing food for the needy sick in the county of Richmond. The association was founded by Mrs. W. W. McFarland, and has grown steadily in usefulness and prosperity. Today it owns a handsome, commodious stone house in Tompkinsville in Tompkinsville, for years it has kept free from debt, and has in its treasury a sum sufficient to tide it over any sudden emergency. Each year it widens the little more its field, and so thorough, practical, and quick are its efforts that it lessens considerably the sufferings among the sick who are too poor to provide for themselves with suitable diet during their illness and convalescence. Food is distributed daily on the written requisition of any physician, and from fifty to a hundred patients are supplied every day with beef tea, mutton broth, milk, eggs, jelly, rice, farina, oatmeal, cornstarch, and barley, each and all of which are skillfully prepared when the recipient is unable to do it properly. The order given each patient is good only for two weeks, but it may be renewed at the end of that time if the patient needs further attention. Many, indeed, are supplied daily with articles of food throughout the greater part of the year as in the case of some consumptive, who are not received in hospitals, and those afflicted with incurable diseases. At Thanksgiving and Christmas beautiful baskets of provisions are sent to the families of those under the care of the association during the preceding year.

The faculty of pure science of Columbia university, New York State, at its last meeting decided to allow women who had taken the baccalaureate degree in a recognized college and were candidates for higher degrees at Columbia to use the same laboratories and other facilities for work in astronomy, botany, geometry and physics.

Mrs. Jennie June Croly has this to say of the formation of woman's clubs. Each one, started at different times, and under varying conditions, by an apparently simultaneous impulse, became an embodiment of purely democratic and altruistic ideas. Each for all and all for each, was the motto which inspired their work and action, creating in time a curiously strong and vital sense of fellowship and unity of spirit and action. The first effort of these clubs was to form a more or less direct appeal to the people in the name of that is, parliamentary methods of procedure. This alone to women whose lives had previously been, for the most part, isolated and desultory, though perhaps filled with domestic cares, was a tremendous step in advance.

For it must be remembered that the club life of women did not begin with women leaders and agitators. It advocated no propaganda. It simply addressed itself to the women in the name, and endeavored to satisfy her desire to know, and make herself more widely useful.

One way for the women in small towns to get the whetstone for village improvement work is to follow the unique example of the Kansas City women.

Wishing to have a park that could be proudly pointed out, instead of a neglected piece of ground, these women arranged with their city fathers to have half of the dog tax. They promised to use the money for park improvement purposes. That was two years ago, and now, after an expenditure of $250, they have a park that is a park.

The untaxed dog, you may be sure, has had his day in Kansas City.

Speaking of conventions, the other day when the new president of the National Society of New England Women was being installed in office her husband received from the husband of the retiring president a big bunch of violets. The accompanying card was inscribed "Greeting and sympathy."

That question of reorganization discussed in a lively manner at the Chicago Women's club recently gets a gentle rap from Jennie June, widely known as the mother of women's clubs. In these parts, where the sentiment seems to be largely in favor of a national organization made up of state organizations, it may be interesting to hear an argument from the "individual club" side. At any rate, in the last number of The Clubwoman she says: "The method of reorganization suggested of sacrificing the general to the individual, history repeats itself. What would the United States be today if the doctrine of 'state's right'
