In Women's World.

With astonishing rapidity the fight against the sale of intoxicating liquor is sweeping over the country, says the September Delinctor.

State after state has enacted laws absolutely closing all the saloons within its borders.

Illinois shifted to the dry party, and other states the struggle is not yet so successful, but already half the people and two-thirds of the territory of the United States are embraced in the now rapidly growing prohibition districts.

In this struggle women have taken a remarkable part, and they are reaping a remarkable reward.

To Dye Carpets—Prepare a lot of strong boiling dye in a boiler or other receptacle that will hold all you will need so that the color will be exactly the same.

The great mother-heart of America's good women has responded nobly to the appeal of the homeless child.

Among the letters that come daily to the Delinctor office, there is almost sure to be one in a childish hand, sometimes printed letter by letter upon wafely crooked lines drawn with chubby fingers, breathing in every labored effort the tenderness and sympathy of a loving heart.

There is a pathos about the home with but one child, the child who is the tragedy of the home that is childless.

If the pipe of your kitchen sink becomes clogged, place over the drain, being careful to hold the sides of the hand and tips of the fingers firmly on the sink.

There is a pathos about the home with but one child, the child who is the tragedy of the home that is childless.
