WEDNESDAY, July 12, 1876.

THE CENTENNIAL FOURTH

IN THE COUNTRY.

PARAGON.

PARAGON, July 9, 1876.

The grandest celebration of the 4th of July that ever took place in Paragon, was held yesterday. All were invited to participate, without regard to age, sex, color, caste, creed, previous condition, &c.

There was a grand procession in the morning at half-past eight o'clock—a splendidly mounted front and rear guard; thirteen young ladies dressed in white, drawn in a chariot by four beautifully decorated chargers, each young lady bearing a banner with the respective name inscribed of the State she was representing of the original thirteen; forty-eight young ladies dressed in white, each bearing a beautiful banner with the name inscribed of the State she was representing of the original thirteen; and a great many banners appropriate to the centennial celebration were borne aloft by different parties through the procession.

All was accompanied by the sweet strains of the brass and martial bands.

The procession marched through a number of streets to a half-past eight house, which had been beautifully adorned for the occasion with a beautiful arch at the entrance, made of evergreens and flowers, also an other arch of the same kind over the stand. The walls of the house
