SUDDEN DEATH OF BERRIL COVINGTON

Honored Pioneer of '47 Goes to Well Earned Rest at Eighty-Eight.

EXPRESSMAN BADLY HURT.

Drops Pistol Out of His Pocket, Is Shot Through the Hand and Loses A Finger.

Ogden, Jan. 1.—Yesterday morning, without a moment's warning, Berril Covington, one of the oldest residents and pioneers of Utah, was stricken with a fatal stroke of apoplexy at his home, 2244 Grant avenue, aged 88 years. The deceased had been failing in health for more than a year past, but his relatives did not think the end was so near. Saturday he sat around his room all day, and retired at night, apparently no worse than usual, but yesterday morning when his sister entered his room about 8 o'clock to awaken him for breakfast, she found him partially out of bed but death had claimed him, although he was still warm, evidently having passed away only a short time before. Dr. Dickson was summoned and examined his body pronouncing the cause of death as heart failure caused from general debility. He was born at Bedfordshire, England, Nov. 27, 1817, was baptised a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in 1838 and emigrated to Nauvoo in the spring of 1843, whence he was expelled with the Latter-day Saints. He moved to Winter Quarters in 1846 and in September of the year following came to Utah, settling in Salt Lake, whence he removed to Ogden in 1865, where he has lived ever since. He is survived by a host of relatives and friends, who live in Ogden and other parts of the state and California. The time and place of funeral will be announced later.

EXPRESSMAN SHOT.

W. C. Hill Accidentally Injured and Loses Part of Hand.

Ogden, Jan. 1.—W. C. Hill, a Wells Fargo Express messenger running between California and Ogden, met with a painful injury Saturday by the accidental discharge of his pistol. Mr. Hill left Nampa, Cal., on No. 4 Southern Pacific east bound; he worked up his business to Palisades and was busy engaged in the express car getting ready for Carlin, Nev., work, when his pistol slipped from his pocket, a 44 caliber revolver. The trigger struck on the floor, discharging the weapon, the bullet struck the index finger of his right hand, almost severing the same, then passed through the palm of his hand, just missing his side and lodged in the side of the car. He came into

SAYS HE WAS ROBBED.

W. C. White, who claims Salt Lake City as his home, called at the police station yesterday about 3:30 and reported that he had been held up and robbed a short time before near the north end of the Union depot platform. The man claimed that he came to Ogden a short time before on the Southern Pacific passenger train and was waiting around the station until time for a train to go to Salt Lake City. He thought he would take a walk along the depot platform, and claims that he had just walked to the north end of the depot building when a man stepped up to him and with a gun pointed at White ordered him to hold up his hands, which he did and was relieved of all of his money, $35.10, and told to walk on. He went to the police station as soon as possible and gave a description of the hold-up to the officers, but no trace of the robber could be found. The police are inclined to doubt White's story, as in some respects it appeared to be quite disconnected.

REVOLUTIONARY MOVE A FAILURE.

Editor of St. Petersburg Emancipation Admits Fact in Lead Article.

LEAGUE OF LEAGUES SPLIT.

Some Favor Continuance of Strike—Others Are for Abandonment of Violent Tactics.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 28, 6:50 p. m.—Peter Struve, editor of the Osvobodnits (Emancipation), who has again shifted his position, publishes a ringing article this afternoon, in which he admits the defeat of the attempt aimed at the overthrow of the government. He says the attempt, of course, was madness and was bound to be extinguished in blood. Nevertheless, he alleges, there was a heroic spirit behind it which should terrify the government.

"Another such victory and the government is lost," says M. Struve, who in conclusion summons all the forces of emancipation to bury their dissensions and to unite in a final struggle.

The report that Lieut.-Gen. Misticchenko has been wounded is not true. The League of Leagues has split, one portion favoring a continuance of the strike and another the abandonment of violent tactics and co-operation in peaceful preparation for the work of the future.

With the evident object of inflaming sentiment abroad, the revolutionary agents are putting out a story to the effect that the government is deliberately plotting a general massacre of Jews. These agents display what purports to be the text of an appeal by a rabbi addressed to the Jews to fight against the cross, which they declare is being printed by the ministry of marine for distribution among the ignorant classes, with the object of producing a concerted attack. Investigation fails to substantiate the charge that the government is favoring any such document.

SITUATION AT RIGA.

Riga, Livonia, Dec. 28, via Edvikhnen, East Prussia, Dec. 28.—There has been no break in the general strike here. The inhabitants are not molested by the revolutionists. Otherwise the situation remains unchanged.

Several thousand revolutionists assembled yesterday at the building of the Socialist organization for the purpose of holding a general meeting, when a force of troops arrived unexpectedly. The infantry surrounded the building, while the cavalry barred the adjacent streets and quick-firing guns were placed at the corners of the streets nearest the hall.

After these preparations had been made the commander of the troops entered the hall with a company of infantry and announced to the revolutionists that they were surrounded. He then asked them to disperse quietly and to deliver up their arms, as otherwise the building would be bombarded. Most of the leaders, however, had already escaped unnoticed through a secret door leading into the courtyard. The remainder declared that they had no arms, whereupon they were searched by the soldiers. Those on whom arms were not found were allowed to leave the building, while 160 were arrested after being disarmed. The building was then occupied by the troops.

What is a big automobile road-race like? what is it good for?

Read, "Car Coming!" in Everybody's for January. It puts you right in the midst of the big Vanderbilt Road-race. So thrilling an account of any race was never written before.

"You must forget your fear and play the game"—is the key-note of one part. "Makes the world better"—is the key-note of the other part. The bridge over the chasm is a highly interesting structure.

Cossacks and dragoons are constantly galloping through the streets, dispersing crowds wherever they are gathered. The dragoons, especially seem to be furious, and are shooting and striking everywhere about them. This action is probably in revenge for the treatment of their comrades at Tukum and Talsen.

The revolutionaries are posting placards in five languages ordering the inhabitants to disarm the police and soldiers and to barricade the town. The people, however, frequently tear down these placards.

A heavy snow is falling in this district. It is said that the new governor-general, with 32,000 additional troops, is planning to uproot the revolutionary movement by surrounding Livonia and Courland and driving all the revolutionaries into a bag-shaped corner of Courland between Riga and Libau, where they will be annihilated, warships cutting off their escape by sea.

FRANCO-GERMAN RELATIONS SAID TO BE STRAINED.

Paris, Dec. 31.—Sensational papers here continue to publish telegrams from frontier towns reporting extraordinary activity of the military authorities. The evening edition of the Intransigent today reproduces the alleged declaration of a superior Belgian staff officer on the military precautions Belgium is taking in order to preserve neutrality, and also a lengthy special dispatch showing the defensive strength of the main frontier points.

Deputy Jaures reflects the pessimistic view of the Socialist element, writing in the Humanite that the antagonism in which France and Germany enter the Morocco case causes a terrible uneasiness to the rest upon Europe as the slightest untoward incident might cause a catastrophe.

Most of the journals take a more conservative view although they all recognize the presence of feelings of inquietude. Marshal Prevost in the Figaro seeks to analyze the existing feelings, saying it is the nation's awakening from pacifism. This, M. Prevost says, must be understood as an indication neither of a desire for war nor actual anticipation of war but a lively sentiment which has taken hold of the people that the nation should be prepared for all emergencies. This sentiment, he adds, has grown out of the scare of some months ago, when Germany's attitude in Morocco seemed to threaten grave consequences and France was made to realize that arrange of ententes and arbitration had relaxed her military policy. The agitation began again, at pacifism as being opposed to patriotism. The present movement is in effect, says M. Prevost, an expression of the sentiment against pacifism and in favor of military alertness. It is not to be understood as indicating the purpose of France to assume a belligerent role in the Morocco conference, but merely a return to the former policy of military preparedness.
