APOSTLE YOUNG'S CONDITION Church Official in Precarious Health at Mesa City, Arizona.

Apostle Brigham Young, in a letter to President Joseph F. Smith, dated Mesa City, Arizona, Jan. 26, states that his vitality sometimes is so low that he wonders how he revives. The trip to Mesa was a long, hard one and nearly wore him out. He says, however, that as soon as he is able he will take to horseback riding, which, he thinks, will be of great benefit to him.

Pictures Taken.

The practice of the officers of the law in "mugging" prisoners is not atways accompanied with the pleasure and satisfaction that follows voluntary sub-mission to that process; but it has to attended to all the same. That is the way the rogues' gallery is filled. Three new pictures were added today to the motley collection gathered by the county seriff's office. They wer likenesses of George Taylor, convicts stealing Fergus Coalfer's overcoat; Mike Aaron, who is doing time for smuggling opium into the state prison. and Thomas Connors, a Bingham petit larcenist. All three are well known characters; and all three reluctantly Deputy Sheriff Cummings to take up a position before the camera. Their reluctance was of no avail, however, and soon the button was pressed, immediately after which the photograph er "did the rest."

"OCTAVE THANET" TALKS TO "NEWS."

One of America's Most Noted Woman Authors Visiting Salt Lake Relatives and Friends-Social Function in Her Honor Tomorrow-Some of Her Best Known Works of Fiction.

Miss Alice French, who under the pseudonym of Octave Thanet is known as one of the foremost authors of fiction in America, arrived from her trip to the coast, last evening for a short visit with her brother and cousin, Mr. Morton French and Mrs. Eugene Lewis in this city, her stay extending until Friday, when she will return to her home in Clover Bend, Arkansaw, Miss French is staying at the Knutsford, where a "News" representative saw her this morning in a pleasant half hour's chat, in which the noted authoress gave a brief verbal glimpse of her literary career, with expressions upon some of the subjects and problems with which her work has dealt. "The Heart of Toll" Miss French said in answer to a question is perhaps my most important work. "Since its publication I have received innumerable letters from people of all classes laboring men, manufacturers and bank presidents, expressing satisfaction with presentation of the problems with which the story deals. In no way, however, does the work attempt to theorize or lay out plans for the solu-tion of any questions. It is simply u story of conditions, presented in the simplest way possible and with no aim at preaching.
"My favorite story? It is perhaps one published in Harper's magazine some time since-"The Captured Dream, which, in a strictly literary sense, I perhaps my best. My first published story was "The Bishop's Vagabond," which appeared in the Atlantic Monthly just after my school days at Andover, and my longest is "Explation, published first serially in Scrib ner's magazine and since in book was a plantation belonging to friend of mine in Arkansas, whom I visited, and in whose home I drew materials for my story. "As to my method of work, I fear that I should find it hard to tell you. The only thing for any artist is to keep his mind receptive to anything that might affect his line of work, then use it clearly, simply and truthfully, without attempt at embellishment. When an author explains his purpose, he fails to be an artist and "Material exists everywhere; one has

I gather it from people, places, incidents, wherever I go, one suggestion leading to another My first work was done in Davenport, Iowa, where I lived before going to Arkansas. My birthplace was Andorn, Mass., where I was also educated. Some years since I went to Clover Bend, Arkansaw, and in company with my friend who is traveling with me now, purchased the plantation where I now reside. I have more time to write there, as it is more quiet. In Davenport I have a large cir-cle of relatives and as we are a family very much attached to each other, when I go there, as I frequently de, I like better to visit with them than anything else. Yes, I travel considerably; in the summer I go to Davenport sometimes Minnesota, and the Atlantic coast, and my winters are spent in the South. This trip to the coast is chiefly a business one, and now that we have accomplished our purpose we shall go home. I shall be busy with a story which will probably be my longest, it not my most important work—quite a novel in fact. I am gathering materials for it now and it will probably be published about next Christmas," Asked in connection with her story "Heart of

We are hammering away at the inconsistencies and ine qualities, just as those before us have esults and there can be no doubt that the future will see a great development from these conditions. What the form will be we cannot of course tell, but it will probably be something different and materially better than the conditions which confront us now."

Miss French expressed herself as being much pleased with Salt Lake and the people she has met here the latter she declared being "especially delightful." She believes that in spite of the eccasional "cold snaps" like the present, Salt Lake must have a delightfully even climate, and is much impressed with the scenery around the city. Miss French will stay until Friday night when she will leave for her home in Arkansas. Tomorrow morning she will be the guest of honor at a breakfast given by her cousin, Mrs. Eugene Lews, the reception which was to have been given for her during her stay having to be postponed on account of her III health, as she contracted a se vere cold in San Francisco from which she is still suffering. The following items quoted from a sketch in "Ameri-Women" give a brief resume of Miss French's career.

LIFE AND WORKS. Miss French was born in Andover Mass., March 19,1850, She is widely known by her pen-name, "Octave Thanet." She has lived in the West and South On both sides Miss French descendant of the Puritans. the publication of "The Bishop's Vaga-bond" in the Atlantic Monthly sent "A Communist's Wife" to the Harpers who declined it, and then sent it to the Lippincotts, who accepted it. Since that time she has always found a place for her works. The criticisms that editors offer she has found very valuable. Among her published works are "Knit-ters in the Sun," 1887; "Otto, the Knight," "Expiation," 1890, and "We All." She has also edited "The Best Letters of Lady Mary Montagu," "Stor-ies of a Western Town." 1893: "An Adventure in Photography," 1892; "Missionary Sheriff," 1897; "A Book of True 1898; "The Heart of Toll,"

Lovers," 1898; "The Heart 1898; "A Slave to Duty," 1900. She is very fond of the Gallic models of style. She is interested in historical Studies and the German philosophers. She likes all out-of-door sport and de-clares that she is a great deal better cook than a writer.

It is a delight to her to arrange a din-ner. She has a fad for collecting china in politics she is a Democrat, a moderate free-trader and a firm believer in "honest money." Miss French has a deep interest in English history and a great affection for England. She pursued her studies assiduously, going to original sources for her pictures of by gone times, and finding the most in piration in the period which saw the ise of our present industrial system. he reign of Henry VIII and his children. Her pen-name was the result of chance, "Octave" was the name of her room mate at school, and had the idvantage of being suited to either sex.
