LOCAL BRIEFS.

One case of diphtheria was reported to the board of health yesterday, that of Estelle Guiven, residing at 660 west First, South street.

The Utah Federation of Labor proposes to make the employment of foreign labor in the valley smelters, an issue in the fall campaign.

The insurance on the Cleveland Commission company's damaged warehouse is found to amount to $4,400. The insurance is divided, $5,000 of stock, $1,400 on building and fixtures.

James Brown, the painter who fell from the D. F. Walker block, has recovered sufficiently to leave the hospital, and is now staying with his sister, Mrs. Isabel Bennett in the Union block.

Mr. R. R. Ringling of the circus company have free tickets to the afternoon show to the children of the Orphan's Home and Day Nursery. The matron, Mrs. Balfou, is an old friend of Mr. Ringling.

C. H. Stevenson, J. J. Duke, B. A. M. Frowth, John D. Lewis, B. G. Hite and H. A. Goodwin are candidates for the secretaryship of the new bureau of information of the Real Estate association.

Yee Quon Wah was ordered deported by Commissioner Twomey yesterday for being unlawfully in the United States. Yee told so many conflicting stories of his past life that only one course could be pursued. The certificate he produced called for a man about twice his size, at least 19 years older and 60 pounds heavier.

C. Lou Wamamaker, editor of the Loveland (Colo.) Register, spent today in Salt Lake. He is accompanied by his wife and Miss Grace Orben. "In our vicinity," said Mr. Loveland, "the principal industry is beet cultivation. The Loveland sugar factor ground 14,000 tons of beets last year and the output will not be less this year."

Conor O'Kelly, member of parliament from Dublin, is at the Knutsford. The noted Irishman is just returning from the coast, where he made a lecture tour on the Irish land question. He will go to Chicago from here, and thence to Canada. It is his hope to arouse the old enthusiasm that existed in the days of the Irish Land League.

NEWELL TELLS OF IRRIGATION FRAUDS.

Numerous Ones Being Foisted on People as Result of Interest in Irrigation.

ONLY STOCK JOBBING SCHEME.

Instances Where Shares Are Being Sold Where There is Absolutely No Water.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Three hundred engineers, surveyors and helpers in the irrigation reclamation service are out in the field, studying and planning for irrigation projects in the great west. Some few are superintending the actual construction of huge dams and canals. Mr. Newell himself, the head of the service, has just returned to Washington from a somewhat extensive western trip. He reports great interest throughout the west in the big works proposed by the government, but sounds a note of warning against numerous schemes and frauds which are being foisted upon various localities as a result of the great interest aroused through national irrigation activities.

"There are many instances of honest, effective legitimate irrigation works," he said, "where the settlers themselves, or their capital to some extent, have gone in and built the works, and are reaping the benefits along with the reclaiming lands; but I do not know of any of the big private irrigation schemes which are what might be called legitimate development enterprises. They are exploited merely for more for selling stock and bonds than for watering land. Irrigation development can be compared to mining development. The two are quite similar in their methods of finance. The gold or the copper mine, or the oil well which is really a proven good thing, is taken up and operated by someone. It is made into a close corporation proposition in every case. If, on the other hand, the supply of metal or oil is problematical, then it is made an attractive stock and bond scheme, with glittering letterheads and artistically printed circulars. Attempt is being made to float very questionable irrigation schemes all over the west.

"It is singular, too," said Mr. Newell, "how many men of ordinary hard sense will go into these wild-cat schemes. A successful grocer, for instance, who if he were investing his money in the grocery business, would find out every detail and every 'in and out' of the new business, and would make a close and advantageous deal, will draw his check for some irrigation stock or bonds in the most trustful and confident manner—paying for an investment regarding which he knows absolutely nothing, can find out nothing, and which is as problematical in its return as the vent wind-off. Other people make personal investigation. They go over the land to be reclaimed; they see the splendid crops growing on the other lands which have been reclaimed, and having investigated, they confidently invest, even though a tract of 50,000 acres is to be reclaimed with water supply from a river, and the investment is for 5,000 acres. I am mentioning these figures advisedly. There are instances today where irrigation shares are being sold for land containing absolutely no water supply at all, and which can never be irrigated, but will always remain a desert.

"The meanest and most contemptible class of sales are where the promoters hold out the alluring picture to the poor man of family, that he is, by his small regular contributions buying a home for himself, a little home to which he can go in his old age, and by reason of the bountiful crops due to irrigation, support himself and his family. Thousands of people in the United States are making such contributions which they might as well throw into a rat hole."

"MAMMA IS DYING."

Pathetic Plea of Ragged Boy Brings Relief to Starving Family.

Another case of destitution was brought to the notice of the police last night, when a ragged little boy about ten years of age, entered the police station and said to Officer Carlson:

"Please, my mamma is dying; won't you please send her a doctor?"

The officer at once accompanied the child to 213 east First South street, where the unfortunate mother was found in a poorly furnished room, sick and suffering from want of the common necessities of life. There were two small children in the room.

The officer lost no time in sending for City Physician Wilcox, who gave the woman assistance. He found that she was suffering from acute hysteria, caused by overwork and worry and lack of proper care. The woman was unable to speak, but it was learned that her name is Mrs. McKenzie, and that she was divorced from her husband, who did not treat her properly.

MRS. PALMER SCREAMED.

And Then the Burglar Concluded to Leave Hastily and at Once.

A burglar attempted to force an entrance into the home of Mail Carrier Eara Palmer, 1449 south West Temple street, yesterday afternoon, but Mrs. Palmer screamed an alarm, and the would-be thief was frightened away.

Mrs. Palmer said the man came to the house and knocked at the door. For some reason she did not answer. The door was locked and bolted. Soon she heard a key in the lock, but the bolt prevented the man's entrance. He next turned his attention to a window at the rear of the house. This he succeeded in getting open and was about to enter when Mrs. Palmer screamed and the burglar ran for dear life.

BUSINESS STATISTICS.

Bradstreet's Agency Issues Interesting Figures on Utah's Commercial Status.

Bradstreet's agency in this city has compiled the following Utah business statistics for the current year, ending Aug. 1:

Thirty-two failures, assets, $1,317,311; liabilities, $1,818,695, as against 27 failures, assets, $46,400; liabilities, $142,216 for the same period of the previous year. For Salt Lake alone the failures this year number 11, with assets at $45,150, and liabilities $90,774, as against nine failures, $15,730 in assets, and $88,171 in liabilities for the same period in 1903. Incompetence and carelessness are ascribed as the main reasons for the failures.

On Jan. 1, 1904, there were 1,233 mercantile institutions in Salt Lake City, as against 1,087 on Jan. 1, 1903; of these 77 have gone out of business and 124 new ones commenced. In Ogden there were 544, of which 23 have quit and 51 commenced. In Logan there were 169, of which 11 have quit and 21 commenced. In Provo there were 169, of which 14 have quit and 21 commenced. In the rest of the state there were 2,289 business enterprises, of which 232 have quit and 555 commenced. There have been 165 changes in firm styles throughout the state during this period and 852 ratings have been either raised or lowered.

The total number of cities, towns and villages in Utah on Jan. 1, 1904, was 399, and since that time nine postoffices have been discontinued or changed and nine new places added to the list.

FRUIT GROWERS' MEETING.

County Horticultural Society Arranges a Good Program.

An interesting meeting of the Salt Lake County Horticultural society will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. at the Commercial club, for which occasion the following program has been arranged:

Opening remarks, "Aims and Objects of the Society," President Burgen, "Fruit Culture," Mr. Terry, Draper, "Apples and Pears," L. Hemenway, Granger, "Peaches," C. A. Castro, Holliday, "Cherries," Mr. Brown, Centerville.

The meeting will be open to the public and those interested are cordially invited.

INFORMATION WANTED.

John Hilditch of 4826 South Yakima avenue, Tacoma, Wash., writes the "News" asking for information concerning the whereabouts of the widow of Charles Hilditch, a relative of his, who in 1900, lived at 30 south First West street. The woman's name is Hattie Hilditch and in 1902 she lived at 223 south First West street.

GAMBLER WITH A GUN.

F. A. Gordon Wanted His Money Back at the Green Light.

A gambler named F. A. Gordon, is in jail charged with carrying a concealed weapon, and a more serious charge may be made against him. For several nights he has been at the Green Light resort on Commercial street, and it is said he had quite a run of luck. He had a couple of dozen or so gamblers in his room, when a policeman came along and landed Gordon in jail.

WONDERS OF NEW ZEALAND

World's Biggest Geyser Represented by Striking Photographs.

St. Louis.—The New Zealand exhibit in the palace of forestry, fish and game includes many features of interest to Americans and daily attracts large crowds of visitors at the world's fair. An interesting feature is the representation, by paintings and photographs of the biggest geyser in the world, the giant Waimangu, which, every second day, throws up a vast body of boiling water 1,500 feet high, more than five times the height of the big Irishman. It is located on the big island of New Zealand, and is a point of great interest to tourists.

The ancient Maoris, the aboriginal tribe of New Zealand, are represented by some handsome paintings and also by specimens of wood carving and curious weapons. The Maoris, who were savage cannibals when Capt. Cook discovered the islands 130 years ago, are now the social and intellectual equals of the white inhabitants. Four of this tribe are now members of the Maori club, and are representatives and one is a cabinet officer.

The curious process of tattooing formerly in vogue among the Maoris is illustrated by a large oil painting.

WORLD'S FAIR NEWS NOTES.

Nebraska has a special exhibit of popcorn in the palace of agriculture. The world's fair Nebraska stands at the head in the yield of popcorn. All last year's crop has been bought by a world's fair concession.

The minerals of Alaska are shown in an extensive exhibit of 64 cases. Each case is placarded, showing the locality from which the ore was obtained and the yield of each metal per ton.

Bulgaria's exhibit in the palace of varied industries at the world's fair covers 6,000 square feet of space.

Two aluminum models of the great East river suspension bridge, perfect in detail, are exhibited in the city of New York's building on the model street at the world's fair. They show the footways, the surface and elevated tracks, and the wagon ways.

The model playground at the world's fair is attracting a great deal of attention. Every day one may see Spanish, Polish, Japanese, Chinese, Turkish, Egyptian and American children playing side by side in the sand pits and other attractions offered the young folks.

CHURCH NOTICES.

The regular meeting of the Priesthood of Ensign stake will be held Friday, the 12th inst., at 7:30 p. m., at the Twentieth ward meetinghouse.

COSTLY AUTO RIDE.

John Doe Tracy Didn't Want to Pay Last Night, but Changed His Mind.

Talk about Salt Lake not being thoroughly up to date! Well, if you don't believe it, is just ask Sgt. Roberts or Clerk of the City Court Bill Leary.

When the police officers of Salt Lake City can use a $2,800 Winton automobile for a patrol wagon, they think that's going some.

Here is the way it happened: Last night, a gentleman who answers to the name of John Doe Tracy, had a notion that he would enjoy a ride in an automobile. Accordingly he hired H. A. Cummings, an experienced chauffeur, to take him for a few whiffs. Tracy apparently had plenty of money, and Mr. Cummings had no fear of not being paid. Tracy kept the car out of the city limits until a bill of $35 was run up. Then the auto driver took Tracy home and informed him that the bill was $35. Tracy shook and then balked, and refused to disgorge. Threats availed nothing, and Mr. Cummings gave it up as a bad job. This morning he told his troubles to a policeman. A warrant for Tracy's arrest was sworn out. Sgt. Roberts, Clerk Leary, and a "News" man, climbed into the big car and went out to see what the first American ever to receive a dentist's certificate. Dr. Avery was talking one afternoon to a reporter about the earlier unlighted days of Honesdale.

"We had not then," he said, "as much religious feeling as we have now. I remember a revival service, very poorly attended, that was held during a certain winter. The revivalist, since the people would not come to him, went out to them, and on the street corners he would halt and question them concerning their religious beliefs.

"I haven't seen you at our revival," he said to one very old, bent man.

"What would I be doing there?" the old man asked.

"Don't you ever pray?" said the revivalist.

"No," the old man shook his head.

"No," he said, "I carry a rabbit's foot."
