JUDGE ZANE BUSY.

A Morning of Divorce Suits and Motions of Various Kinds.

RE-MARRIED AND DIVORCED.

A Husband Breaks His Promise and Takes the Consequence.—Unmanly Behavior Towards a Wife.

The divorce suit of Mary J. Poore, vs Grattan E. Poore, which was heard before Judge Zane this morning was based on the grounds of drunkenness and cruelty.

Judge Sutherland represented the plaintiff, a tall lady-like person apparently about forty-five years of age.

The marriage took place at Provo on March 1, 1876. For several years the defendant had been guilty of habitual drunkenness and when not intoxicated, as the complaint stated, he ill-treated the plaintiff nearly every day. On the witness-stand Mrs. Page said that that she obtained a divorce from her husband in the year 1891, but at his request and upon his promise to reform she was re-married to him on January 7, 1892. He had previously given her a written pledge that he would entirely abstain from the use of liquor in future, and also behave better in every way. In April last, however, he fell back into his old ways—once more gave way to drink and abused her. On one occasion he raised a chair at her and by a former husband and was about to strike him over the head with it when she stepped between them and got the blow intended. Defendant had repeatedly called her by vile names, and in the presence of her children and acquaintances used opprobrious language towards her, falsely accusing her of want of chastity. On one occasion one of her sons almost into insensibility upon demonstrating with Mrs. Poore upon his unmanly conduct, and his unbrotherly was the cause of the boy committing suicide.

A witness of the plaintiff, a lad of about 15, having given corroborative evidence, Judge Zane granted the divorce.

THE HUSBAND ANSWERS.

Shortly before noon the parties in the divorce suit of Annie T. Wilmarth vs. Ferdinand W. Wilmarth were on hand waiting for their turn, and the case was subsequently called for hearing. It came up on an order to show cause for the alimony.

Attorney E. W. Tullock appeared for the plaintiff; the defendant, who was also there was represented by Attorney Rossiter.

The parties intermarried at San Francisco, Cal., on December 1-4, 1886. There are no children. Mrs. Wilmarck alleged that ever since their marriage her husband has been an habitual drunkard and guilty of much cruel treatment towards her. Soon after the marriage he began to call her vile names and use vulgar and obscene language toward her, both in private and in public, and this, she says, has continued ever since. In the fall of 1892 he struck her a violent blow in the face, and repeated this in May, 1893, also tearing her clothing on the latter occasion. Within the past year he has at various times spat and thrown beer in her face. At divers times he has pointed and flourished a pistol in her face. Plaintiff also states that her husband has inconsistent property of the value of $6000 to $8000—that not less than $1000 of this is cash and $3000 or more in secured notes; also he has real estate of the value of quite $5000, besides a business and stock in trade.

Plaintiff therefore asks, in addition to the decree of divorce, for permanent alimony, and that her maiden name (Annie T. Coulbourn) be restored to her.

The defendant filed an answer denying absolutely the charges of drunkenness and cruelty and says he has never exhibited a loaded pistol at the plaintiff nor threatened it before her. He declares that she is possessed of over $5000 in money and is well able to defray the expenses of the present suit, as she is now "living in ease and luxury." Defendant retaliates by asserting that his wife has called him very bad names on various occasions, averring that she was married to one Eppenstein in San Francisco long before he (defendant) knew her, and that the marriage relation between her and Eppenstein was not severed at the time he himself married her.

Judge Zane granted temporary alimony at the rate of $25 per month pending the hearing of the suit allowed attorney's fee and costs.

ABOUT A SCHOOL BOND ELECTION.

In the case of Clifford J. O. Irwin et al vs Fortieth school district of Salt Lake City, Attorney W. J. Harvey, on the part of the plaintiffs, applied to the court to take up the hearing as early as convenient, stating that the case was an urgent one, as some $2000 is waiting up awaiting the court's action in the controversy. The litigation arises out of the school district election held on February 8th in the district year, when the sum of $18,500 was voted as bonds for the purpose of building a new school house, the purchasing of a site therefor, and other things which might hereafter be deemed necessary. There are two objections raised on the part of the plaintiffs in reference to the issuance of the bonds. Attorney Eugene Lewis is counsel for the plaintiff.

Judge Zane said the case must come on regularly, but promised to hear the arguments later in the day, if possible.

OTHER CASES.

Isaac Hunter vs the Salt Lake & Los Angeles Railway Co. The demurrer was withdrawn and 20 days allowed to answer.

S. W. Morrison et al vs D. W. Gamble et al. Same order.

J. W. Squires vs H. J. Osborne et al. Demurrer overruled and ten days allowed to answer.

The case of Carson vs Carson was continued till the 24th inst.

Chas. Johnson vs John Beck. Demurrer withdrawn. Ten days to answer.

Martha Turner vs Wells, Fargo & Co. and three other banks. The interveror was allowed until the 21st inst. to file statement, etc., on motion for a new trial.

Thos. Replance et al vs the Kynne Cleaning company. Demurrer to complaint submitted by counsel.

John H. Park vs Robert M. Wilkinson et al. Default and decree of foreclosure entered.

A. M. Newberry vs Cheney, Mahon to dissolve attachment argued, resulting in plaintiff being allowed to amend his complaint.

Negli Hewbrill vs Wm. Gerrish et al. Motion to dismiss overruled and exception taken.

In the case of the First National Bank of Park City vs Geo. C. Haight & Co. the attachment was dissolved on motion of Attorney Critchlow.

Herbert Pembroke vs Alfred G. Rose et al. Report of referee confirmed and judgment accordingly.

C. A. Grover vs. D. P. Rose et al, foreclosure. Decree of foreclosure entered and $500 attorney's fee allowed.

The case of Mary [illegible] vs William Hammond, [illegible] and divorce suit, was set for the 21st inst.

Hamilton and Miller vs Thos. Hayhurst. Motion to dismiss argued on the ground of irregularity all round.

St. George Stake Conference.

The quarterly conference of this Stake began in St. George on Saturday, the 10th of June, by the High Priests having their conference.

This was followed by the Relief Society conference. The Stake Priesthood meeting held its session in the after part of the same day.

The Stake conference began its sessions at 10 a.m. of Sunday, 11th inst., in St. George tabernacle. There services were made at 2 p.m. of Monday, 12th inst., President Daniel D. McArthur presiding.

The theme chiefly dwelt upon in all these gatherings were those, reversed faithfulness in observance the requirements of the Gospel of Christ, the necessity cultivation of brotherly and sisterly fellowship and the watchful eye forgiveness to others, as ample and far-reaching, as we hope to be forgiven by God for our personal trespasses.

The general authorities of the Church, as also the Stake authorities, were sustained by the conference with a unanimous vote.

The sweet Spirit of the Lord was manifest in the ministry of the Word, and a time of holy joy was experienced to the gratification and encouragement of the Saints.

JAMES G. BLEAK, Stake Clerk.
St. George, 12th June, 1893.

Who is He?

A dispatch from Red Cliff, Colorado, says: The man found lying unconscious in a box car near the depot here yesterday died at 10 o'clock last night without recovering consciousness. From letters found on the person of deceased, he would seem to bear the name of Cassidy. The letters to the parties in Salt Lake and the remains will be kept several days pending the result of correspondence. There are no marks or bruises to indicate that death was the result of violence and the cause of death is supposed to be heart disease. Deceased was about 40 years of age and five feet nine inches in height.

Reading Entertainment.

The advance sale of seats for Miss Hornick's entertainment, which takes place at the Salt Lake Theater one week from tomorrow night, has already been quite gratifying to the ladies of the Unitarian society, under whose auspices the entertainment is to given. Miss Hornick comes hereafter with press notices of so high a character that to receive them she must be an artist of far more than average ability.

Miss Hornick has recently appeared at a great number of places in the New England States, where critiques is severe and where only the very best attain any degree of proficiency. She passed that ordeal successfully and now comes out to her native heath (being a Nevada girl by birth), to see whether she can, by her pictorial and oratorical ability, charm those who are more near and dear to her.

Miss Hornick left Sioux City, Iowa, today, and will come direct to this city, reaching here on Monday. She will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Judge C. C. Goodwin, who are old time friends of hers.

Latest Court News.

In the matter of the preferred claims of E. H. Anderson and others, the motion for an order decreeing the petitioners to hold prior liens upon the funds in the hands of the sheriff and U. S. marshal as proceeds from the property of the Salt Lake Pickle Co. was being argued before Judge Zane this afternoon.

CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS.

The hearing on contempt proceedings in the case of L. A. Scott Elliott vs Geo. C. Whittemore et al as against Whittemore, was to come on at 4 p. m. today.

WITHIN OUR GATES.

Hon. John Lind, an ex-congressman from Minnesota, is here and is today being shown around by his former associate Hon. John T. Caine.

Andrew Stevens has been out west looking after his affairs there for a spell, but has just returned and is looking sunburned but in other respects is quite well.

Mrs. O. J. Salisbury returned home from Chicago this morning. She is not only well known in social circles, but has an additional prominence by reason of being one of the board of lady managers of the World's Fair.

Gen. J. S. Clarkson is in the hands of his friends this afternoon, they having "taken" him out in Garfield where a great time is no doubt being enjoyed. Local Republicans are on deck.

M. A. Rumney left for the East yesterday to purchase goods for the carpet department of Z. C. M. I. He will visit the World's Fair before returning and tell us all about it when he gets back.

Bishop George Romney and family have returned from their trip to the World's Fair and the East. They are all well and willing to be here notwithstanding the great eastern attraction.

James F. Wolfe has just returned from an extended visit to the interest of several local enterprises and seems satisfied with his success. He of course succeed and went through the white city of Chicago and will take his family there later on.

Frank J. Hanley, of Hewlett Bros. & Hanley, stationery supply house, has just returned from a three weeks' trip through southern Utah. He reports good business in the extreme south and crop prospects are splendid. The boys at St. George received 118 orders in the month.

Dr. W. H. Groves, holding straight from Chicago, W. L. Rawlins, the well known city commissioner of Minneapolis; R. M. Steele, of Denver; O. H. Harris, of New York; Dr. Edwards, of Chicago, Rynear and C. D. Hollinger of Fresno, are among the guests at the Cullen.

J. W. Cravens, commonly known as "Jeff," was here about for three years a it just returned to his old home, was observed on our streets, and seems young. He "did time" mostly in Paris, but is the same that Cravens is to mostly employed, but having applications only so as to be "on hand" when it suits his convenience to attend to his headquarters. Mr. Cravens appropriately has not been dealt with badly by the officers of at all, he looks young and healthy and is feeling as well as ever," all of which the NEWS is glad to surmise.

HOTEL ARRIVALS.

THE CULLEN—Henry Bates, Carbondale; W. S. Cline, Minneapolis; W. H. Grove and wife, Chicago; W. L. Rawlins, Minneapolis; R. M. Steele, Denver; O. H. Harris, New York; Dr. Edwards, Chicago; Rynear and C. D. Hollinger, Fresno; H. M. Bowers, Provo; Jas. Bowers, Provo; Mrs. Bowers, Provo; Miss Bowers, Provo; Miss Bowers, Provo; Miss