BREVITIES.

Hugly Customers—Bears.
A dangerous chasm—saw-cream.
Safe Matches—Early marriages.
Farmers are like fowls; neither will get full crops without industry.
A top often fancies he is cock of the walk, when he is only a cockcomb.
Texas makes claret from the mustang grape.
A "brilliant" existence is a lawyer's delight.

In Switzerland 60,000 persons make 1,200,000 watches a year.
There is no dungeon so dark and dismal as a mean man's mind.

The mists of antiquity have been generally accompanied by the rain of error.
Helen Echert, of Easton, Pennsylvania, aged sixteen, weighs 500 pounds.

Doctors should dearly love our good mother earth, for she kindly hides their evil work.
Ben Holliday's farm at Rye, Conn., is well stocked with buffaloes imported from the West.

Some faithful priest has got his desert.
The diocese of Sahara has been created by the Pope.

It is said that fifty millions of dollars are invested in the paper collar business in this country.

Bury your troubles, but don't linger around the grave-yard conjuring up their ghosts to haunt you.

The philanthropists of Boston are about to establish a "temporary home for fallen women."

The winter bonnets consist merely of a rosette of lace with a bud, or butterfly in the center.

Marriage is the best state for man in general and every man is a worse man in proportion as he is unfit for the marriage state.—Dr. Johnson.

Last year the English Post Office carried thirty letters to each inhabitant; in Scotland the letters numbered twenty-eight, and in Ireland, ten to each person.

An elm tree at North Adams, Massachusetts, measures fourteen feet and one inch in circumference. Its lower limbs are sixty feet from the ground, and in one of its branches a swarm of bees have their home.

Letter carriers in semi-rural districts, such as the upper part of New York island, are to be supplied with velocipedes. With one of these machines a man can easily make twelve miles an hour.

That fellow's head was level when he wrote the following:
"A man might as well attempt to quench the phosphorescent emanations from the tail end of a lightning bug with a squirt gun, as to try to run a newspaper without money."

Nadar, of Paris, recently succeeded in accomplishing what avians have regarded as an impossibility. He started in the Captive balloon, and at 900 metres above the earth's surface was enabled so skillfully to arrange his apparatus that in two hours he alighted in this, rather earth with a series of poofs representing the plain sphere of Paris, with a minute correctness never hitherto obtained from a balloon, thus proving the strategic services which, during a siege, might be obtained by photographs taken from cloudland.

Two colored persons got into an altercation at New Orleans, when one drew what the other supposed to be a slugshot. The unarmed African at once took to his heels, pursued by his enemy. The latter, overtaking him, flung his "slugshot." Fair and square it hit the mark, covering his head with a soft substance not unlike human brains. The "wounded" darkey stopped instantly, run his hand over his head, then examined it, and spluttered out: "Blowed if you ain't knocked my brains out, an' dey smell like bananas, too."

A young parson of the Universalist faith, many years since, when the Stimmed westward to attend a convention of his brethren in the faith. He took the precaution to carry a vial of cayenne in his pocket, to sprinkle his food with, as a preventive to fever and ague. The convention met; and at dinner a tall Hoosier observed the parson as he seasoned his meat, and addressed him thus:

"Stranger, I'll thank you for a leetle of that 'ere red salt, for I'm kind o' m'ous to try it."

"Certainly," returned the parson;
"but you will find it very powerful; be careful how you use it."

The Hoosier took the proffered vial, and feeling himself proof against any quantity of raw whiskey, thought that he could stand the "red-salt" with immunity, and accordingly sprinkled a junk of beef rather bountifully with it, and forthwith introduced it in his capacious mouth. It soon began to take hold. He shut his eyes, and his features began to writhe, denoting a very inhomogeneous condition physically.
Finally he could stand it no longer.
He opened his mouth and screamed:

"Take a drink of cold water," said the parson.

"Will that put it out?" asked the martry, suiting the action to the word.
In a short time the unfortunate man began to recover, and turning to the parson, his eyes yet swimming in water, exclaimed:

"Stranger, you call yourself a 'Vaseli-st, I believe?'"

"I do," mildly answered the parson.

"Well, I want to know if you think it consistent with your belief to go about with hell-fire in your pockets?"
