

TWO NEW YORK BANKS CLOSE DOORS

The New Amsterdam National And the Mechanics and Traders, Latter State.

IN THE MORSE-THOMAS CHAIN.

Both Had Recently Undergone a Reorganization of the Board of Directors.

New York, Jan. 29.—Two financial institutions of New York city, one a national and the other a state bank, will not open their doors tomorrow. The New Amsterdam National bank, capital $1,000,000, was taken in charge by the representative of the controller of the currency early in the evening, and the Mechanics and Traders' bank, a state institution, capital $2,000,000, announced shortly before midnight the decision of the directors not to open tomorrow. Both banks announce their ability to pay all depositors. A statement of the New Amsterdam National shows individual deposits of $2,000,000. No statement of the liabilities and assets of the Mechanics and Traders' bank could be had tonight. Both institutions had been known as in the Morse-Thomas chain of financial institutions, but both had undergone a reorganization of the directors.

NEW AMSTERDAM BANK.
The New Amsterdam National bank, capital $1,000,000, and situated at the corner of Broadway and Thirty-ninth street, was closed by order of the controller of the currency tonight, and National Bank Examining Charles A. Hanna was placed in charge. The institution's liabilities are placed at $4,482,016, of which $2,665,272 is due to depositors. The bank's officers assert that not only will every depositor be paid in full, but the stockholders will receive a substantial dividend.

The New Amsterdam National was formerly one of the chief links in the chain of banks established by Charles W. Morse. The institution occupied quarters in the Metropolitan Opera House, in the heart of the uptown theatrical district, and numbered among its clientele many of those prominent on the stage.

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT.
A statement given out by President Kline tonight, in which he said: "A year ago, I was invited, in an effort to rehabilitate the bank, to assume the presidency of the bank, which, as was well known, had suffered a considerable decline in business. From that time the policy of the bank has been a conservative one, not fostering or influenced by special interests, and of a character not coming in the slightest degree within recent criticisms of bank methods. The stress culminating in the October panic was naturally severely felt. The bank had recovered fully from the effects of the panic, and had retired its clearing house certificates from $1,750,000 down to $300,000, and was on an upward and successful movement. But the closing of the National Bank of North America, and the resulting withdrawal of the interests which had previously commended both institutions in their past and exaggerated, started fresh reports of a discredited and sensational nature which necessitated the liquidation of the bank."

COMPTROLLER'S STATEMENT.
The following statement on behalf of the controller of the currency was made concerning the New Amsterdam National bank tonight:
"William B. Hedges, comptroller of currency, at the request of its president, ordered the New Amsterdam National bank closed late this afternoon and instructed the national bank examiners of this city to take charge of its affairs, pending the appointment of a receiver. President Frank W. Kline, Jr., informed the comptroller that about one-half of the bank's reserve had been depleted by withdrawals and payments during the course of the day, and it was feared that further heavy demands from depositors would be made."

MECHANICS & TRADERS.
New York, Jan. 29.—President D. A. Sullivan of the Mechanics and Traders' bank announced shortly before midnight tonight that the institution would not open its doors tomorrow. This decision was reached at a meeting of the board of directors tonight, lasting for hours.

In a statement issued after the meeting, the directors declared the bank solvent, but the clearing house certificates made it appear inadvisable for the bank to continue business. The Mechanics and Traders' bank is a state institution, capitalized at $2,000,000, and provided for the clearing house deposits amounting to more than $2,000,000, but this amount has since been largely reduced.

When the meeting of the directors adjourned a few minutes before midnight, President David A. Sullivan gave out the following statement, which he declined to amplify in any way as to the assets and liabilities at this time:

"At a meeting of the board of directors of the Mechanics and Traders' bank held at the banking offices, No. 55 Broadway, on the evening of Jan. 29, 1908, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, the clearing house committee informed the officers of this bank at 5 o'clock this morning that the clearing house had determined to afford no further assistance to any bank, although the clearing house holds some $500,000 of approved collateral of this bank against which it owes them only about $1,000,000; and

"Whereas, although this bank is absolutely solvent, the cash resources of the bank are so depleted that it is unable to meet its obligations, and it is deemed inadvisable for the bank to continue without such present aid; and

"Whereas, it is for the best interests of the depositors, under the circumstances, to avoid any preferential payments to any depositors, all of whom had to be treated alike; it is resolved that this bank do not open its doors tomorrow (Thursday), and that we communicate with the banking department forthwith. Further, that it is the intention of the directors to reopen the bank at the earliest possible date."

The Mechanics and Traders' bank was one of the banks in the E. R. Thomas chain. David A. Sullivan was made its president by Thomas in January, 1907.

P. Augustus Heinze went into the directorate of the Mechanics and Traders' bank after Thomas got control, and bought a substantial block of stock in the interest of the institution. Thomas and Heinze got out of the bank as a result of the October upheaval.

In October, just before the panic, it was one of the most important of the state banks, having total resources of $26,000,000. It was also one of the oldest of the state banks, having been established in 1812. A year or two ago, and was not only a member of the clearing house, but one of its founders.

In its report to the state banking department under date of Aug. 22, 1907, the Mechanics and Traders' bank showed net deposits of $18,225,000. On Oct. 19, the date of its last report, these had shrunk to $10,977,000.

NOTED FRENCH WOMAN.

In America to Study Social Life Among Working Classes.

New York, Jan. 29.—Mme. Laurence Fiedler noted as one of the most advanced women in France in matters relating to social life among the working classes, is in America on a tour of inspection in the interest of the French government. Mme. Fiedler has carefully studied trade schools for women, nurse schools, settlement work and tenement reform work since she has been in America and now intends to devote considerable time to the work being done toward stamping out tuberculosis.

To make these studies, she will visit manufacturing plants, textile works and mines in various parts of the country. All her observations will be reported to the various departments of the French government. Mme. Fiedler is particularly interested in trade schools for women which she has seen.

"New York trade schools for women have the right idea," she said. "The idea we have never grasped in France. The girls have an opportunity to reach a higher standard, attain higher ideals and become more capable workers. You teach the girls to apply the science they absorb in school."

HUESTON LOOKING OUT FOR HIMSELF

Architect of Pennsylvania Capitol Willing to Sacrifice His Co-defendants.

SOFAS BOUGHT BY THE FOOT.

Actual Length Six Feet; Sold to State As Nineteen and a Half Feet Long at $18 40 Per Foot.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 29.—That Architect Joseph M. Hueston means to take care of himself at the expense of his four co-defendants in the conspiracy cases now on trial in the Dauphin county court is apparent from the testimony today of his brother, Rev. Samuel C. Hueston of Philadelphia, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, who was called as a witness for the commonwealth.

Stanford B. Lewis, the architect's associate assistant, while the contest was being conducted and furnished, and who is under indictment on two charges of conspiracy to cheat and defraud the state in the payment of bills regarding $200,000 of furniture, was also a witness for the commonwealth.

Rev. Mr. Hueston testified that when his brother went to Europe in the spring of 1906 on business for the state, he left with him signed blank architect's certificates and a power of attorney. Soon after the architect's departure, Contractor John H. Sanderson, one of the defendants, appeared with a bill supported by an affidavit purporting to be in proper form for which he asked and obtained certification of the architect by the brother's signature.

The commonwealth expects to prove that this bill was fraudulent in that Sanderson was given the contract for certain furnishings under one item in the special capital furnishings schedule and billed these articles to the state under another item, the amount of which is in excess of the item, under which he was given the contract, and also that some of these articles were invoiced to the state and paid for as contained in three items as many feet as they actually contained.

Following the testimony of Rev. Mr. Hueston and that of Lewis to the effect that the architect was expected to certify only to the quality and not to the quantity of furnishings, the commonwealth had brought into court and exhibited to the jury two of the sofas, a table, chairs, and other articles supplied by Sanderson for the capital under the "per foot system." One of the sofas was measured for the information of the jury and was shown to be six feet long. Sanderson billed this sofa to the state at 18 feet, and was paid for at the rate of $18.40 "per foot."

The other sofa also measured six feet, and was billed to the state at 18 feet, and was paid for at the rate of $18.40 "per foot." The table had been billed under item 22 in the schedule at $18.40 "per foot," instead of under item 24 at $10.40 as called for by Sanderson's contract. The chairs were billed as containing 1 1/2 feet at $18.40, and should have been furnished, the commonwealth claims, for $5.55.

Former Chief of the Pennsylvania packer, who was president of the board of grounds and buildings, while the capital was being furnished, is here to testify for the defense and will probably be called on Friday. Pennypacker's colleagues on the board were former Auditor-Gen. William P. Snyder and former State Treasurer William L. Riney, both of whom are now on trial. James M. Schunaker, former superintendent of grounds and buildings, also a defendant, was executive officer of the board during the time Pennypacker was president.

GOMPERS ADDRESSES COMMITTEE ON BANKING

Washington, Jan. 29.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was an impromptu speaker before the house committee on banking and currency at a hearing on currency legislation. Said he: "We must meet the new conditions confronting us as a nation, and many old conceptions must give way to new conditions; yet I cannot escape the belief that relative provisions in the Constitution ought to have a little more weight in the determination of the nation's financial policies affecting the issuance of money. To delegate that power to private interests is something which, in my judgment, is not sustainable by proper interpretation of the constitutional provision that the government of the United States is the duly constituted authority for the issuing of the money."

Answering a question, Mr. Gompers said:

"One thing is certain, no blame can be laid at the doors of the workmen of this country for the recent financial panic. I myself advised the working-

Tell If You Know a Good Thing.

When a man finds the true food value of a preparation like Grape-Nuts, it is no more than neighborly, to tell it to others.

"I should feel responsible, to a degree," writes an Ohio man, "for such human suffering were I to withhold from others the benefit of the benefits I have personally derived from the use of Grape-Nuts as an article of food."

"Two years ago I began to feel a general tendency to collapse—had frequent bilious attacks, was troubled with constipation and vertigo, also rush of blood to the head causing temporary blindness."

"Liver and stomach in bad condition, appetite and sleep became very irregular, memory began to slip away, legs became shaky, and I found it necessary to use both hands in drinking from a cup."

"Previous to this time I was in the habit of eating all I wanted of whatever was set before me. When the trouble came, I tried medicine without help, but I gradually grew so weak I had to give up a lucrative government position."

"Whatever I ate disagreed with me, until my wife began feeding me on Grape-Nuts food. At first I ate sparingly until I found it did me hurt, then, gradually increased the amount as my appetite demanded. For many months I have virtually lived on Grape-Nuts, fruits and Postum."

"The result is gratifying in the extreme. None of my former difficulties trouble me now. In eating, sleeping, action of bowels and kidneys, every thing goes like clock work—no dizzy spells, no congestion of brain, no lack of memory, no troubling of limbs."

"I weigh more than for years (am 62) and enjoy long walks which were formerly impossible. No thanks to medicine, but all thanks to Grape-Nuts and Postum. There's a Reason."

SIMPLE WASH CURES ECZEMA.

Itching, Burning Skin Disease. Treated Without Use of Injurious Drugs.

Great inventors often have been praised for surrendering the secrets of their discoveries. Practically the same thing happened in the medical world in the case of Dr. D. D. Dennis, the eminent skin specialist of Chicago. Dr. Dennis, in his own office practice, discovered that pure vegetable oil of wintergreen, properly mixed with other simple remedies was practically a cure for eczema, psoriasis, barber's itch, salt rheum, and other itching skin diseases. But the oil of wintergreen alone was found ineffective. It required other mild ingredients such as glycerine and thymol compounded with the wintergreen, to produce the real eczema cure.

This compounded D. D. D. Prescription positively takes away the itch at once—the itching it is applied to the skin. This vegetable liquid does away with deleterious drugs so long used in an attempt to doctor the blood, whereas modern science has determined that eczema is first and all the time a skin disease.

LANGDON MUM ON RABBI NIETO

San Francisco, Jan. 29.—Neither Dist. Atty. William H. Langdon nor any one associated with his office in the prosecution of the bribery-graft cases was at all disposed today to discuss the statement given out last night by Rabbi Jacob Nieto of the Temple Sherrith Israel, in which he made public some of the details in the negotiations between the prosecution and Abraham Ruef, resulting in the drawing and signing of a contract granting the latter immunity.

"Those outbursts on the part of the defendants in these cases show that the prosecution has the tactical advantage," said Dist. Atty. Langdon to the Associated Press. "And this tactical advantage we are going to keep. This at present is merely a tactical fight, aside from the object of the other side to mislead and influence the public."

The district attorney then explained that he was speaking of the statement issued yesterday by Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, in which the prosecution was charged with bad faith and ulterior motives, as well as the statement of Rabbi Nieto on behalf of Ruef.

"The fact of the matter is," continued the district attorney, "that these defendants have been outmaneuvered in the tactics. They recognize this, hence the writing and outbursts, charges of bad faith, broken promises and ulterior motives. The district attorney is well satisfied with the situation and that is what caused such keen dissatisfaction to the defendants."

"I could explain away the entire matter in Rabbi Nieto's statement, the reasons for the change of attitude on the part of the prosecution toward Ruef and the determination to place him on trial ahead of Calhoun, but it is not my intention to furnish the defense with ammunition against us nor advise them ahead of the proceedings in court of our plans, to enable them to devise counter moves."

When asked if the attitude of Ruef in having at no time criticized the district attorney, his assistant, Francis J. Tenev, or the defendants in the case, was a matter for the immunity contract, he suddenly decided to prosecute him or making any statement in any way reflecting upon them for this change, did not justify the impression that the former political boss still had hopes that the prosecution would relent and that he would still be able to make terms, the district attorney remarked.

Neither Judge Frank H. Dunne nor Judge William P. Lawlor of the superior court, who presided at the hearing, were present at the conference between themselves, Special Agent Burns and Rabbi Nieto and Kaplan, in which, according to Nieto's statement, they drew a party to the immunity contract between the prosecution and Ruef. Both judges declined to discuss the matter.

Ruef comes up before Judge Lawlor tomorrow morning, at which time it is

THURLOW W. BARNES GETS VERDICT FOR $381,666

New York, Jan. 29.—A verdict for $381,666 was awarded Thurlow Weed Barnes by the jury in the supreme court today in his suit against the American-China Development company. Barnes sought to recover $900,000 from the syndicate, which he declared was due him for obtaining in 1894 valuable concessions from the Chinese government. He alleges that those concessions were subsequently repurchased by the Chinese government for $5,000,000.

The individual defendants in the suit were the late Samuel Thomas and Marcus Hartley, Frederick P. Olcott, Richard J. Cross, Clarence Cary, Hugh J. Grant, the Carnegie Steel company, Henry W. How Fat May Be Removed Rapidly by a Simple Home Remedy Without Causing Weakness, Disturbing the Diet or Necessity for Exercise.

"Fat is nothing but unused energy," says a prominent physician, and the man or woman who is burdened with it can easily get rid of it if they wish. All they need is a 1/2 ounce of Marmola, 1/2 ounce of Fluid Extract Cascara, 1/2 ounce of Epsom, 1/2 ounce of Syrup Simplex, all of which they can get at any good drug store for a few cents. Then let them take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime until they are down to the weight they want to be.

This simple home receipt is far and away better than any or all the patent or secret medicines for it reduces the fat safely and harmlessly. The ingredients are in fact beneficial to the system, having both tonic and purifying qualities, and so help rather than distress the stomach. The remedy does not cause wrinkles, it reduces one gradually and naturally, preserving a good outline and, best of all, needs neither physical exercise to help it do the work, nor does it require any change in diet—one can get results and still take things easy—eating meanwhile just what, when and how he or she pleases. Be sure and get the Marmola in a sealed package, so that you get Marmola and not a substitute.
