LEHI.

FUNERAL OF MRS. WINES.

Farmers Aggrieved Over High Waters of Utah Lake.

Special Correspondence.
Lehi, Utah Co., Jan. 13.—Funeral services over the remains of Margaret Taylor Wines, wife of Mrs. Ira D. Wines, who died at Palo Alto, Cal., Jan. 8, after a long illness, were held yesterday at 2 p. m., from the new tabernacle. The speakers were Bishop Thomas R. Cutler, who spoke of his acquaintance with the family and of their life and labors of the deceased, and Rev. Mr. Goodwin of Provo, who spoke on "Right Ideals." The tabernacle was filled with sorrowing friends and relatives, and the casket was decked with beautiful flowers.

Mrs. Wines was daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Taylor, early and prominent settlers of Lehi. She was born Aug. 28, 1846, emigrated with her parents to America in 1848, and came to Lehi in 1853. In 1855, she and Mr. Wines were married. While they had a residence here, they have lived in Nevada the greater part of their time. Deceased was the mother of 12 children, seven boys and five girls. She leaves a husband, six children, 19 grandchildren, two brothers and five sisters beside a host of relatives and friends to mourn her death. She was known for her kind and charitable disposition and was very active in years gone by in taking part in the athletic and other amusements.

FARMERS AGGRIEVED.
Saturday, Messrs. Jarvis and Knudsen of the Utah lake commission, were over from Provo taking measurements, etc., at the head of the Jordan river. This is a point a long distance west of certain Utah county farmers to secure exact information as to the condition of Utah lake waters, as Utah lake is six inches above compromise point and is already flooding much of the land along its shores. In the next six months the lake level will continue to rise and it is thought that at least 2,000 acres of land will be submerged along its shores unless drastic measures are taken by the canal companies to drain this vast amount of water off the lake and keep it down to compromise point. It is thought the farmers of Utah county are obtaining information to compel the canal companies to take care of this water and so prevent so much flooding. The pumps will be idle this year as they were last and it will probably be the canal companies will have to spend money to reduce the lake level instead of pumping.

POWER FOR EUREKA.
The Utah County Light & Power company has entered into a contract with Jesse Knight to supply his mines and smelter at Eureka with power, and work has already commenced to run a power line there, a distance of 52 miles. The power line will be built west of Lehi into Cedar valley, and will follow the valley south to Eureka and there is no doubt much power will be used in Cedar valley, as that is a coming dry land farming country. The light company will have 1,500 more horse power to dispose of in addition to the 750 horse power now produced when the new plant is put in operation.

The Lehi postoffice has done a very good business the past year, over $1,000 worth of stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards having been sold. School Parks and a committee from Nephi, who have been looking over school buildings in Salt Lake and Utah counties, were in Lehi last week and said the new Primary building here was second to none they had seen in the state.

Jan. 8, Mrs. W. T. Haaler presented her husband with a son; Jan. 7, a son was born to Mrs. Eugene Webb, and on Jan. 4, a new marshal arrived in town, Marshall J. N. Butt being the happy father. Jan. 4, Mrs. Joseph Woolston gave birth to a son.

LOCAL MARKETS.

The local markets continue to be well supplied with a full assortment of winter vegetables, raised in southern California and Nevada. When there is a railroad built through to St. George, a new market for vegetables and fruits will be opened for this part of the country, and there will not be as many brought from southern California. The potatoes this winter are the same as the shipments of oranges and lemons from the coast, with bananas from New Orleans. There is no longer any scarcity in the fish market, as the fishermen have recovered from celebrating the holidays and are ready once more for work. The amount of poultry is fair. Bioaters are being received from Boston in sizeable shipments, also new dates from the eastern importers. Irish potatoes are arriving in plenty from Idaho. Strawberries are plentiful from the southwest, but the price does not encourage very much purchasing. Grapes are no longer in the market. The prices obtaining today are as follows:
