SOCIAL CHAT

The most elaborate home event of the week was the tea given by Mrs. Ferdinand Dickert on Thursday in honor of Miss Agatha Berkhoel, the affair combining both the nature of a tea and a musical, as a delightful program was rendered during the afternoon. Miss Berkhoel delighted the guests with the numbers "More Bells," "The Queen of Sheba," "O For a Burst of Song," by Allie, and "Der Tod und Das Madchen" by Schubert. Mrs. Agnes Osborne accompanied her, and also beautifully rendered the "Spanish Caprice," "Chopinade," and Rubinstein's "Barcarole" in G minor. The rooms were beautifully decorated, the colors chiefly being yellow and white, great, fluffy chrysanthemums being used, with shaded lights, and palms and ferns. The hostess and guest of honor were assisted in receiving by the Misses Miller and Thorne, and Mrs. A. H. Wilcher presided in the dining-room assisted by Mrs. Frederick Earls, Mrs. Meyers, and the Misses Welby and Elsie Dickert. About 100 guests were present during the afternoon.

One of the largest events of the season was the ball and banquet given at Christensen's on Thursday night by the Congregation Montrose, the attendance and all connected with it being all could be desired. Palms, flowers and shaded lights made the hall and refreshment rooms attractive, and the affair was a most successful one from all standpoints.

An informal hop was given last night at the post.

Miss Geddes entertained a few friends at an informal waltz supper on Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Roberts entertained at a delightful dinner on Thursday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Easton. The table was decorated in white chrysanthemums and present besides the guest of honor were Bishop and Mrs. O. F. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Pyper and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spencer.

On Tuesday night Mrs. Martha Boyle King entertained the members of the "Dress Rehearsal" company at a delightful dancing party at the dancing academy, those with a number of other guests, being present and enjoying a most pleasurable evening.

Mrs. Thomas Kearns, Mrs. Judge Mrs. A. H. Tarbet and W. J. Halloran were among those who gave box parties at the Grand on Wednesday night at the performance given by the juvenile choir of St. Mary's cathedral.

The teachers of the Phillips church Sunday school gave a pleasant reception complimentary to the mothers of the children on Thursday afternoon. Refreshments were served, and an enjoyable time spent.

Mrs. J. T. Chasby will entertain at a luncheon next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reeves entertained the Cup and Saucer club at their home on Wednesday night.

On Tuesday evening Judge and Mrs. W. H. King entertained delightfully at dinner in honor of Miss Crafts, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Welf. The table was prettily decorated in pink and green, the centerpiece being

YOUNG GIRL'S FELT HAT.

This is just a very large tan felt sailor shape, bound with a wide fold of brown velvet. A folded band and flat bow across the front trim the crown. The wing on the front is mounted on a gun-metal spear, which is pierced through the felt. A little flat bow and ends of velvet trim the bandeau.

a low bowl of carnations and ferns, and silver candelabra with pink shades being at each end. Those present besides the guest of honor were: Mr. and Mrs. George Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Bogue, Mr. and Mrs. John Welf and Mr. Sam King.

An exceedingly pretty affair of Wednesday was the luncheon given by Mrs. F. N. Cameron in honor of her sister, Mrs. Freeman of Tyne, Pa. The event took place at the Commercial club, the table being spread in the private dining-room, and covers being laid for 12. Pink and white carnations were used in the decorations, and the following were present: Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. A. D. Melvin, Mrs. Hoyt, Mrs. B. D. Hamill, Mrs. W. S. Greene, Mrs. J. X. Ferguson, Mrs. J. Evans, Mrs. H. J. Schultz, Mrs. W. Myers, Mrs. A. G. Kimball and Mrs. Frank B. Stephens.

On Monday night Mrs. A. H. Ensign entertained the members of the Third Street Sewing club at her home, a delightful evening being spent. Among the entertaining features was the fortune telling of a real gypsy, Madame Baskin, who unfolded the past and future of the guests in wonderful manner. The room was prettily decorated in carnations and ferns, and delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. McCallister entertained informally at dinner on Wednesday, their guests being Mrs. Wheritt of Heber, Dr. C. Wheritt of this city, and Miss L. P. Hatch.

Mrs. Bird will entertain the members of the McKean corps at her home next Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Holman will entertain at cards next Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wetzel entertained a few friends informally on Monday night.

On Monday Mrs. A. H. Ensign gave a charming children's party in celebration of the fifth birthday of her little son Frank, a number of toys being present and enjoying an afternoon of merry pastime. There was a "peanut hunt" in which little Percy Sadler and Jean Hutchinson were prize winners. Jean Hutchinson was served from a prettily decorated table late in the afternoon.

The luncheon given by the Jewish Relief society at the B. B. rooms on Tuesday was a most successful affair.

An enjoyable event of the week was the musical recital given by the young pupils of Mrs. Graham F. Putnam on Tuesday night. Mrs. Putnam was assisted by Miss Esther Allen and Miss Olive Jennings.

Mrs. J. L. Franky will entertain at luncheon at the Alta club next Wednesday.

Tonight the club, the "Bakers Dozen" will give an informal musicale at the home of Miss Grace Helges.

Dr. Mable was guest of honor at a luncheon given by the ladies of the Baptist church on Wednesday.

Next week a dancing party will be given at Unity hall by the young ladies of the Unitarian church.

Mrs. Edward Parsons entertained at an informal tea on Wednesday in honor of Miss Jane Mackintosh.

Miss Alice Wall entertains at cards tonight at her home.

On Monday Miss Johnson entertained the society of college women at her home.

The Third Street Card club was entertained by Mrs. W. H. Lynch on Wednesday afternoon, the prizes being won by Mrs. C. W. Boyd and Mrs. Hanchette.

Plans are being made for a cotillion to be given at the post some time before Lent.

WEDDING BELLS

On Tuesday Miss Mary Theresa Kinney, daughter of Mr. Timothy Kinney of this city, and James A. Dougherty of Portland, Or., were married, the ceremony being performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. O'Brien at 10 o'clock a. m., Father Kieley officiating in the presence of the intimate friends. After the ceremony an elaborate breakfast was served, the table being beautifully decorated with violets, ferns and white tulle. The parlor was done in American Beauty roses and ferns, and the library in pink carnations, palms and smilax. The bride wore an exquisite creation of white chiffon with trimmings of real lace, and long veil of tulle, a bouquet of bride's roses completing the costume. Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty left at noon for San Francisco whence they will sail for Honolulu. They will make their home in Portland.

The wedding of Miss May Hatch of Heber City, and Mr. Orson Hyde of this place will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 23.

The marriage of Miss Amy G. Peet and Joseph E. Doty took place on Wednesday, and a large reception was held afterwards for the relatives and friends, at the home of the bride's parents. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion in flowers and greens, and delicious refreshments were served, the members of the two families and intimate friends assisting. The bride wore a dainty gown of white, and carried a bouquet of roses. She is well and popularly known in Salt Lake and the groom is from Towanda Pa. Both have many friends who will extend good wishes.

One of the bridal surprises of the week was the announcement of the marriage of Miss Jessie Ladd and Charles N. Neuhann of this city, the ceremony having been performed at Farmington in July last.

CLUB CHAT.

New Hampshire's Daughters do not devote all their time to social engagements, but have a strong and abiding interest in the welfare of their native state. No more important subject has come before them than the question of extending aid to the needy and deserving girls of New Hampshire whose character and ability would justify the outlay. At their last meeting this subject received careful attention and was found to be an extremely interesting one. Miss Arnold, dean of Simmons College, at the invitation of the "Daughters," spoke most forcibly and fully of the work now in progress or contemplated. Dr. Horace M. Willard from personal experience in teaching in New Hampshire, said that the boys and girls from the rural districts, of the native American stock, are not only worthy of encouragement, but that if New Hampshire would retain her place in the sisterhood of states, she must not leave these girls who have inherited the character and the traditions of their ancestors to grow up in ignorance, or in large numbers to wander off to other states where brighter prospects are offered. Prof. Knoch, principal of the New Hampshire State Normal school, said several of his pupils had received substantial aid from the club; two were thus enabled to graduate in June and are now teaching. They expect to pay back their loan this year to help other worthy girls. There is great need of trained teachers in the country towns; girls who can teach, not

DIAMONDS

THE confidence of the public is a priceless asset to a jeweler, and if he has not that confidence he is poor indeed. A mercantile house without the confidence of the people is in a more deplorable condition than an individual without funds.

Occasionally a prospective purchaser of a diamond confronts a problem—he doubts his own ability to select a diamond of proper merits, and doubts the integrity of most jewelers. It is no more pleasant for a diamond merchant to have a customer state that he is not sure of the integrity of this merchant's house, than it would be for one man to insinuate to another that he questions the other's honor, simply because he never met him before—neither would there be more reason in the first than in the last.

The diamond business is peculiar in, that great deception can be practiced by unscrupulous dealers with small chance of detection—however, honesty is a more common trait than dishonesty, and a thinking public should know that business success results only from continued square dealing.

WE ARE SUCCESSFUL, and this alone should convince those who reason, that they can safely place confidence in our goods and guarantees. It would be a disreputable community, indeed that could not boast of one diamond dealer who would serve the public honorably and well. Few houses in any city in America have the immense stock of mounted and unmounted diamonds and other gems, and the facilities for showing them, afforded at Leysons, and this season particularly, we are provided with the most beautiful gems ever offered in Salt Lake. Our handsome mahogany diamond room, elegantly furnished and equipped, offers every comfort to the buyer and affords a privacy furnished by no other house in Zion.

It is a buyer's privilege to be deliberate in selecting a diamond, and we have spared no expense to show to those who visit us, every courtesy extended by the largest houses in America.

Remember that the value of a diamond depends on its purity of color and degree of perfection. We show the demerits as well as the merits of all diamonds offered for sale, and if any customer is dissatisfied with his purchase, we will refund the money paid.

Come to us expecting the truth about diamonds, because we offer no substitute.
