

CHAFING-DISH COOKERY.

A Lecture that Every Bachelor Ought to be Interested In.

Mrs. Ewing's lecture Friday afternoon was devoted principally to the subject of chafing-dish cooking, but she also introduced a number of subjects and gave an interesting lesson on how to cook veal, mutton, pork, shrimp, scalloped oysters and the making of a salad from apples and ham.

After showing the size of the alcohol lamp, the river, the pot for the water and the pan for the heat, which articles contained mean the chafing-dish dish, Mrs. Ewing said all these things which require but little cooking, even as soups, broths, souffles, beans, all manner of meat and soups to be so-cooked are better suited with the chafing dish. The difference between cooking on a poor, hot oil and cold points. Be careful to attend to every little detail if you wish to have success, and always remember that time, pains, trouble and expense will be repaid tenfold by the food that has been prepared or had cooking. By knowing how to use the chafing-dish, one can have very delicious meals with little time and trouble.

The last article prepared with the chafing dish, Mrs. Ewing estimates at a family of four persons can live economy-wise, and have no more than $100 per month for food, and still have a week's vacation and a few days off each week.

The average number of days necessary to cook, eat, wash, clean, etc., is about two weeks.
