UTAHNS IN WASHINGTON.

What Many Young People From Home Are Doing in the Capital.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Daniel A. Dunning of Provo, was married last week to Miss Alice Totten of Washington, D. C. Mr. Dunning in a trusted employee of the census bureau of the department of commerce and labor. Our Utah colony with the young couple a prosperous voyage.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Z. Lund arrived from Salt Lake City last week in company with Mrs. Badger who comes to visit her son.

Mrs. A. J. Nielson joined her husband a few weeks ago. Mr. Nielson was appointed from Salt Lake through civil service to the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor.

There are quite a number of Utah people employed in the departments. In agricultural department Mr. George P. McCabe, a graduate of the Columbian university, is assistant attorney.

Messrs. Hognson and Nelson of Cache county are employed in the department of the bureau of soils and Walter C. Hurd in the bureau of forestry.

Mr. Crabbe of Salt Lake City is a valued employee in the record pension office.

Col. A. B. Hayes of the interior department is comfortably located at Mt. Pleasant, one of the beautiful suburbs of Washington.

A number of our young men are taking advantage of the excellent opportunities afforded by the Columbian university whose courses are arranged to meet the requirements of those in the government service who come here from all parts of the world.

Among the Utah students at the Columbian university are J. E. Willey who will take one degree of bachelor of law this year. He will no doubt make Salt Lake his professional home.

Walter Hurd and Joseph H. Peterson are entering upon their second year's study of law. Carl Bader and Daniel Dunning begin their law studies this year.

In the medical school of the Columbian university, H. Z. Lund and A. J. Nielson are registered as students; the former is entering the second year, while the latter commences his medical studies this year. Mr. E. W. Quinn is beginning a course in pharmacy.

Washington is the natural center for university studies. The condition of life in the national capital facilitates the growth of an educational institution that embodies American ideas and ideals and the Columbian university aims to be such an institution. The geographical distribution of Columbian students is an evidence of the national character and significance of the university. Every state in the Union and every civilized country in the world is here represented. The national government fosters the studies of law, jurisprudence, medicine and science as the government appropriates several million dollars annually for maintaining scientific work.

There are most excellent opportunities for our Utah boys through proper channels to enter the government service and do post graduate work.

WHERE LUNCH
GIRL IN RAINCOAT.

Condemned Man Hid in John Hill's Barn Shortly After Making His Escape.

THERE HE DRESSED HIS WOUND.

Little Girl Saw Quits Move, but No Investigation Was Made—Robertson All Right.

The rubber coat worn by Lynch when he was taken at Wood's Cross has been identified. John Hill, who lives on Washington avenue, near Eleventh South and Thirteenth East streets, called at the state prison yesterday morning and after looking at the coat declared that it was his. He also gave some information which clears up the mystery of the whereabouts of the much-wanted condemned man while the posses were hunting for him.

From the story told by Hill, Lynch must have been in his barn for at least 24 hours after his escape and remained there until driven out by hunger. This theory soon became fact when Lynch was captured at Wood's Cross.

According to Mr. Hill it was on the Sunday morning following the prison break that his little daughter had occasion to go into the barn which had been used for a storeroom for some time. Shortly afterwards the child came running back and stated that she had seen some quills move that covered an old man.

Nothing was thought of the matter until last Saturday when Mr. Hill had occasion to visit the barn. As he climbed into the loft he noticed stains on the rungs of the ladder which proved to be dry blood. On a pile of hay more stains were seen, while in the surrey there were also stains.

This set him thinking. He then missed an old raincoat that had been hanging on a nail and also discovered some blood-stained quills that had been taken from the clothesline of F. M. Ulmer's residence adjoining. A number of bloody rags scattered around told a tale of some one having attempted to roughly dress a wound.

Mr. Hill went out to the state prison yesterday and at once identified the raincoat as being his and the one which had hung in his barn.

ROBERTSON ALL RIGHT.

Alex Robertson, the defaulting teller of the Wells-Fargo bank, has not returned to accept the terms of probation whereby he becomes an outside trustee pending the action of the board of directors next month. This statement made by a morning paper is erroneous. Robertson is now busy engaged in breaking in another prisoner to the duties of clerk in the library. Despite the threats that have been made against him by the other convicts, Robertson is perfectly safe. The man who will succeed Robertson as clerk is said to be reliable and has the confidence of the authorities. He is believed to be the two men can offset any attempt at assault should such be attempted.

TWO NEW TRUSTEES.

Maxwell and Schuckers, the convicts who assisted the authorities on the occasion of the recent outbreak, were yesterday made trustees and given freedom of the lawn outside the walls.

For the first time since the outbreak visitors were admitted to the prison yesterday. In all there were close upon 100 strangers at the prison. At the same time a new rule went into effect. From this time on none will be allowed inside the walls after 4 p. m.

Cause of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exists plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin, as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ becomes active and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by all druggists.
