STILL AFTER WILLIAMS.

Bingham Editor Continues to Parsue Fighting Deputy of Copper Camp.

A new complaint has been filed against Deputy Sheriff Atha Williams of Bing ham in connection with his recent trou bles with Henry J. Robinson of the Bing-ham Bulletin. Williams is now charged with exhibiting a deadly weapon in angry manner in the presence of two or more persona. The offense was committed in Mr. Williams' private office at Bingham on Jan. 13, when he ordered Mr. Robinson out of his office. County At-torney Christensen was in the office at the time of the trouble and stepped In between the beligerents and quelled the flisturbance. Williams was then charged with assault with a deadly weapon out the case was dismissed by the district at-torney heause of insufficiency of the exithe case was dismissed by the district at-torney because of insufficiency of the evi-dence. The second complaint was then drawn up and was filed today in Justice. Williams' court at Bingham Junction. Deputy Sheriff Williams was notified by telephone by Sheriff Emery that a war-fant had been issued for his arrest and he will appear in court when needed.

IN JUDGE DIEHL'S COURT.

Dispute Over a Watch Leads to Arrest of Pawnbroker.

A Hebrew pawnbroker, a dissatisfied customer and a lady's gold watch formed the chief consideration of yesterday afternoon's session of the criminal division of the city court. S. Samuelson was placed on trial for the alleged offense of obtaining goods under false pretenses, Ross Epperson being the complainant. The latter testified that he had exchanged his own watch and he had exchanged his own watch and $1 with the broker for a hady's watch, with the understanding that if his sis-ter, to whom he intended to give the fimepiece, was not pleased with it, he was to return it, and receive his own watch or another. The sister was dis-satisfied with the article shown her, and Epperson returned it to Samuelson, who it is said showed him another. who, it is said, showed him another. This one, however, the complainant de-clared was also inferior, and he de-manded his own watch. This request was refused, hence the arrest of Sam-

It was decided by the court that if Epperson had any recourse, it was not in criminal action against Samuelson, but in a civil suit. Therefore the mo-tion of the defendant's attorney for a dismissal was granted.

A WOMAN SPEAKS. After Mr. McQuarrie's remarks, a lady's volce asked, "Are women allowed to speak?" "Yes," "yes, echoed all around, when Mrs. Ruth Eldredge Meakin walked to the front and in a somewhat frightened manner addressed the assembly. She said, in substance: "My parents are members of the Mor-mon Church. My grandfather, Orson Pratt, was one of the original Tweive Apostles, and I wish to correct some of the erroneous impressions created by Mr. Schroeder's remarks. I am no public speaker, and have no data, "I believe Utah in common with other states in the far west did not boast of free schools until a compara-tive recent date, but public schools she always has had, and in the early days these I believe were held not in
