clock to day. THEATRE. There is a very tempting bill at the Theatre this evening, consisting of the fine three act comedy of "David Garrick," which is one of Mr. Sothern's famous plays, and the farce of "Cool as a Cucumber,." Mr. J. J. Bartlett assumes the title role in the comedy and the character of "Plumper" in the fare. Miss Kent appears as "Ada Ingott," Miss Voeller as "Wiggins," Miss Simons as "Misss Jessy Honiton," Mr. Graham as Squire Chivy," Mr. Dudley as "Simon Ingot," Mr. Thorne as "Old Barkins."

AUCTION AND COMMISSION STORE, --Messrs, Liddell and Brown have established an auction and commission store, near the Descret National Bank, where they re-ceive for sale all kinds of merchandise, household goods, stock, provissions, etc., besides attending to auction sales in town and country.

CHANGED HIS MIND .- As Mr. B. Judtowards his home, in the eastern portion of the 10th Ward, a few nights ago, a man sprang from a large hole in the ground and came rapidly towards him. Mr. Judson suspected that the fellow meant mischief, so he drew his revolver and presented it in the ideas of the latter seemed to undergo an immediate revolution and he beat a hasty retreat, leaving Benjamin te proceed quietly to his home.

Not satisfied with these congratulations, the butchers and dealers will give their emsucipator a pastic dinner next week, in token of his services."

Now we unhesitatingly declare the foregoing statement to be totally and unqualifiedly false, the "Mormon" butchers never thaving waited upon or congratulated Pat Lannan, and furthermore about that individual not take disnes until tendered a congratulatory one by the "Mormon" butchers, his shadow ere long, would grow considerably and beautifully less. The Corinae Reporter of the 12th inst. contains an article relative to the City Meat Market question which article was republished in and apparently endorsed by a paper of this city. In speaking of the manner in which Pat Lannan had fought the city in the matter, and of the late decision of Judge McKean, who ruled that the Market ordinance was null and vol, determined the following language occurs:

"As soon as the decision became known, the butchers of the city, to the number of a acore or more, waited on Pat., in his office, when their spokesman, who is an irreproachable Brighamite in faith, said, they looked upon him, Lannan, as their liberator from municipal tyranny; and the speaker, as a Mormon, thanked him for declaring war and fighting it cut to tap present victory.
