Reaching Unusual Proportions.

Rarely has a special sale awakened greater interest among women than that of white lingerie now in force. The primary reasons are that white muslin underwear is seldom reduced in price at the first showing of the dainty new goods.

The line is entirely new. The assortments are all that can be expected from an unbroken, clean stock. The fact is established that all of our regular prices are exceedingly moderate.

A fourth off from moderate prices—new goods, shown for the first time, mind you—is as exceptional as it is dependable. The attendance has exceeded our anticipation. Many lingerie sales were in vogue—but none like ours.

Wash Goods. For a few days only an extensive line of imported shirtings for men—cheviots, madras, oxfords and Anderson's Scotch shirtings—values no less than 40 cents, some 75c—for 25c.
