HON. JOHN T. CAINE

Has Something to Say to All Electors in Utah.

To the Voters of Utah:
For the fourth time I have been honored with the nomination for Delegate to Congress by the great part of the people of this Territory. This evidence of popular confidence and trust is very gratifying to me. It is encouraging to have this assurance of the trust and esteem of my fellow citizens, and to feel that my services, inasmuch as they may have been, though

FAITHFUL AND CONSCIENTIOUS
As I know they were, were such as to inspire my friends and associates with a sentiment of continued trustfulness. I will not deny that I am proud of the honor that has been conferred upon me. I am not only that, but am sincerely grateful and appreciative, and hope in the future, as in the past, to prove by my conduct and by my devotion to the cause of those who have honored and entrusted me with the important mission of representing the people of this Territory in the American Congress, that I am not unworthy their faith and esteem.

LECTION DAY IS UPON US.
Heretofore, on similar occasions, I have been pleased to meet the people in their precincts, and with earnest and eloquent friends, address the voters on the issues of the day. It will be understood that circumstances have made it impossible for me to go among the people before the election, and I am therefore forced to speak through the press, and in that way only.

I find that while certain progress has been made by the right in its contest for supremacy, the issue is the same that has confronted us these many years; that the people are struggling to hold their own, to maintain their rights as citizens of the Republic and the Territory against the assaults and unprincipled aggressions of men whose aim and effort are to profit from the political subjugation of the masses. While the attack upon the liberties of the citizen may have been less of physical force than at times in the past, it is enlivened by individual and enormous means formerly, and is supported by a party organization as vigorous, as

as ever, and as desperate in its methods. That the purpose of the insidious minority is to further enslave the people is proven by its recently promulgated code of principles, and the conspiracy appears to be approved and supported by the chief executive of the Territory, who has only this week put in an official appeal to Congress to reduce the condition of the Territory to political servitude, with pronounced enemies for masters. The same old cry of hate is heard in the land, though there is reason to believe that it is echoed by fewer throats. The same old slanders are reiterated by the same venomous tongues, but fewer ears are ready to receive them.

That we have retained any of our constitutional rights as citizens, that any of the features of local self government are yet with us, are due to the fact that the good people have stood shoulder to shoulder and with solid front, before the enemy.

HAVE FACED THE ENEMY
that was eagerly looking for a weak point or a break in the ranks. The people have been united in opposing the assaults upon their precious rights of citizenship, and to that fact can we credit whatever of success has attended us and whatever of republican government remains. In the light of the past, in the observation of the present, in the contemplation of the future, it seems to me that the intelligence and wisdom of the people will suggest to them the absolute necessity of withdrawing allegiance from the present government, and drawing more closely together than ever for the preservation of their liberties. Safety for the individual and for the community demands the same unity of political action on the part of the bona fide citizens, that has given us victory in the past. In the face of the danger in which we stand, it is our duty to unite in our opinion the risk is too great, the venture too perilous for any true friend of the Territory and her noble people to think for a moment of withdrawing allegiance from the party which has made it possible for all good citizens to live in peace and to enjoy any of the rights which the Constitution and laws of the Republic guarantee to the individual. Let us go on as we have been going, together.

FIGHTING WITH GOOD,
opposing evil with good, unflinchingly for the supremacy of the Constitutional law, and as good citizens, always vigilant in guarding our individual and our community liberties. Let us avoid giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

Again thanking the people for their esteem and confidence as expressed by their representatives in the late convention, I now ask a popular confirmation of that confidence in the only way in which it can be given, namely: at the polls. I ask the voters of all true friends of our glorious Utah, and in return will promise that if elected, I will, as in the past, perform my whole duty as best I can, working for the interests of the loved Territory which we are all so desirous shall be allowed all her political and social rights, and early take her place in the galaxy of American States, one of the brightest stars in the firmament.

Very respectfully,
JOHN T. CAINE.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 1, 1888.

Conference of Y. M. M. I. A.
"Remember, the 10th of November" as the occasion of the Stake Conference as the occasion of the Stake Conference of the Y. M. M. I. A. to convene in the Assembly Hall of this city. It will be the first effort in this State to hold a conference on Monday, and it is to be hoped that the attendance will be such as to gratify those who have set apart this day for the purpose instead of having it held on Saturday, (a very inconvenient day for many people who are engaged in business, or on Sunday) in which case it would interfere with Sabbath Schools and other meetings as heretofore. The whole of the officers of Associations throughout the Stake should make a point of attending themselves and inducing the members over whom they preside to do likewise. There will be three meetings, commencing respectively at 10 a. m. and 2 and 7:30 p. m.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 9.—A disastrous fire broke out in the Lynchburg tobacco warehouse and a large portion of a whole stock of tobacco was supposed to be very PLEASANT REUNION.

The Family of President Taylor Celebrate the Anniversary of His Birth.

During the life of the late President John Taylor, it was his custom, on each recurring anniversary of his birthday to assemble his family and their immediate connections to partake of such hospitality as his table afforded and to participate with him in thanks to the Giver of all good for the added lease of life, and the blessing bestowed, and in order to indulge in pleasant song and story, and by mutual interchange of thought and expression to brighten the chain of friendship that should bind them together as a family. These occasions were improved by him to impart such counsel and advice as he deemed it his duty as a patriarch to present, and were usually looked forward to as seasons of pleasure and enjoyment.

Following on the course of the good old custom, "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee," the immediate relatives of President Taylor, consisting mainly of his wives, children and grandchildren to the number of about one hundred, assembled last evening at the old homestead in order to celebrate another anniversary of his natal day.

Conspicuous among the decorations of the main apartment was a large new portrait of President Taylor in a suitable frame, over and around which was suspended an appropriate inscription neatly inscribed on colored silk, by Brother Wm. C. Morris.

A short programme of exercises was prepared which included favorite hymns, songs, music, recitations, etc., by various individuals, together with a sketch by Bishop George H. Taylor, of scenes and incidents in the life of President Taylor, with which he was personally familiar and a graphic and amusing sketch of "Life in the pen," by Charles W. Allen, which was tributed, in combination with the substantial bouquets of nature, to furnish a season of enjoyment long to be remembered.

No News Yet.

Up to this afternoon no additional word had been received regarding Elder Alma F. Richards. His friends were still out on the search at last accounts, and if anything can be learned of his fate or whereabouts, the information will be immediately forwarded.

Elder Richards' parents reside at Milton, Morgan County. He was their only son, and was an exemplary young man. He has a wife and two children, who, with his parents and a host of friends, are in a state of great anxiety over his mysterious disappearance.

First District Court.

Proceedings before Judge Judd, at Provo:
United States vs. Byron W. Brown; perjury: the case was given to the jury this morning, and a verdict of guilty was returned. Sentence was set for the 1st of December.

People vs. John A. Rudman; rape: after the testimony of the Elders and friends for the prosecution was all in, the defense attempted to prove that the crime was committed by mutual consent. Witnesses on both sides and spectators were excluded from the court room during the trial, which is now in progress.

Railroad Wreck.

Helena, M. T., October 30.—A disastrous collision and wreck of freight train occurred last night at Arlee, M. T., on the Northern Pacific road, in which three engineers were badly hurt, one having his ribs broken, and the others being badly contused and bruised. The injured men were T. P. O'Rourke, John Fleming and Al. Sparks. Both trains were derailed. The accident was due to a miscalculation by the engineer of the west-bound No. 33. When he reached Arlee his engine was almost out of water, and he thought he had time to run down to the tank and take water before the other train—No. 35—came in. He was mistaken, and came in collision with No. 35 before the tank was reached. The four engines were almost demolished. There is a deep cut with a long curve at this point.

Contemplated Changes.

It is intended by the DEERBERG News Company to make a change in the size and form of the semi-weekly edition. This will occur on or before the 1st of December, when it will be transformed from its present shape to an eight-page issue. This will enable us to give the readers of the semi-weekly nearly on the third more reading matter than in its present shape.

It is also the design of the company as soon as practicable to establish the Weekly News in its existing form and lease it as a magazine. This will enable many of our subscribers to carry out a desire they have often expressed, to bind it in convenient volumes and thus preserve much of the matter that is valuable for reference, and of historical interest.

Elder Pugnaire's Death.

Today Apostle P. D. Richards received a telegram from Elder Wm. Spry, president of the Southern States Mission, in response to an inquiry, stating that the cause of Elder Vincent Pugnaire's death was malaria. He expired on Friday, Oct. 26. The remains are being accompanied home by Elders Humphries, and are expected to arrive in Ogden by Saturday evening's D. & R. G. train. They will be met there by a brother and a brother-in-law of the deceased, and taken to St. Charles, Idaho, for interment.

News Notes.

Delegate J. K. Toole, of Montana, is reported as returning from Helena, M. T., Oct. 30.—A party of prospectors, headed by McDonald, the salt-reefer, who had induced the Flathead Indians to divulge the location of some remarkably rich mines in the Blackfoot country, while climbing over the steep mountain sides were horrified to find the skeletons of two white men. One had a bullet hole through his forehead, and both had evidently been killed by hostile Indians. Beside the skeletons lay a small pile of quartz. Evidently they were the first prospectors and pioneers to have discovered the rich mines in the Blackfoot country. The discovery was made by a party of prospectors who had been following the trail made by the bodies of Adams and Dutchie on Little Cottonwood Creek. The men were lying flat on their backs with their heads pulled down over their faces. Hope marks were found around the bodies, and a branch of a gnarled aspen tree that grew near the bodies was broken up there. The side of the face of one man looked as if it had been broken in with a revolver. The bodies of other wounds were found, which makes the inference almost certain that the men had been hung and not shot or dragged to death as was first rumored. The bodies had been in a hole and were lying not far distant from the bodies of the trappers. Their camp had also been shot, and no signs of life were seen. A coat belonging to one of the victims was found in the hole, and the hanging occurred and suspicion points pretty closely to the former discoverer of the mines and a former American in the same place. He had the reputation of being a quiet man, but was addicted to the use of intoxicants.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The Surgeon-General has ordered the supplies sent to the trappers, Alabama, for the destitute.

New York, Nov. 2.—Judge Barratt refused to grant a mandamus requiring the inspectors of elections to keep the polls open after 4 p. m. on election day to receive votes in over-crowded places.

Belgrade, Nov. 2.—During a torchlight procession last evening stones were thrown at the Austrians. A number of arrests were made. The authorities made apologies to the Austrians.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The navy department this morning received information that the cruiser Boston had arrived at Kingston, Jamaica. Orders were therefore sent to her commander to proceed at once to Port Antonio, Jamaica, to receive the American interest in Haiti. She can reach there in about twelve hours. Orders to the Kearsarge have been revoked.

NOT THE CHANGE SHE WANTED.—"The great objection to this house," said the new tenant, "is that I can always hear vague murmuring caused by the people talking next door."

"Well, ma'am," said the agent, "we can have the walls made thicker for you."

"Thicker!" she exclaimed, "why, then I couldn't hear a thing!"
