

...in a pretty wedding at the home of Mrs. W. H. Dusenberry this week.

Miss Alice Bailey was the hostess at a shower given at her home in honor of Miss Flora Cluff, Thursday evening.

Miss Chloe Smoot and Miss Fay Loose visited Salt Lake relatives this week.

The Priscilla club met Thursday evening with Mrs. Jennie W. Thomas, and enjoyed a fine program and a social evening. Refreshments were served.

The people of the Fourth ward held a fruit festival in the ward house, Tuesday evening, attended by a large number of guests, who enjoyed a delightfully social evening.

Cards are out announcing the wedding of Miss Mary Hahn and Mr. John S. Park, Tuesday evening, at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Park.

Miss Mamie Beesley entertained her friends at a social gathering at her home, Tuesday evening.

The wedding of Miss Della Burns and F. J. Fowler takes place on Sept. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thiriot announce the engagement of their daughter, Clara Louise, to John Edgerton. The wedding will take place Oct. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Delighton announce the engagement of their daughter, Clara Louise, to John Edgerton. The wedding will take place Oct. 10.

Mr. A. R. Davis announces the engagement of his daughter, Estelle May, to H. Clayton Herrick of Ely, Nev. The marriage to take place in October.

THE LARGER OUTSIDE CITIES

Ogden, Sept. 15.—Thursday afternoon Mrs. R. S. Joyce entertained a party at her home at the Virginia hotel parlors in honor of Mrs. E. N. Miller of Kansas City, which was attended by about 50 of their lady friends. The prizes were awarded to Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Kinney. After the party an elegant dinner was served, and the guests were artistically decorated. The parlors were with aster, also the tables. Mrs. Miller is visiting in Ogden. The guest of Mrs. Joyce.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Condon and Mr. Turner entertained at the former's home on Madison avenue at Ogden. Dainty refreshments were served, but flowers and evergreens were the decorations.

Mrs. Brick, accompanied by Miss Lila Knudson, will leave Ogden tomorrow for Boston, where Mrs. Brick will visit for two months with relatives and friends. Miss Knudson will remain in the east until spring, when she will go abroad.

The marriage of William W. Shaw of Ogden and Miss R. Adelaide Ward of Utah, Boxelder county, took place Wednesday in the Salt Lake temple. The contracting parties are both very popular in Ogden. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Richard A. Brundov, and the groom is bookkeeper for the Salt Lake sugar company. They will be at home to their many friends after Oct. 13, at 184 Washington avenue.

Judge H. H. Solapp returned home Thursday from a visit through Montana.

Miss Mabel Jacobson left Tuesday for Lexington, Neb., to visit with friends.

The engagement of Miss Effie Reast of Ogden to John A. Allen of Huntville was announced this week by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Reast. The wedding will take place in two weeks.

Mrs. Soudier gave a china shower Wednesday evening at her home on Third-street in honor of Miss Edith Boush. A large number of young people were present and a most enjoyable evening spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus T. Wright returned home Sunday from a trip through Idaho.

In the Salt Lake temple Wednesday Miss Mabel McCune was made the wife of J. W. Orr, Jr. The contracting parties are among the leading young people of Ogden. The bride is a charming young lady, and the groom is a salesman for John S. Crawford & Sons company. They have a host of friends who will join in wishing them every happiness. They will make their home at 82 Twenty-sixth street.

Mrs. Flanders Joyce was hostess Thursday evening at a pretty party given at her home on Twenty-third street, which was attended by a large number of her young friends, cards, music and social making up the evening's pleasures. Delicious refreshments were served.

Miss Maud Sells of Nephel is visiting in Ogden with Wallace Boyle and family.

Mrs. E. A. Larkin entertained Monday in honor of Mrs. W. P. Calkins of Los Angeles, who is spending a month in Ogden. A sumptuous dinner was served.

Mrs. W. Raymond gave a luncheon Tuesday afternoon at her home on Washington avenue, a large number of her lady friends being present.

Mrs. Charles Barton was hostess Wednesday afternoon at a delightful reception. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. E. C. Manson and Mrs. E. E. Calkins left for Washington, D. C., Thursday morning, where they will spend a couple of weeks. Miss Carrie Manson accompanied them and will enter the National school for young ladies.

Mrs. Esther M. Parr is spending the week in Salt Lake with friends.

Reports were received in Ogden this week that Charles Kicher, manager of the Ogden Waterworks company, was married Wednesday to Miss Eliza M. McGee at McNeelville, Wis. Miss McGee was formerly employed in the Ogden school here.

A delightful reception was given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. A. R. Heywood in honor of Miss Zannie Cannon.

George W. Larkin and wife, James L. Larkin and wife, have been spending the summer in England, sailed Friday from Liverpool, and arrived in Boston. They will spend a couple of weeks in the city, returning home the early part of October.

PROVO.

Mrs. Joseph Howell of Logan was the guest of Mrs. Reed Smoot this week.

An elaborate shower in honor of her wedding was given Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. E. E. Burton and Mrs. W. B. Scarle.

Miss Margaret Whitney and Mr.

Race Whitney were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dusenberry this week.

Mrs. Aliver Bailey was the hostess at a shower given at her home in honor of Miss Flora Cluff, Thursday evening.

Miss Chloe Smoot and Miss Fay Loose visited Salt Lake relatives this week.

The Priscilla club met Thursday evening with Mrs. Jennie W. Thomas, and enjoyed a fine program and a social evening. Refreshments were served.

The people of the Fourth ward held a fruit festival in the ward house, Tuesday evening, attended by a large number of guests, who enjoyed a delightfully social evening.

Cards are out announcing the wedding of Miss Mary Hahn and Mr. John S. Park, Tuesday evening, at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Park.

Miss Mamie Beesley entertained her friends at a social gathering at her home, Tuesday evening.

INDICATIONS OF THE REDINGOTE EFFECT IN THIS.

A very dressy toilette is achieved by the use of an overdress of buff taffeta over a gown of cream allover lace. The silk is in open coat and skirt effect, suggestive of the redingote that is promised us this fall. The lace waist blouses softly, while the silk portion is slashed front and back, quite cut away in the neck and waistline to disclose the blouse beneath. The skirt buttons in front and is cut to show the lace petticoat beneath. The buttons and buttonholes are distinctively a feature of this costume, the former being of silver and black satin. The only remaining blacktouch of the costume is the black velvet.

fellow teachers of the Franklin school at the Beesley fruit fair. Pleasant view Friday evening.

Nels Hall was down from Salt Lake visiting relatives and friends this week.

The Improvement associations of the Fifth and Second wards enjoyed delightful socials, Tuesday evening, in their respective ward houses.

The Primary ward officers were entertained by the stake officers in the Fifth ward meetinghouse Thursday evening. Refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening spent.

Miss Fern Cluff was the hostess at a shower given in honor of Miss Flora Cluff Friday evening. A large number of guests passed a pleasant social evening.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Nellie Jacobs and Mr. G. A. Anderson, in the Salt Lake temple. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will be at home after Sept. 26, at Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. George S. Taylor assisted by his daughter, Miss Hazel entertained at a family social at their home Sunday evening. Miss Priscilla Smith, of Salt Lake was the guest of honor. Sweet music and a social evening was enjoyed by all. Dainty refreshments were served.

A very pleasant farewell party to Mr. Roy Dixon and a welcome home to Mr. John Clayton was given Wednesday evening in the Third ward Social hall. Games, music and social were enjoyed by a large number of friends. Light refreshments were served.

Mr. L. L. Nunn of the Telluride Power company was a Salt Lake visitor this week.

Messrs. J. C. Glanfield and Ebert, formerly of this city, but now of Salt Lake, visited friends here the fore part of this week.

The Misses Allie and Fern Smoot were the charming hostesses at a dinner Friday, given at their home on East Center, in honor of Mr. Roy Dixon, covers were laid for 12.

The M. I. A. associations of the Second ward gave a candy pull at their ward house Tuesday evening. A merry evening was passed by the young people of the ward, it being the opening of their season's work.

Miss Beulah Storrs informs us that she will not leave for New York this month as reported in these columns. The latter part of October. Miss Storrs will visit her parents in California before leaving for New York.

Senator and Mrs. Reed Smoot entertained the members of the Woman's Republican club and their partners at their home Monday evening. The large and spacious rooms were thrown open to about 100 guests. Short speeches, music and a thoroughly social evening was enjoyed by all. Dainty refreshments were served by the charming hostess.

Miss Annie Frisby was the pleasing hostess at a handkerchief shower Tuesday evening, given at the home of her parents, Mayor and Mrs. J. H. Frisby, in honor of Miss Nellie Jacobs, who is to marry Mr. Anderson on Wednesday next. Many dainty handkerchiefs were received and will be treasured by the bride in her new home in Philadelphia. An elaborate lunch was served.

Miss Ethel Smith of Provo and Mr. Perry Snow of Manila, were married in the Salt Lake temple Wednesday at noon.

LOGAN.

Logan, Sept. 14.—President and Mrs. Isaac Smith entertained a number of friends on Thursday evening in a most enjoyable manner in honor of their son Will, who leaves in the near future to fill a mission in Germany. A large young couple will be "a home" at Brigham City after Oct. 1.

Mrs. Dr. Harding entertained delightfully at a little birthday party Monday afternoon in honor of her little daughter Portia.

The little people were entertained in a pretty manner, and dainty refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Elva Blackburn, Phyllis Madsen, Margery Horsley Florence Kelly, Helen Nelson, Romona Pierce, Portia Harding and Master Leonard Davis.

Mrs. Martin Reeder was the recipient of a pretty china shower, given by her old associates the "Hullo Girls" and their friends, last Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Peterson. Dainty ices and light refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Rena Baird, Bill Hansen, Helena Carter, Louise Ingram, Crestina Madsen, Mary Holst, Sara Mathias, Rosa Carter, Clair Christensen, Rose Gidney, Elvira Peterson, Susan Ward, Emma Nelson, Mildred Jensen, Freda Nelson, Laura Mathias, Genevieve Blackburn, Mabel Campbell, Agnes Olsen, Ada Johnson, Aurilla Watkins, Vern Forsgren, Stella Grover, Eva Brown, La Von Jones, Blanche Erdman, Lillian Jeppsen, Millie and Tennie Reeder and Lois Peters.

The Third ward Y. L. M. I. A. gave a very fine program at the ward hall Tuesday evening. The rooms were beautiful with many cut flowers and soft draperies. The affair was an opening of the season's work.

Miss Nellie Grace of Ely, Nev. is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Nichols for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wallace Boden returned to Salt Lake after a short visit with friends and relatives.

Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Pearce are at Paradise Creek on a fishing trip.

Mr. Will Woodland of Oneida, Ida., was visiting his mother, Mrs. Laura Woodland, this week.

Miss Lou Horsley was a Salt Lake visitor this week.

Miss Florence Christensen expects to leave this week for Salt Lake, where she expects to remain through the winter.

Miss Annie Larsen returned from Salt Lake after a month's stay.

number of friends, while regretting his departure from Logan, wish him the best of success.

Miss Julia Hendricks was hostess at a delightful afternoon party on Saturday last. An abundance of fall flowers were used in decoration, and games, and a dainty lunch were enjoyed by the following: Misses Ella Peterson, Barbara Howell, Claire Young, Marie Barber, Len Thatcher, Vivian Hatch, Winnie Morrill, Duella Alvord, Ada Hendricks, Genevieve Smith, Jean Leishman.

A pleasant evening was spent by the members of the Y. L. M. I. A. of the First ward on Thursday, the affair being a social prior to beginning the winter work. Refreshments and games were enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Cathcart have returned to their home in Illinois after having spent some time visiting in Logan.

After having spent most of the summer in Mexico, Prof. L. A. Ostien has returned to Logan to take up his teaching at the U. A. C.

Mr. John H. Wilson is at home again after an extended business trip in Soda Springs.

Mr. John B. Thatcher of Gentle Valley is visiting in Logan.

Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Budge are at home after a pleasant visit with friends and relatives at Bear Lake.

Apostle Reed Smoot was a Logan visitor the first part of the week.

Mr. Joseph Cannon of Salt Lake attended the religious class convention held here last Sunday.

Mrs. Dr. Paulson, daughter and sons, have returned from an extended stay in Chicago.

Mrs. John T. Caine, Jr., is at home after having spent a week with her sister at Whitney, Ida.

Mrs. T. W. Naylor is visiting in Salt Lake.

Mr. Booker Preston has returned from a pleasant trip to Salt Lake.

Miss Ella Peterson, who was the guest of Miss Julia Hendricks, has returned to her home in Ogden.

Miss Dora Wright was a Logan visitor on Monday.

Mrs. Joseph Davidson, who has been visiting in Greenville, Ill., has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crockett and children have gone to Ann Arbor, Mich., expecting to remain there for three years.

Miss Elsie Skeen, who has spent the summer in the east, has returned to Logan.

After a pleasant visit with friends and relatives in Ogden, Miss Effie Smith is at home again.

Miss Blanche Caine left on Wednesday for southern Utah, where she will teach during the winter.

The engagement is announced of Miss Eliza Larson and Dr. D. N. White of Ogden, the marriage to take place Sept. 23.

BRIGHAM CITY.

Brigham City, Sept. 14.—Mr. Willard Nichols and Miss Laura Gater of Pueblo, Colo., were quietly married Friday last at the Broom hotel, Ogden, Bishop McQuarrie officiating. The chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

The walls of a kitchen should be of varnished or painted plaster, or covered with a heavy glazed paper such as are used in bathrooms. A washcoat of tiles or varnished wood saves the plaster where it is likely to get many knicks, and should be protected at the base by a narrow baseboard, fitting tightly so that no cracks can admit objectionable visitors from the neighboring flats. Floors should be covered with a good linoleum, unless the architect has put in tiles, which are the ideal flooring. A painted wood surface would be satisfactory if it did not need constant renewing, as the use of scrubbing brushes and soap soon washes it off.

Plenty of shelves and drawers, or a patent kitchen cabinet are great helps to the woman whose time is spent in cooking.

The old-fashioned dolman has been revived and is here in all its pristine glory, as shapeless and ungraceful as ever. Suited they might have been to the Turkish men, with whom they originated, but not at all to the well-formed woman of good carriage with no defects to conceal.

Also, we have the pelerine, fringe and all. Made up in pretty colored silks or in black or white, with gayly colored borders, as many of them are, they suggest the most delightful combination of colors.

Seriously, it does seem rather a pity that our straight, five-footed woman, who can tramp all day over an 18-hole golf course and dance till the

chair and the time come together.

In furnishing a house or choosing a new house, the kitchen should be the center of the family happiness. Here is the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well-ventilated kitchen with shelves, drawers, tables, and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time-saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junkshop for all the old, broken-down furniture and utensils in the house. Dirty, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls, and behind the stove dirt and dampness, make a happy hunting ground for beetles and