Accordingly summonses were issued for four members of the Herald staff, Mr. Igleheart, general manager; Mr. McKay, managing editor; Mr. Palmer, city editor, and Mr. Roberts, police court reporter. From this it will be seen that the police propose not only to have the law and order newspapers furnish the information that gambling houses are running, but that they in-tend that the press shall convict their proprietors and inmates as well. In short, to have them give the news and do police duty, too. It is a brilliant idea and makes it possible for the po-lice to have nothing to do but draw their salary
